

EVENING NEWS REVIEW.

15TH YEAR. NO. 39.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., TUESDAY, JULY 25, 1899.

MORE TROOPS READY.

ATTEMPT TO WRECK A CAR.

Non-Union Conductor Followed a Boy and Shot Him—His Victim Died Soon Afterward—Alleged Clew to Man Who Blew Up a Car.

COLUMBUS, July 25.—Adjutant General Axline received the following message: "Send regiment at once."

The Columbus regiment was at once ordered to assemble and should reach Cleveland early today.

CLEVELAND, July 25.—The adjutant general informed Mayor Farley that the militia companies at Youngstown, Geneva, Berea, Warren and Norwalk, towns near this city, had been officially notified to hold themselves in readiness to answer the call of the mayor should the situation get beyond the control of the present force. Various companies of the Fourth, Sixth and Eighth regiments, to the number of 800 men, have also been ordered to prepare for a sudden summons.

A repetition of the wrecking of a Euclid avenue car was attempted by strikers or their sympathizers in Brooklyn, a suburb of Cleveland.

An explosion took place under the car, but failed to injure it materially. There were no passengers aboard, and the conductor and motorman escaped unhurt.

CLEVELAND, July 25.—The state board of arbitration practically abandoned their efforts to conciliate the street car strikers and their former employers. The resentment of the conductors and motormen who quit work and the more turbulent spirit of their sympathizers was held in check to a degree by the presence of the police and the militia, members of which rode in the cars or were held in readiness at the barns and terminals.

Small riots occurred, but with one exception they were without serious result. The death of Henry Cornwell, slain by a bullet fired by Ralph P. Hawley, a conductor on the Broadway line, was recorded the first fatality of the strike.

Shortly after noon Hawley's car approached Orange street and was beset by a crowd of men and boys. Cornwell, the 19-year-old son of a butcher, was astride a horse and rode to the side of the car, keeping pace with it for some distance.

Various stories were told as to what passed between the conductor and the boy, but the mob was suddenly called to its senses by the sight of Hawley, who jumped to the street and started in pursuit of Cornwell.

The latter, closely followed by his pursuer, turned up Perry street. At Woodland avenue the latter pulled his revolver and fired. His victim fell, fatally wounded, with a ghastly wound in the left temple, and died soon after being removed to the hospital.

The crowd, which before the incident had been so violent, was awed by the seriousness of the affair, and permitted the conductor to walk back to his car. He was arrested and taken to the station, where a charge of murder was entered against him.

When the car returned in charge of another man and laden with police, thousands of people were crowded round the fatal spot. The track was blocked and the stalled cars bombarded with stones, pieces of brick and sticks of wood. The police managed by dint of using their clubs to clear the way after a delay of about half an hour.

The police believe they have a clew to the man who placed nitroglycerine which blew up the Euclid avenue car and injured four passengers. Mathew Robinson, who was seen driving a horse and buggy, said to resemble the one in which the mysterious wrecker rode, has been placed in a cell. Robinson claims to have found the rig, masterless, and took possession, intending to deliver it to Charles Steinmetz, a liveryman by whom Robinson is employed.

Mr. Steinmetz informed the officers that he rented the outfit to a man whom he identifies vaguely as having a dark moustache.

With the exception of the Mayfield suburban, all the lines of the Big Consolidated were in operation, although their movements were necessarily hampered somewhat.

COLUMBUS, July 25.—The state authorities regard the Cleveland strike situation as very serious. Adjutant General Axline, who was commander of the Tenth Ohio volunteer infantry during the Spanish war, will go to Cleveland and take command of the troops in person in case other regiments are needed. There are eight companies already on duty in Cleveland.

EPWORTH LEAGUE BOARD.

Reports Heard and a Meeting Held In Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 25.—The board of control of the Epworth League met to hear reports and consider matters pertaining to the league.

Bishop W. K. Ninde, Detroit, president of the board, presided. The report of Rev. Edwin A. Schell, secretary of the Epworth League, was submitted. Rev. F. L. Nagler, Cincinnati, German assistant secretary of the league, presented a report of the German branch.

A report of the league's work among the colored people was presented by colored Secretary Rev. Irvine G. Penn of Atlanta.

The board will probably be in session several days.

INGERSOLL'S FUNERAL.

Selections of His Writings Read by Historian Ridpath and Major O. J. Smith—Wife Seriously Ill.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Simple funeral exercises over the body of the late Robert G. Ingersoll were held at Walston, the Ingersoll summer home at Dobbs Ferry, this afternoon.

Dr. John Clark Ridpath, who was for many years a close personal friend of Colonel Ingersoll, read the eulogy delivered by Colonel Ingersoll upon his brother Clarke. Dr. Ridpath also read "My Creed," the last poem written by Colonel Ingersoll, and afterward made a brief address.

Major O. J. Smith of Dobbs Ferry, a warm friend of the great orator and lecturer, read other selections from Ingersoll's writings.

Early tomorrow morning the family will accompany the remains to Fresh Pond, Long Island, where the body will be cremated. They will bring the ashes back to Dobbs Ferry and they will be deposited in an urn, which will be surmounted with the bust of Colonel Ingersoll, to be made from the death mask made by John Gray Bernard, the New York sculptor. The only music that will be heard this afternoon will be "Siegfried's funeral march."

The mail brought over 300 letters of condolence, and telegrams continue to pour in from all parts of the country. Among those received was one from Julia Marlowe, the actress, now in London. Another long one was from Rev. R. H. Pullman, who was a personal friend of Colonel Ingersoll. Many theatrical people sent letters of condolence.

The funeral will be private, and it is expected that only those who were personal friends of long standing will attend, and representatives of societies that believed as did the late Colonel Ingersoll.

Mrs. Ingersoll is so ill that she is confined to her bed. Members of the family say that the illness is due to the prostration of grief and the ceaseless vigil that she has kept at the bier of her dead husband since his death on Friday.

It is not thought that the illness will result seriously. Colonel Ingersoll's daughters, Miss Maud and Mrs. Walston H. Brown, are both on the verge of prostration. The grief-stricken wife and daughters, who share the belief of the dead agnostic, have begged only to be allowed to keep the body with them as long as possible.

IN BEHALF OF PEACE.

Series of Declarations Signed by Hague Conference Delegates For Submission to Their Governments.

THE HAGUE, July 25.—The general act embodying the results of the international peace conference, after enumerating the names and qualifications of all the delegates, said:

"In a series of meetings in which the above delegates participated, inspired throughout by the desire to realize in the highest possible measure the generous views of its august initiator, the conference has drawn up for the approval of the respective governments the series of conventions and declarations appended:

"Convention for the pacific settlement of international disputes.

"Convention concerning the laws and customs of war on land.

"Convention for the adoption of laws against the use of asphyxiating or deleterious gases from balloon projectiles, and for the prohibition of the use of bullets that easily expand in the human body."

The general act contains five expressions of opinion, as follows:

"The conference considers that limitations of the military charges which at present oppress the world are greatly to be desired for the increase of the material and moral welfare of mankind.

"The conference expressed the opinion that the question of the rights and duties of neutrals should be inscribed on the program of a conference to be held at an early date.

"The conference expressed the opinion that questions relative to the type and caliber of rifles and naval artillery, as examined by it, should be the subject of study by the different governments with a view to arriving at a uniform solution by a future conference.

"The conference expresses the wish that an early convention be called to revise the Geneva convention.

"The conference has resolved that questions relating to the inviolability of private property in war on land and the bombardment of towns or villages in naval war be reserved for future conferences."

The convention is signed by all the plenipotentiaries.

A Feast Day Recognized.

SANTIAGO, July 25.—Today began the "Fiesta de Santiago." This is the first recognition of a religious festival by the American government. The custom house will be closed for two days. The town is decorated and street masquerading will occur until Thursday

SAW SAXTON SHOT.

Claim of a Boy Arrested In Chicago.

SAID MRS. GEORGE KILLED HIM.

Declared He Was Afraid to Tell What He Knew and Ran Away—Father Said the Boy Ran to the Scene of the Shooting, but Don't Know What He Saw.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Evidence which might have had an important bearing in the trial of Mrs. Anna George of Canton, O., charged with the murder of George Saxton, brother-in-law of President McKinley, last October, came to light in the juvenile court. Russell Hogan, 15 years old, who was brought before the court as Richard McKnight, said: "I was standing right across Lincoln avenue from Mrs. Althouse's place and saw Mr. Saxton on the porch and saw Mrs. George shoot him. I was afraid they might do something to me if I told what I had seen, so I left home and have traveled all over the country since then."

Young Hogan said that his father was R. M. Hogan, superintendent of the Aultmann Manufacturing company, and well known in Canton.

CANTON, July 25.—Martin J. Hogan, the father of Russell Hogan, does not know what his boy saw the night of the Saxton murder. He was sick, and when the shots were fired, the boy left him to go toward the scene. Young Hogan was wanted as a witness here by both sides, but disappeared shortly before the trial. The defense pretended to want him because his testimony before the coroner was that it was so dark that he could not tell whether the person doing the shooting was a man or a woman. Rather than allow a postponement, the state admitted that had he been present at the trial he would have testified as claimed.

Lively Messenger Boys' Strike.

CINCINNATI, July 25.—The strike of messenger boys, that started last Saturday, became more serious. Two boys were stabbed, several hit with missiles and many slugged with clubs. When any new boys or men went out with messages a gang pursued them with epithets, clubs and stones. When these working messengers took street cars the pursuing mob stoned the cars and some innocent people were hurt. The police charged the mob repeatedly, but the disturbers would soon rally again. The companies refused to recognize the newly formed union, and at a meeting the boys voted to continue the strike. At this meeting the newsboys and some tobacco strippers promised to join them.

Will Rebuild the Elevator.

TOLEDO, July 25.—General Superintendent R. B. Turner of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton road, stated that the burned elevator will be rebuilt as soon as possible, and that the old elevator will be refitted for temporary use. The estimate of $1,000,000 loss was found to be correct. The insurance will not cover the loss on the building by over $90,000. The insurance on the grain was $474,000, while the value of the wheat was about $330,000.

YELLOW JACK CONTROLLED.

Gen. Wood Master of the Situation at Santiago—Disease at Other Cuban Points.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Surgeon General Sternberg received the following from Major O'Reilly at Havana:

"Havard reports from Santiago, July 22, on yellow fever situation: July 19, no new cases, 3 deaths, 2 enlisted men, 1 civilian; 20th, 3 new cases, 1 enlisted man, 1 female nurse, 1 civilian, no deaths; 21st, no case, no death. Armstrong, from Puerto Principe, reports: July 21, 4 cases, 2 soldiers residing in city, 1 teamster, 1 civilian; 22d, nothing new."

A dispatch was received from General Brooke saying General Wood reported they have the yellow fever situation under control at Santiago.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, July 25.—One suspected case of yellow fever was reported—the first for ten days. If this case proves not to be one of yellow fever, the quarantine will be removed immediately. The sanitary department has caused to be burned all the tents, bedding and clothing used at the infected camp. The troops at Songo and Morro are healthy.

A TENTH BOY DIED.

Private Bobbs and Two Other Soldiers Expired on the Voyage From Manila.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—The United States transport Morgan City, which has been converted into a hospital ship, arrived from Manila, having on board 473 sick and convalescent soldiers. The vessel started with 476, but three died on the voyage, Private C. J. Bobbs, Tenth Pennsylvania; Private Lewis Cook, Twenty-second regiment, and First Lieutenant Jackson, First South Dakota.

These succumbed to dysentery, the disease with which most of the others were afflicted. All of those on board were ill when the steamer left Manila, but the removal from a tropical climate and the sea air so benefited the invalids that, on arrival here, only 22 were unable to leave their berths. Every command and almost every regiment is represented among the returning soldiers.

NEW TREATY WITH FRANCE

Reciprocity Treaty of Great Importance Signed—Treaty Work Under Dingley Act Closed.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The long pending reciprocity treaty negotiations between the United States and France were brought to a successful close at the state department when Ambassador Cambon, in behalf of France, and Commissioner Kasson, in behalf of the United States, affixed their signatures to the reciprocity treaty.

The concessions granted by France embrace most of the articles in what is known as the French minimum tariff. This comprises 644 heads, the rates being on an average about 20 per cent below those in the general tariff of France. Concessions were granted upon all but 26.

Besides the reductions given to this country, the treaty is important in continuing a number of minimum rates which would have been abolished if the treaty had not been concluded. The most important of these articles are petroleum and mineral oils. At present these oils enter France on the minimum rate, but had the treaty failed a rate would have been imposed making a difference of duty amounting to about $5,000,000. Had the treaty failed a heavy duty would have been imposed upon American cotton. The same is true of copper, rubber and many classes of machinery.

France secures important concessions on over 100 of the chief products sent by France to this country. The Dingley law allows not to exceed 20 per cent reduction as a basis of reciprocity, but the full 20 per cent is not allowed on all the articles covered by the treaty. On some of them the reduction is 5 per cent, on others 10, others 15, and up to 20 per cent.

The treaty will result in placing the products of the United States on the same basis in France as products of Great Britain and Germany. At present these countries have the minimum French rate, while the American goods, with few exceptions, have had to pay the maximum rate.

The French treaty was the last of the instruments of this kind, and the treaty work under the Dingley act was brought to a close. Six treaties were made, all save that of France relating to British West India islands.

NEGOTIATION OVER ALASKA.

Hay and Tower Hopeful—No Alarm as to Laurier's Talk.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Direct negotiations respecting the Alaska boundary are in progress between Secretary Hay and Mr. Tower, the British charge here. The principals are not without hope that success may attend their efforts, and then there is arbitration yet in reserve in case of failure on the present lines.

The officials here are in nowise alarmed at the recent developments at Ottawa, feeling confident that Sir Wilfrid Laurier's utterance Saturday, in which he mentioned the word "war" as an alternative to arbitration, was given a meaning not intended by the Canadian premier. The strong language attributed to Sir Charles Tupper is not credited to the Canadian government, and it is realized that great latitude may properly be allowed in viewing the utterances of members of an opposition party.

ROOT SAW THE PRESIDENT.

He Probably Will Return to New York Today.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Hon. Elihu Root of New York, who is to succeed General Alger as secretary of war, arrived in Washington last night and had a long conference with the president.

Today Mr. Root will again see the president, and probably will return to New York late in the day.

Honduras' Report on Pears' Killing.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—United States Minister Hunter secured from the government of Honduras a full report, from its point of view, of the circumstances attending the killing of young Pears last spring, which has been made the subject of a claim for indemnity by the United States. The report will form the basis of speedy diplomatic action.

Expect's Justice From America.

ROME, July 25.—The Italia referring to the lynching of Italians in Louisiana says: "We have not the least doubt that the United States will do its duty in the broad measure demanded by the atrocity of the latest lynching, but our conferees will do well not to expect greater reparation than can be obtained."

Tax Collector Arrested.

WASHINGTON, Pa., July 25.—Charles H. Kimmell, justice of the peace and tax collector at Charleroi, was committed to the care of Sheriff Hemphill on a charge of embezzlement, it being alleged that he appropriated to his own use more than $1,000 in taxes which he had collected. His friends denied the charge and were trying to get bail.

DEWEY FEELING WELL.

Does Not Need the Treatment at Carlsbad.

Said He Would Remain In Trieste About a Week Longer and Then Go to Naples. Sent a Letter to New York Accepting the Reception Invitation.

TRIESTE, Austria, July 25.—A correspondent visited Admiral Dewey on board his flagship Olympia and was cordially received by the admiral, who said that although he had received many invitations from Americans sojourning at Carlsbad, he had never intended going there.

"Look at me," said the admiral. "Do I look like a sick man? Do I look as if I required Carlsbad treatment? I am quite healthy, and though I will be 62 next December, I feel quite young in health and spirits, and from my humor you will notice that what I tell you is quite correct. I came to Trieste solely to recruit the health of my crew, they having passed 17 months in the tropics without a break."

"My reception by the Austrian officials was most friendly and according to the usual etiquette. All reports of the emperor's declining me a reception are unfounded."

"I expect to remain in Trieste about a week longer, and shall then proceed probably to Naples. Further details and plans have not been decided upon, but the cruiser will remain during the whole of August at Mediterranean ports. The last port touched in Europe will be Gibraltar, where we will only take on coal and stores. We are expected in New York by Oct. 1."

"I have accepted invitations to receptions by the citizens of New York and Washington, and am already in possession of a photograph of the sword of honor voted me by the American congress."

Admiral Dewey absolutely refused to talk upon political subjects, and when asked what he thought of England, replied:

"I have not thought anything yet."

NEW YORK, July 25.—Mayor Van Wyck received the following cablegram from Admiral Dewey:

TRIESTE, July 24.

To Mayor Van Wyck, New York: Letters received and invitation accepted. Expect to arrive about Oct. 1. Will cable definitely from Gibraltar. Have written. DEWEY.

KILLED AND WOUNDED.

A List Sent by Otis—Brooks Reported Two Deaths.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The war department received the following from General Otis at Manila:

"Additional casualties—Killed—First California infantry, at Bulong, Negros, July 1, Company E, Walter T. Sweeney; Ninth infantry, near San Luis, 18th, K. Edward B. Webster.

"Wounded—First California infantry, at Bulong, Negros, 1st, Company E, Claud W. Huff, arm, slight; Twenty-first infantry, near Morong, 17th, O. Francis Giancey, knee, moderate; Ninth infantry, near San Luis, 18th, K. Sergeant Herbert L. Hartwick, arm, slight."

General Otis also cabled the following deaths:

"Dysentery: July 15, Michael Oorri-gan, Company K, First Montana. Suicide: 19th, John L. Moore, first lieutenant, L. Fifty-first Iowa. Intestinal tuberculosis: 20th, William L. Murray, Twenty-first infantry, Company O. Death from typhoid fever: 21st, Floyd Allen, Twenty-first regiment infantry, Company K."

General Brooke at Havana sent the following death report:

"July 22, Santiago, George Alson, civilian employee; Arthur Hayes, post quartermaster sergeant, died 19th, yellow fever."

PROPOSE TO FIGHT GOEBEL.

Opposition Meeting of Democrats Held and Movement Started.

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., July 25.—The anti-Goebel meeting here was largely attended. Ex-Congressman W. C. Owens sent a letter condemning the nomination of Goebel for governor. The meeting adopted resolutions condemning the movement inaugurated by so-called Democrats in eastern states to abandon the principles of the Chicago platform; endorsing William J. Bryan for president, and charging that the state convention in Louisville, which nominated Goebel, was perverted from its true purpose by corruption, fraud and force, by intrigue and treachery, by infamous rulings of the acting chairman, etc.

The resolutions deny that the ticket is entitled to or should receive the support of the party in this state.

Lived to Be Nearly 106.

BRISTOL, Pa., July 25.—Lacking but a few days of 106 years, Mrs. Catharine Dillon, the eldest woman in Bucks county, is dead here.

Armstrong, from Puerto Principe, reports: July 21, 4 cases, 2 soldiers residing in city, 1 teamster, 1 civilian; 22d, nothing new."

A dispatch was received from General Brooke saying General Wood reported they have the yellow fever situation under control at Santiago.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, July 25.—One suspected case of yellow fever was reported—the first for ten days. If this case proves not to be one of yellow fever, the quarantine will be removed immediately. The sanitary department has caused to be burned all the tents, bedding and clothing used at the infected camp. The troops at Songo and Morro are healthy.

A TENTH BOY DIED.

Private Bobbs and Two Other Soldiers Expired on the Voyage From Manila.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—The United States transport Morgan City, which has been converted into a hospital ship, arrived from Manila, having on board 473 sick and convalescent soldiers. The vessel started with 476, but three died on the voyage, Private C. J. Bobbs, Tenth Pennsylvania; Private Lewis Cook, Twenty-second regiment, and First Lieutenant Jackson, First South Dakota.

These succumbed to dysentery, the disease with which most of the others were afflicted. All of those on board were ill when the steamer left Manila, but the removal from a tropical climate and the sea air so benefited the invalids that, on arrival here, only 22 were unable to leave their berths. Every command and almost every regiment is represented among the returning soldiers.

NEW TREATY WITH FRANCE

Reciprocity Treaty of Great Importance Signed—Treaty Work Under Dingley Act Closed.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The long pending reciprocity treaty negotiations between the United States and France were brought to a successful close at the state department when Ambassador Cambon, in behalf of France, and Commissioner Kasson, in behalf of the United States, affixed their signatures to the reciprocity treaty.

The concessions granted by France embrace most of the articles in what is known as the French minimum tariff. This comprises 644 heads, the rates being on an average about 20 per cent below those in the general tariff of France. Concessions were granted upon all but 26.

Besides the reductions given to this country, the treaty is important in continuing a number of minimum rates which would have been abolished if the treaty had not been concluded. The most important of these articles are petroleum and mineral oils. At present these oils enter France on the minimum rate, but had the treaty failed a difference of duty amounting to about $5,000,000. Had the treaty failed a heavy duty would have been imposed upon American cotton. The same is true of copper, rubber and many classes of machinery.

France secures important concessions on over 100 of the chief products sent by France to this country. The Dingley law allows not to exceed 20 per cent reduction as a basis of reciprocity, but the full 20 per cent is not allowed on all the articles covered by the treaty. On some of them the reduction is 5 per cent, on others 10, others 15, and up to 20 per cent.

The treaty will result in placing the products of the United States on the same basis in France as products of Great Britain and Germany. At present these countries have the minimum French rate, while the American goods, with few exceptions, have had to pay the maximum rate.

The French treaty was the last of the instruments of this kind, and the treaty work under the Dingley act was brought to a close. Six treaties were made, all save that of France relating to British West India islands.

NEGOTIATION OVER ALASKA.

Hay and Tower Hopeful—No Alarm as to Laurier's Talk.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Direct negotiations respecting the Alaska boundary are in progress between Secretary Hay and Mr. Tower, the British charge here. The principals are not without hope that success may attend their efforts, and then there is arbitration yet in reserve in case of failure on the present lines.

The officials here are in nowise alarmed at the recent developments at Ottawa, feeling confident that Sir Wilfrid Laurier's utterance Saturday, in which he mentioned the word "war" as an alternative to arbitration, was given a meaning not intended by the Canadian premier. The strong language attributed to Sir Charles Tupper is not credited to the Canadian government, and it is realized that great latitude may properly be allowed in viewing the utterances of members of an opposition party.

ROOT SAW THE PRESIDENT.

He Probably Will Return to New York Today.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Hon. Elihu Root of New York, who is to succeed General Alger as secretary of war, arrived in Washington last night and had a long conference with the president.

Honduras' Report on Pears' Killing.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—United States Minister Hunter secured from the government of Honduras a full report, from its point of view, of the circumstances attending the killing of young Pears last spring, which has been made the subject of a claim for indemnity by the United States. The report will form the basis of speedy diplomatic action.

Expect's Justice From America.

ROME, July 25.—The Italia referring to the lynching of Italians in Louisiana says: "We have not the least doubt that the United States will do its duty in the broad measure demanded by the atrocity of the latest lynching, but our conferees will do well not to expect greater reparation than can be obtained."

Tax Collector Arrested.

WASHINGTON, Pa., July 25.—Charles H. Kimmell, justice of the peace and tax collector at Charleroi, was committed to the care of Sheriff Hemphill on a charge of embezzlement, it being alleged that he appropriated to his own use more than $1,000 in taxes which he had collected. His friends denied the charge and were trying to get bail.

DEWEY FEELING WELL.

Said He Would Remain in Trieste About a Week Longer and Then Go to Naples. Sent a Letter to New York Accepting the Reception Invitation.

TRIESTE, Austria, July 25.—A correspondent visited Admiral Dewey on board his flagship Olympia and was cordially received by the admiral, who said that although he had received many invitations from Americans sojourning at Carlsbad, he had never intended going there.

"Look at me," said the admiral. "Do I look like a sick man? Do I look as if I required Carlsbad treatment? I am quite healthy, and though I will be 63 next December, I feel quite young in health and spirits, and from my humor you will notice that what I tell you is quite correct. I came to Trieste solely to recruit the health of my crew, they having passed 17 months in the tropics without a break.

"My reception by the Austrian officials was most friendly and according to the usual etiquette. All reports of the emperor's declining me a reception are unfounded.

"I expect to remain in Trieste about a week longer, and shall then proceed probably to Naples. Further details and plans have not been decided upon, but the cruiser will remain during the whole of August at Mediterranean ports. The last port touched in Europe will be Gibraltar, where we will only take on coal and stores. We are expected in New York by Oct. 1.

"I have accepted invitations to receptions by the citizens of New York and Washington, and am already in possession of a photograph of the sword of honor voted me by the American congress."

Admiral Dewey absolutely refused to talk upon political subjects, and when asked what he thought of England, replied:

"I have not thought anything yet."

NEW YORK, July 25.—Mayor Van Wyck received the following cablegram from Admiral Dewey:

TRIESTE, July 24.

To Mayor Van Wyck, New York:

Letters received and invitation accepted. Expect to arrive about Oct. 1. Will cable definitely from Gibraltar. Have written. DEWEY.

General Brooke at Havana sent the following death report:

"July 22, Santiago, George Alson, civilian employee; Arthur Hayes, post quartermaster sergeant, died 19th, yellow fever."

Opposition Meeting of Democrats Held and Movement Started.

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., July 25.—The anti-Goebel meeting here was largely attended. Ex-Congressman W. C. Owens sent a letter condemning the nomination of Goebel for governor. The meeting adopted resolutions condemning the movement inaugurated by so-called Democrats in eastern states to abandon the principles of the Chicago platform; endorsing William J. Bryan for president, and charging that the state convention in Louisville, which nominated Goebel, was perverted from its true purpose by corruption, fraud and force, by intrigue and treachery, by infamous rulings of the acting chairman, etc.

The resolutions deny that the ticket is entitled to or should receive the support of the party in this state.

EVENING NEWS REVIEW.

15TH YEAR. NO. 39.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., TUESDAY, JULY 25, 1899.

MORE TROOPS READY.

Adjutant General So Notified
Mayor Farley.

ATTEMPT TO WRECK A CAR.

Non-Union Conductor Followed a Boy and Shot Him—His Victim Died Soon Afterward—Alleged Clew to Man Who Blew Up a Car.

COLUMBUS, July 25.—Adjutant General Axline received the following message: "Send regiment at once."

The Columbus regiment was at once ordered to assemble and should reach Cleveland early today.

CLEVELAND, July 25.—The adjutant general informed Mayor Farley that the militia companies at Youngstown, Geneva, Berea, Warren and Norwalk, towns near this city, had been officially notified to hold themselves in readiness to answer the call of the mayor should the situation get beyond the control of the present force. Various companies of the Fourth, Sixth and Eighth regiments, to the number of 800 men, have also been ordered to prepare for a sudden summons.

A repetition of the wrecking of a Euclid avenue car was attempted by strikers or their sympathizers in Brooklyn, a suburb of Cleveland.

An explosion took place under the car, but failed to injure it materially. There were no passengers aboard, and the conductor and motorman escaped unharmed.

CLEVELAND, July 25.—The state board of arbitration practically abandoned their efforts to conciliate the street car strikers and their former employers. The resentment of the conductors and motormen who quit work and the more turbulent spirit of their sympathizers was held in check to a degree by the presence of the police and the militia, members of which rode in the cars or were held in readiness at the barns and terminals.

Small riots occurred, but with one exception they were without serious result. The death of Henry Cornwell, slain by a bullet fired by Ralph P. Hawley, a conductor on the Broadway line, was recorded the first fatality of the strike.

Shortly after noon Hawley's car approached Orange street and was beset by a crowd of men and boys. Cornwell, the 19-year-old son of a butcher, was astride a horse and rode to the side of the car, keeping pace with it for some distance.

Various stories were told as to what passed between the conductor and the boy, but the mob was suddenly called to its senses by the sight of Hawley, who jumped to the street and started in pursuit of Cornwell.

The latter, closely followed by his pursuer, turned up Perry street. At Woodland avenue the latter pulled his revolver and fired. His victim fell, fatally wounded, with a ghastly wound in the left temple, and died soon after being removed to the hospital.

The crowd, which before the incident had been so violent, was awed by the seriousness of the affair, and permitted the conductor to walk back to his car. He was arrested and taken to the station, where a charge of murder was entered against him.

When the car returned in charge of another man and laden with police, thousands of people were crowded round the fatal spot. The track was blocked and the stalled cars bombarded with stones, pieces of brick and sticks of wood. The police managed by dint of using their clubs to clear the way after a delay of about half an hour.

The police believe they have a clew to the man who placed nitroglycerine which blew up the Euclid avenue car and injured four passengers. Matthew Robinson, who was seen driving a horse and buggy, said to resemble the one in which the mysterious wrecker rode, has been placed in a cell. Robinson claims to have found the rig, masterless, and took possession, intending to deliver it to Charles Steinmetz, a liveryman by whom Robinson is employed.

Mr. Steinmetz informed the officers that he rented the outfit to a man whom he identifies vaguely as having a dark mustache.

With the exception of the Mayfield suburban, all the lines of the Big Consolidated were in operation, although their movements were necessarily hampered somewhat.

COLUMBUS, July 25.—The state authorities regard the Cleveland strike situation as very serious. Adjutant General Axline, who was commander of the Tenth Ohio volunteer infantry during the Spanish war, will go to Cleveland and take command of the troops in person in case other regiments are needed. There are eight companies already on duty in Cleveland.

EPWORTH LEAGUE BOARD.

Reports Heard and a Meeting Held in Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 25.—The board of control of the Epworth League met to hear reports and consider matters pertaining to the league.

Bishop W. K. Ninde, Detroit, president of the board, presided. The report of Rev. Edwin A. Schell, secretary of the Epworth League, was submitted. Rev. F. L. Nagler, Cincinnati, German assistant secretary of the league, presented a report of the German branch.

A report of the league's work among the colored people was presented by colored Secretary Rev. Irvine G. Penn of Atlanta.

The board will probably be in session several days.

INGERSOLL'S FUNERAL.

Selections of His Writings Read by Historian Ridpath and Major O. J. Smith—Wife Seriously Ill.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Simple funeral exercises over the body of the late Robert G. Ingersoll were held at Walston, the Ingersoll summer home at Dobbs Ferry, this afternoon.

Dr. John Clark Ridpath, who was for many years a close personal friend of Colonel Ingersoll, read the eulogy delivered by Colonel Ingersoll upon his brother Clarke. Dr. Ridpath also read "My Creed," the last poem written by Colonel Ingersoll, and afterward made a brief address.

Major O. J. Smith of Dobbs Ferry, a warm friend of the great orator and lecturer, read other selections from Ingersoll's writings.

Early tomorrow morning the family will accompany the remains to Fresh Pond, Long Island, where the body will be cremated. They will bring the ashes back to Dobbs Ferry and they will be deposited in an urn, which will be surmounted with the bust of Colonel Ingersoll, to be made from the death mask made by John Gray Bernard, the New York sculptor. The only music that will be heard this afternoon will be "Siegfried's funeral march."

The mail brought over 300 letters of condolence, and telegrams continue to pour in from all parts of the country. Among those received was one from Julia Marlowe, the actress, now in London. Another long one was from Rev. R. H. Pullman, who was a personal friend of Colonel Ingersoll. Many theatrical people sent letters of condolence.

The funeral will be private, and it is expected that only those who were personal friends of long standing will attend, and representatives of societies that believed as did the late Colonel Ingersoll.

Mrs. Ingersoll is so ill that she is confined to her bed. Members of the family say that the illness is due to the prostration of grief and the ceaseless vigil that she has kept at the bier of her dead husband since his death on Friday.

It is not thought that the illness will result seriously. Colonel Ingersoll's daughters, Miss Maud and Mrs. Walston H. Brown, are both on the verge of prostration. The grief-stricken wife and daughters, who share the belief of the dead agnostic, have begged only to be allowed to keep the body with them as long as possible.

IN BEHALF OF PEACE.

Series of Declarations Signed by Hague Conference Delegates For Submission to Their Governments.

THE HAGUE, July 25.—The general act embodying the results of the international peace conference, after enumerating the names and qualifications of all the delegates, said:

"In a series of meetings in which the above delegates participated, inspired throughout by the desire to realize in the highest possible measure the generous views of its august initiator, the conference has drawn up for the approval of the respective governments the series of conventions and declarations appended:

"Convention for the pacific settlement of international disputes.

"Convention concerning the laws and customs of war on land.

"Convention for the adoption of laws against the use of asphyxiating or deleterious gases from balloon projectiles, and for the prohibition of the use of bullets that easily expand in the human body."

The general act contains five expressions of opinion, as follows:

"The conference considers that limitations of the military charges which at present oppress the world are greatly to be desired for the increase of the material and moral welfare of mankind.

"The conference expressed the opinion that the question of the rights and duties of neutrals should be inscribed on the program of a conference to be held at an early date.

"The conference expressed the opinion that questions relative to the type and caliber of rifles and naval artillery, as examined by it, should be the subject of study by the different governments with a view to arriving at a uniform solution by a future conference.

"The conference expresses the wish that an early convention be called to revise the Geneva convention.

"The conference has resolved that questions relating to the inviolability of private property in war on land and the bombardment of towns or villages in naval war be reserved for future conferences."

The convention is signed by all the plenary delegates.

A FEAST DAY RECOGNIZED.

SANTIAGO, July 25.—Today began the "Fiesta de Santiago." This is the first recognition of a religious festival by the American government. The custom house will be closed for two days. The town is decorated and street masquerading will occur until Thursday.

SAW SAXTON SHOT.

SAID MRS. GEORGE KILLED HIM.

Declared He Was Afraid to Tell What He Knew and Ran Away—Father Said the Boy Ran to the Scene of the Shooting, but Don't Know What He Saw.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Evidence which might have had an important bearing in the trial of Mrs. Anna George of Canton, O., charged with the murder of George Saxton, brother-in-law of President McKinley, last October, came to light in the juvenile court. Russell Hogan, 15 years old, who was brought before the court as Richard McKnight, said: "I was standing right across Lincoln avenue from Mrs. Althouse's place and saw Mr. Saxton on the porch and saw Mrs. George shoot him. I was afraid they might do something to me if I told what I had seen, so I left home and have traveled all over the country since then."

Young Hogan said that his father was R. M. Hogan, superintendent of the Aultmann Manufacturing company, and well known in Canton.

CANTON, July 25.—Martin J. Hogan, the father of Russell Hogan, does not know what his boy saw the night of the Saxton murder. He was sick, and when the shots were fired, the boy left him to go toward the scene. Young Hogan was wanted as a witness here by both sides, but disappeared shortly before the trial. The defense pretended to want him because his testimony before the coroner was that it was so dark that he could not tell whether the person doing the shooting was a man or a woman. Rather than allow a postponement, the state admitted that he had been present at the trial he would have testified as claimed.

Lively Messenger Boys' Strike.

CINCINNATI, July 25.—The strike of messenger boys, that started last Saturday, became more serious. Two boys were stabbed, several hit with missiles and many slugged with clubs. When any new boys or men went out with messages a gang pursued them with epithets, clubs and stones. When these working messengers took street cars the pursuing mob stoned the cars and some innocent people were hurt. The police charged the mob repeatedly, but the disturbers would soon rally again. The companies refused to recognize the newly formed union, and at a meeting the boys voted to continue the strike. At this meeting the newsboys and some tobacco strippers promised to join them.

Will Rebuild the Elevator.

TOLEDO, July 25.—General Superintendent R. B. Turner of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton road, stated that the burned elevator will be rebuilt as soon as possible, and that the old elevator will be refitted for temporary use. The estimate of $1,000,000 loss was found to be correct. The insurance will not cover the loss on the building by over $90,000. The insurance on the grain was $474,000, while the value of the wheat was about $830,000.

YELLOW JACK CONTROLLED.

Gen. Wood Master of the Situation at Santiago—Disease at Other Cuban Points.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Surgeon General Sternberg received the following from Major O'Reilly at Havana:

"Havard reports from Santiago, July 22, on yellow fever situation: July 19, no new cases, 3 deaths, 2 enlisted men, 1 civilian; 20th, 3 new cases, 1 enlisted man, 1 female nurse, 1 civilian, no deaths; 21st, no case, no death. Armstrong, from Puerto Principe, reports: July 21, 4 cases, 2 soldiers residing in city, 1 teamster, 1 civilian; 22d, nothing new."

A dispatch was received from General Brooke saying General Wood reported they have the yellow fever situation under control at Santiago.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, July 25.—One suspected case of yellow fever was reported—the first for ten days. If this case proves not to be one of yellow fever, the quarantine will be removed immediately. The sanitary department has caused to be burned all the tents, bedding and clothing used at the infected camp. The troops at Songo and Morro are healthy.

SOLDIER COMING BACK

A Letter Received From Chas. Goodballet In Manila.

YOUNG GIRL HEALING THE SICK

What Is Going on In the Building Line. A Preacher Overcome by Heat—Persons Ill—Births—Personals—About East End People.

Conrad Goodballet, of Helana, has received a letter from his brother Charles, now in Manila, serving as a member of Company K, Seventeenth U. S. I. The letter was written June 2, and in part is as follows:

"I wish sometimes I was back home. The hot weather and long walking makes me very weary of soldier life. The fighting is almost over and we won't be the least sorry. I have been in several close places and know what it is. Within 12 days our regiment marched 90 miles and captured 4 towns. In 3 of the towns we never fired a gun. When we enter a town the insurgents go out of the other, and all trouble is averted by their levelheadedness. The newspapers are stretching the stories about the fighting, and the battles seldom last over 20 minutes.

"I expect to be home before long, probably within three months. An order has been received at headquarters ordering all men who enlisted between April 21 and October 26 of last year to be mustered out. That includes me, and there you are."

With the letter was a neat description of the trip of the regiment from Columbus to Manila, which went by the way of the Suez canal.

BUILDING NOTES.

What Is Being Done In This Line In East End.

Yesterday work on several residences were commenced in this part of the city which will tend materially to increase the valuation of the First ward. Frank Alabaugh will start the erection of a modern dwelling in Riley's orchard soon, while Thomas Mays commenced the erection of one yesterday. Allen Hays' new home is about completed and work on two five-room houses for Charles Swan was started. J. J. Cornwell is building on the Wise farm, while homes for Joseph Mills and John Brand have been started in Helana.

HAD A FIGHT.

Police Called to an East End Saloon Saturday Evening.

Comes to America to Study Our Educational Institutions.

Nolio T. Simbalenco registered at the Palmer House, in Chicago, recently from Odessa. He is a Bedouin, desert born and reared. He made many trips when a boy from Alexandria, in Egypt, over the desert lands to Jerusalem. He says his parents left the roving bands of the far east and settled in Odessa, where he obtained his education. The object of his visit, according to the Chicago Record, to the United States is to study American educational institutions. He said in English:

"You make in this country the best agricultural implements we in Russia buy. Your terms are too high, though. American prices are all right, but English and European firms are robbing this country of its business. We can buy from them on three and six months' time, while in America it is cash. There is a big field for American manufacturers in Russia, because our country is opening up. The Trans-siberian railroad is being rapidly finished. In this connection I would advance the comparison by saying that our railway service is better than it is in the United States. There are more luxuries at small cost."

Then the gentleman talked politics, in which connection he said:

"Our czar is a good fellow. While I was in Moscow recently he was out on the street when it began to rain. He hailed a cab, and while on his way home—to his palace—he talked and joked with the cabby. He is popular with the people. I think the agitation among the Finnish people will be crushed out by him. I think they are in the wrong."

Speaking of the plan to span the Bering sea and make a continuous route from the United States to Moscow, he said it would come some day, but that it would take time.

SOLDIER COMING BACK

YOUNG GIRL HEALING THE SICK

Conrad Goodballet, of Helana, has received a letter from his brother Charles, now in Manila, serving as a member of Company K, Seventeenth U. S. I. The letter was written June 2, and in part is as follows:

"I wish sometimes I was back home. The hot weather and long walking makes me very weary of soldier life. The fighting is almost over and we won't be the least sorry. I have been in several close places and know what it is. Within 12 days our regiment marched 90 miles and captured 4 towns. In 3 of the towns we never fired a gun. When we enter a town the insurgents go out of the other, and all trouble is averted by their levelheadedness. The newspapers are stretching the stories about the fighting, and the battles seldom last over 20 minutes.

"I expect to be home before long, probably within three months. An order has been received at headquarters ordering all men who enlisted between April 21 and October 26 of last year to be mustered out. That includes me, and there you are."

With the letter was a neat description of the trip of the regiment from Columbus to Manila, which went by the way of the Suez canal.

SOLDIER COMING BACK

YOUNG GIRL HEALING THE SICK

Conrad Goodballet, of Helana, has received a letter from his brother Charles, now in Manila, serving as a member of Company K, Seventeenth U. S. I. The letter was written June 2, and in part is as follows:

"I wish sometimes I was back home. The hot weather and long walking makes me very weary of soldier life. The fighting is almost over and we won't be the least sorry. I have been in several close places and know what it is. Within 12 days our regiment marched 90 miles and captured 4 towns. In 3 of the towns we never fired a gun. When we enter a town the insurgents go out of the other, and all trouble is averted by their levelheadedness. The newspapers are stretching the stories about the fighting, and the battles seldom last over 20 minutes.

"I expect to be home before long, probably within three months. An order has been received at headquarters ordering all men who enlisted between April 21 and October 26 of last year to be mustered out. That includes me, and there you are."

With the letter was a neat description of the trip of the regiment from Columbus to Manila, which went by the way of the Suez canal.

BUILDING NOTES.

What Is Being Done In This Line In East End.

Yesterday work on several residences were commenced in this part of the city which will tend materially to increase the valuation of the First ward. Frank Alabaugh will start the erection of a modern dwelling in Riley's orchard soon, while Thomas Mays commenced the erection of one yesterday. Allen Hays' new home is about completed and work on two five-room houses for Charles Swan was started. J. J. Cornwell is building on the Wise farm, while homes for Joseph Mills and John Brand have been started in Helana.

HAD A FIGHT.

Police Called to an East End Saloon Saturday Evening.

Saturday evening two well-known men became involved in a quarrel in the Hutchinson saloon, near Columbian park, and for a time matters were growing very interesting for the party of spectators who were in the place. The battle got so warm that an officer was sent for, but upon his arrival all was quiet, as the participants had been given a tip. The trouble caused some excitement in that part of town, but no arrests have been made yet.

SICK PEOPLE.

List Is Decreasing Over the Report of Last Week.

While preaching Sunday J. N. McHenry was overcome by the heat and was removed to his home. His condition this morning was somewhat improved. Mrs. J. B. Martin is very low at her home in Helana. Several physicians are in attendance and it was thought last evening she would not recover.

Edward Wolf, who was accidentally struck in the back with an ax last week, is improving rapidly.

STRANGE POWER.

A Nine-Year-Old Child Is Causing Much Talk.

Some strange power is possessed by the nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Dobbs, of East End, which is causing much talk in the immediate vicinity. The child, it is claimed, can with the laying on of the hands cure severe diseases.

SPRING GROVE.

The Association Failed to Meet Last Evening—Dr. Riker Will Preach.

There was no meeting of the members of Spring Grove Campmeeting association last night as only 34 shares of the necessary 98 shares of stock were represented. A conference was had and several committees were appointed to look after the services this week. Soldiers day will be Tuesday, August 1, and Doctor Riker, president of Mt. Union college, will be engaged to make an address next Sunday. The meeting of the association will be held next Monday evening.

The services at the ground yesterday, conducted by Amanda Smith, were well attended and were very interesting.

Frank Buxton, who was injured yesterday by falling over Brady's culvert, is somewhat improved. He spent a very good night.

John Blue, of Wellsville, is spending a few days at the ground.

A well-known lady resident of the ground was frightened by a man on the path yesterday afternoon. She ran all the way up the hill.

MARSHAL JOHNSON

Doesn't Know Whether He Will Include Grim and Whan in the Payroll.

Marshal Johnson, when asked if he would place the names of Suspended Officers Grim and Whan upon the payroll for this month, replied that he "supposed he would take the names from the day books as usual, but he didn't know exactly what he would do." He expects some developments before that time.

THEY PURCHASED.

Hospital Directors Decide to Take the Croxall Lot at $3,000.

The board of directors of the hospital met last evening and decided to purchase the Croxall lot at $3,000, and the first payment of $500 will be made in a few days.

The anti-spit ordinance will come up once more, and there will be the usual miscellaneous business to transact.

A COMPLAINT.

A. R. Reed Will Be at Council This Evening.

A. R. Reed, of Jethro, will this evening appear before city council and make complaint about the boys loafing around the spring in Jethro. He says he has not been able to sleep for several nights owing to the racket the boys keep up and the profane language they use.

COUNCIL

Should Have the Building In the Rear of the City Hall Cleaned.

The council should take some action towards cleaning out the small building in the rear of city hall. The building is a disgrace to the city and a menace to public health. It should either be torn down or a new floor put in it and be given a thorough cleaning. As it stands now it is filled with old paper and rubbish and the stench arising therefrom is very bad.

BEDOUIIN VISITS CHICAGO.

Comes to America to Study Our Educational Institutions.

Nolio T. Simbalenco registered at the Palmer House, in Chicago, recently from Odessa. He is a Bedouin, desert born and reared. He made many trips when a boy from Alexandria, in Egypt, over the desert lands to Jerusalem. He says his parents left the roving bands of the far east and settled in Odessa, where he obtained his education. The object of his visit, according to the Chicago Record, to the United States is to study American educational institutions. He said in English:

"You make in this country the best agricultural implements we in Russia buy. Your terms are too high, though. American prices are all right, but English and European firms are robbing this country of its business. We can buy from them on three and six months' time, while in America it is cash. There is a big field for American manufacturers in Russia, because our country is opening up. The Transiberian railroad is being rapidly finished. In this connection I would advance the comparison by saying that our railway service is better than it is in the United States. There are more luxuries at small cost."

Then the gentleman talked politics, in which connection he said:

"Our czar is a good fellow. While I was in Moscow recently he was out on the street when it began to rain. He hailed a cab, and while on his way home—to his palace—he talked and joked with the caddy. He is popular with the people. I think the agitation among the Finnish people will be crushed out by him. I think they are in the wrong."

Speaking of the plan to span the Bering sea and make a continuous route from the United States to Moscow, he said it would come some day, but that it would take time.

All premiums are payable at the Home Office, in Hartford, Conn., but will be accepted if paid to an Agent, in exchange for a receipt signed by the President or Secretary, and countersigned by the Agent designated thereon.

This policy shall not take effect until the first premium is so paid while the Insured is in good health; and if any subsequent premium be not paid when due, this policy shall cease and determine, and all premiums previously paid shall be forfeited to this company, except as hereinafter provided.

The Company declines to notice any assignment of this policy until the original or a copy thereof shall be filed in its Home office. The company will not assume any responsibility for the validity of any assignment.

This policy is issued and accepted subject to the Agreements indorsed hereon, which are a part of this contract.

EXTENDED INSURANCE.

If after the premiums for three full years have been paid, this contract shall become void solely by the non-payment of any premium when due, the Company will grant non-participating term insurance, under the same conditions and restrictions as contained in this policy, except the payment of premiums, for the term described in the following table of "Extended Insurance," and will pay as an endowment, if the Insured survives the term, the corresponding "Cash at Maturity" stated in the table,—provided, however, that no "Cash Value" and no "Loan Value" shall be allowed under said term insurance, and that if the Insured dies during such term and within three years from the date of such default, the premiums that would have been due under this policy during such term, with interest, shall be deducted from the amount due under such insurance, and provided further that no part of such insurance shall be payable unless satisfactory proofs of death be furnished within one year after death.

PAID-UP VALUE.

In lieu of such "Extended Insurance" a non-participating paid-up policy will be granted, for the amount specified in the following table of "Paid-Up Values," payable in the same manner as this policy if the Insured dies before the latter would have matured as an endowment, and for one and a half times that amount payable to the Insured if he is living at that time,—provided the premiums for three full years have been paid and this policy be satisfactorily released and surrendered therefor at the Company's Home Office while it is in force, or within three months from default in payment of any premium.

In witness whereof, the PHOENIX MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, has by its President and Secretary signed and delivered this Contract in the City of Hartford, Connecticut, this twenty-fifth day of July, 1899.

TABLES.

The Extended Insurance and Values due at years not given here will be similarly calculated and will be stated on application.

If the surplus apportioned to this policy is used to increase the insurance, the term of the Extended Insurance and all values here stated will also be increased thereby; but the term of the Extended Insurance will never be increased beyond the maturity of the policy. After this point is reached any increase in the Extended Insurance will be in the cash at maturity.

DIVIDENDS.

This policy, while in force under its original conditions, shall participate in the Company's distributions of surplus.

THE PHOENIX NEW POLICY.

Insurance journals concede it as being the most up-to-date contract there is on the market, the same being copyrighted by the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance company, of Hartford, Conn. Why you should invest with the Phoenix: Because you can get the same kind of insurance cheaper, and in a company that pays the highest dividends. Now the first question that would arise in one's mind is: How can the Phoenix give more for the same money and pay greater dividends than some larger companies? For the simple reason that the Phoenix confines its business to the healthy part of the United States only, while some of the greater companies write insurance all over the world. Would you not rather be in a company that is doing business in the United States alone than to be in a company that is writing business all over the world, when your money is helping to pay death claims and taking your dividends to help pay the same? Just look at it for a moment and you will see for yourself that it is better to be mixed up with quality than quantity. The insurance commissioner's sworn statement is what to go by in regard to dividends, and not what the agents say always.

The Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance company has been doing business for 50 years, and is shown by the insurance commissioner's sworn reports to be as strong as any old line insurance company in existence. You will no doubt be, if you have not already been approached by rival agents who state that the Phoenix was represented by them here at one time, and that they used it only to write second class risks. The company has written me a letter in regard to this matter, and say that the Phoenix was never represented here except by a general agent, he having stopped here once or twice. The Phoenix writes nothing but first class risks. You'll also be shown 20 year endowment policies, at inferior rates. For illustration, some agents will try, and in a great many cases, sell you a 20 payment life policy for a 20 year endowment, giving you the impression that you will draw the face of your policy, with all accumulation, at the end of 20 years, the two policies being entirely different. The difference of the premium in all old line companies will range anywhere between $20 and $25, and no life insurance company will write a 20 year endowment policy for less than $40 per thousand, and anyone having a policy which has been written for less than $40 per thousand, and has been left under the impression that they will draw $1,000 at the end of 20 years, has been misled. If you don't think so, just write to the secretary of the company you are insured in, and ask him if you are guaranteed $1,000 at the end of 20 years, and you will find that you are not. You may have a good policy and all that, but you have not a 20 year endowment at less than $40 per thousand in any old line company. Anyone contemplating taking insurance will do well to examine the Phoenix contract, which information will be cheerfully furnished on application, when you will be shown where there have been several $5,000 policies placed with some of our most conservative business men in the city within the last month, and some of them placed in competition with several companies which agents claim are the big companies. Conservative business men want quality and not quantity. For any further information call on

In witness whereof, the PHOENIX MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, has by its President and Secretary signed and delivered this Contract in the City of Hartford, Connecticut, this twenty-fifth day of July, 1899

*Years and months begin at 12 o'clock, noon, on the anniversary of this policy following the last policy year for which the full year's premium has been paid. The term of months ends at 12 o'clock, noon, on that day of the last month of the term which corresponds in number to the day on which the term began, if there is such an one, and if not, on the last day of the final month.

EXTENDED INSURANCE.

If after the premiums for three full years have been paid, this contract shall become void solely by the non-payment of any premium when due, the Company will grant non-participating term insurance, under the same conditions and restrictions as contained in this policy, except the payment of premiums, for the term described in the following table of "Extended Insurance," and will pay as an endowment, if the Insured survives the term, the corresponding "Cash at Maturity" stated in the table,—provided, however, that no "Cash Value" and no "Loan Value" shall be allowed under said term insurance, and that if the Insured dies during such term and within three years from the date of such default, the premiums that would have been due under this policy during such term, with interest, shall be deducted from the amount due under such insurance, and provided further that no part of such insurance shall be payable unless satisfactory proofs of death be furnished within one year after death.

PAID-UP VALUE.

In lieu of such "Extended Insurance" a non-participating paid-up policy will be granted, for the amount specified in the following table of "Paid-Up Values," payable in the same manner as this policy if the Insured dies before the latter would have matured as an endowment, and for one and a half times that amount payable to the Insured if he is living at that time,—provided the premiums for three full years have been paid and this policy be satisfactorily released and surrendered therefor at the Company's Home Office while it is in force, or within three months from default in payment of any premium.

CASH VALUE.

At the end of the fifth year, the tenth year, or any other subsequent five-year period from the date hereof, the amount specified in the following table of "Cash Values" will be paid for this policy, provided it be in force under its original conditions at the end of such period, and be satisfactorily released and surrendered therefor at the Company's Home Office within thirty days from the end of such period.

LOANS.

Upon satisfactory assignment of this policy as collateral security, the Company will loan upon it while in force under its original conditions, the amount specified in the following table of "Loan Values," with interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum; but no loan or increase in loan will be made for less than twenty-five dollars.

INCONTESTABILITY.

After two years this policy shall be incontestable, except for non-payment of premium as stipulated, subject, however, to the agreement as to age.

DIVIDENDS.

This policy, while in force under its original conditions, shall participate in the Company's distributions of surplus.

THE PHOENIX NEW POLICY.

Insurance journals concede it as being the most up-to-date contract there is on the market, the same being copyrighted by the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance company, of Hartford, Conn. Why you should invest with the Phoenix: Because you can get the same kind of insurance cheaper, and in a company that pays the highest dividends. Now the first question that would arise in one's mind is: How can the Phoenix give more for the same money and pay greater dividends than some larger companies? For the simple reason that the Phoenix confines its business to the healthy part of the United States only, while some of the greater companies write insurance all over the world. Would you not rather be in a company that is doing business in the United States alone than to be in a company that is writing business all over the world, when your money is helping to pay death claims and taking your dividends to help pay the same? Just look at it for a moment and you will see for yourself that it is better to be mixed up with quality than quantity. The insurance commissioner's sworn statement is what to go by in regard to dividends, and not what the agents say always.

The Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance company has been doing business for 50 years, and is shown by the insurance commissioner's sworn reports to be as strong as any old line insurance company in existence. You will no doubt be, if you have not already been approached by rival agents who state that the Phoenix was represented by them here at one time, and that they used it only to write second class risks. The company has written me a letter in regard to this matter, and say that the Phoenix was never represented here except by a general agent, he having stopped here once or twice. The Phoenix writes nothing but first class risks. You'll also be shown 20 year endowment policies, at inferior rates. For illustration, some agents will try, and in a great many cases, sell you a 20 payment life policy for a 20 year endowment, giving you the impression that you will draw the face of your policy, with all accumulation, at the end of 20 years, the two policies being entirely different. The difference of the premium in all old line companies will range anywhere between $20 and $25, and no life insurance company will write a 20 year endowment policy for less than $40 per thousand, and anyone having a policy which has been written for less than $40 per thousand, and has been left under the impression that they will draw $1,000 at the end of 20 years, has been misled. If you don't think so, just write to the secretary of the company you are insured in, and ask him if you are guaranteed $1,000 at the end of 20 years, and you will find that you are not. You may have a good policy and all that, but you have not a 20 year endowment at less than $40 per thousand in any old line company. Anyone contemplating taking insurance will do well to examine the Phoenix contract, which information will be cheerfully furnished on application, when you will be shown where there have been several $5,000 policies placed with some of our most conservative business men in the city within the last month, and some of them placed in competition with several companies which agents claim are the big companies. Conservative business men want quality and not quantity. For any further information call on

The Company declines to notice any assignment of this policy until the original or a copy thereof shall be filed in its Home office. The company will not assume any responsibility for the validity of any assignment.

Two More Cases Are Slated for Trial

BEFORE HIS HONOR, THE MAYOR

Anna M. Stoffel and I. N. Crable Will Answer the Charges, and Both Gave Bond for Their Appearance in Court Next Week.

Mayor Bough is determined to rid the city of the slot machines and two more cases have been slated for hearing.

This morning Anna M. Stoffel appeared before his honor to answer to a charge of permitting gambling by means of a gambling device known as a slot machine. She promptly pleaded not guilty to the charge and the case was set for hearing Thursday, August 3, at 1 o'clock. She gave bail in the sum of $100 and was released. Yesterday afternoon I. N. Crable appeared in mayor's court to answer to a charge of exhibiting a gambling device. He pleaded not guilty and gave bond in the sum of $100 for his appearance in court Tuesday, August 2, at 1 o'clock.

OPENED BIDS ON SCHOOL BONDS

A LETTER FROM COLUMBUS READ

Sanitary Officer Burgess Told the Board to Do Some Things—Contract For Grant Street Addition Let—Heating Contract Awarded Cleveland Firm.

The board of education met last evening in the directors' room of the Central building and held an interesting session. The meeting was opened in the usual manner, and all members were present except Doctor Taggart, who is out of the city.

Opened Bond Bids.

This was the first business the board considered and resulted in the $25,000 bonds being sold to the German National bank, of Cincinnati, at a premium of $2,190. The other bids were W. J. Hayes & Co., Cleveland, premium of $1,467; Briggs, Todd & Co., Cincinnati, $1,843.75; German National bank, Cincinnati, $2,190; N. W. Hains & Co., of Chicago, $1,270; Lampbrecht Bros., Cincinnati, $1,860; Atlas National bank, Cincinnati, $1,816.75; Potters' National bank, city, par; Feder. Holtzman & Co., Cincinnati, $2,010; S. Kuhn & Sons, Cincinnati, $1,975; Rudolph, Kleybolte Co., Cincinnati, $1,769.50; Seasongood & Mayer, Cincinnati, $1,657.50; Dennison, Pryor & Co., Cleveland, $1,052.50.

The bonds which are now being prepared will be forwarded to the successful bidders as soon as possible.

Contracts Were Let.

Bids for the heating of the new addition to be built to the Grant street building were opened and the contract let to Isaac Smead, of Cleveland, for $600. The bids for the erection of the addition were: J. C. Cain, $5,845; J. T. Smith Lumber company, $6,478; Harvey McHenry, $5,988; Miller & Conners, $6,237. The contract was awarded to Mr. Cain, who will commence work at once. The stairways at this building will be widened after the addition is completed.

Letters from Columbus.

Clerk Hill read another letter recently received from J. W. Knaub, chief in spector of factories and workshops. The letter suggested that additional means of egress should be provided for the East End building, and also better fire protection. Attention was called in the same manner to the West End building. Additional stair room was asked for the Sixth street building.

The board decided to make the improvements as suggested by the inspector before the opening of the new school term, and will advertise for bids for the work soon.

Erected a Flag Pole.

Member Norris stated he and Doctor Williams had at last erected a flag staff at the Sheridan avenue building, and were given a vote of thanks by the board for their work. Other members wanted to know when a pole would be erected at the Central building, but no one could tell and the matter was dropped.

West End Addition.

Mr. Williams presented several plans for the new addition to the West End building. After careful consideration on part of the board the plans prepared by A. W. Scott, of this place, were accepted. Bids will be taken at once and the work will start as soon as possible.

Officer Burgess

wrote to Clerk Hill recently about the sanitary condition of the Sixth street building. The matter was referred to the committee in charge of that building to remedy it at once.

Repairing Fences.

Mr. Murphy broke a long silence by stating that the fence about the Third street building needed repairing badly and he had already taken steps to have the work done.

East Enders Kicking.

Mr. Smith, from the East End, said a few words about the fill in front of the East End building. This has been talked of before, and the matter was left in his hands to attend to.

Vacations.

Clerk Hill said he was going away next Thursday, and this little speech prompted President Vodrey to say: "Me, too! I will take a vacation for several weeks."

The meeting adjourned at 10:15, it being marked by the harmony which prevailed.

7 SUTHERLAND SISTERS' HAIR GROWER

FOR OVER 14 YEARS

This highly meritorious preparation has stood at the head of all hair restoratives. More than 3,000,000 bottles have been used by the American people, and thousands of testimonials bear witness to its excellence, while there were never any complaints when directions were followed.

A COMEDY OF BLUNDERS.

It Taught One Man More About Horses Than He Knew Before.

This Cass avenue resident knows about as much of horses as he does of the technic of tiger hunting, but a few weeks ago he paid $200 for a $100 horse and since that has looked upon himself as an equine authority. Sunday afternoon he was in the bay window enjoying his morning paper and a cigar. Hearing a clickety-clickety-click on the asphalt, he looked up, glared, dropped his paper and eyeglasses and dashed out as though he were going to pull a fire alarm.

"Hi, there! Stop that team!" he shouted. "Halt!" And all the promenade on the block obeyed, but the horse trotted along. "Ten dollars to the man who brings me that horse dead or alive!" whooped the citizen, now too much excited to be lucid. "That infernal liverman has hired him out, and me paying the highest price for his keep. I'll show him! Ten dollars, dead or alive," in Richard III voice, "for that horse!"

A lusty bicyclist grasped the situation and two minutes later had caught the bit of the horse. The man in the buggy protested, swore and threatened, but the grinning wheelman trotted the whole outfit back to the excited citizen. "Unhitch him!" he shouted. "Somebody will pay big money for this! Call a patrol wagon. What's your name?" Then the citizen turned pale and gasped:

"Three white feet! My horse has but two, and he's smaller. My mistake, gentlemen and ladies," for there was a crowd now. "Beg pardon." And he started for the house.

But the man in the buggy jumped up and wanted to fight. The bicyclist demanded his $10, and the crowd jeered. A policeman came in time to referee. The wheelman got his $10, the real owner of the horse accepted a humble apology, and the liverman raised the board the next day.—Detroit Free Press.

TRAPDOOR SPIDERS.

The Curious Nests That These Ingenious Insects Construct.

A curious species of insect is the trapdoor spider, whose nest consists of a tube excavated in the earth to the depth of six or eight inches. It is always lined with silk, and it is closed with an ingeniously constructed door. One sort of door closes into the nest like a cork in a bottle, another is as thin as a piece of paper.

In all cases the door opens outward, and when the nest is placed, as it usually is, on a sloping bank, it opens upward, so that there is no fear of its gaping. The object of the trapdoor is to conceal the nest, and consequently it is always made to resemble the general surface of the ground. Sometimes, however, an enemy attempts to open the door, and then the inmate braces its legs against the sides of the nest and holds it as fast as possible.

Still other spiders have inner doors besides outer, so that if their first defense be carried they may have another behind which to retreat. More curious still is the ingenuity of the branch trapdoor—that is to say, a door that opens from the main tunnel of the nest into a side branch, which the stranger could discover, since there is nothing to distinguish it from any other part of the main nest. So, then, if an enemy should effect an entrance the lawful occupant of the nest can quietly slip into the side branch, close the door and there remain in security while the intruder wonders what has become of her.—Our Animal Friends.

Disappointing Effect.

"I hope you are getting good results from the gymnastic exercises I recommended," said Mr. Pner's medical adviser.

"Well, I'm not," replied Mr. Pner. "They have ruined a good coat for me."

"Didn't you take your coat off?" "Certainly, but the exercise has enlarged my shoulders so I can't wear it any more. Coat was as good as new too!"—Chicago Tribune.

They Have Too Many Already.

Colorado people should put a guard around the golden girl which they propose to send to the Paris exposition, says the Omaha Bee. Some impetuous foreign nobleman is likely to carry her off.

The board of education met last evening in the directors' room of the Central building and held an interesting session. The meeting was opened in the usual manner, and all members were present except Doctor Taggart, who is out of the city.

Opened Bond Bids.

This was the first business the board considered and resulted in the $25,000 bonds being sold to the German National bank, of Cincinnati, at a premium of $2,190. The other bids were W. J. Hayes & Co., Cleveland, premium of $1,467; Briggs, Todd & Co., Cincinnati, $1,843.75; German National bank, Cincinnati, $2,190; N. W. Hains & Co., of Chicago, $1,270; Lamprecht Bros., Cincinnati, $1,860; Atlas National bank, Cincinnati, $1,816.75; Potters' National bank, city, par; Feder, Holtzman & Co., Cincinnati, $2,010; S. Kuhn & Sons, Cincinnati, $1,975; Rudolph, Kleybolte Co., Cincinnati, $1,769.50; Seasongood & Mayer, Cincinnati, $1,657.50; Dennison, Pryor & Co., Cleveland, $1,052.50.

The bonds which are now being prepared will be forwarded to the successful bidders as soon as possible.

Contracts Were Let.

Bids for the heating of the new addition to be built to the Grant street building were opened and the contract let to Isaac Smead, of Cleveland, for $600. The bids for the erection of the addition were: J. C. Cain, $5,845; J. T. Smith Lumber company, $6,478; Harvey McHenry, $5,988; Miller & Conners, $6,237. The contract was awarded to Mr. Cain, who will commence work at once. The stairways at this building will be widened after the addition is completed.

Letters from Columbus.

Clerk Hill read another letter recently received from J. W. Knaub, chief inspector of factories and workshops. The letter suggested that additional means of egress should be provided for the East End building, and also better fire protection. Attention was called in the same manner to the West End building. Additional stair room was asked for the Sixth street building.

The board decided to make the improvements as suggested by the inspector before the opening of the new school term, and will advertise for bids for the work soon.

Erected a Flag Pole.

Member Norris stated he and Doctor Williams had at last erected a flag staff at the Sheridan avenue building, and were given a vote of thanks by the board for their work. Other members wanted to know when a pole would be erected at the Central building, but no one could tell and the matter was dropped.

West End Addition.

Mr. Williams presented several plans for the new addition to the West End building. After careful consideration on part of the board the plans prepared by A. W. Scott, of this place, were accepted. Bids will be taken at once and the work will start as soon as possible.

Officer Burgess

wrote to Clerk Hill recently about the sanitary condition of the Sixth street building. The matter was referred to the committee in charge of that building to remedy it at once.

Repairing Fences.

Mr. Murphy broke a long silence by stating that the fence about the Third street building needed repairing badly and he had already taken steps to have the work done.

East Enders Kicking.

Mr. Smith, from the East End, said a few words about the fill in front of the East End building. This has been talked of before, and the matter was left in his hands to attend to.

Vacations.

Clerk Hill said he was going away next Thursday, and this little speech prompted President Vodrey to say: "Me, too! I will take a vacation for several weeks."

The meeting adjourned at 10:15, it being marked by the harmony which prevailed.

A COMEDY OF BLUNDERS.

It Taught One Man More About Horses Than He Knew Before.

This Cass avenue resident knows about as much of horses as he does of the technic of tiger hunting, but a few weeks ago he paid $200 for a $100 horse and since that has looked upon himself as an equine authority. Sunday afternoon he was in the bay window enjoying his morning paper and a cigar. Hearing a clickety-clickety, click on the asphalt, he looked out, glared, dropped his paper and eye-glasses and dashed out as though he were going to pull a fire alarm.

"Hi, there! Stop that team!" he shouted. "Halt!" And all the promenaders on the block obeyed, but the horse trotted along. "Ten dollars to the man who brings me that horse dead or alive!" whooped the citizen, now too much excited to be lucid. "That infernal liveryman has hired him out, and me paying the highest price for his keep. I'll show him! Ten dollars, dead or alive," in Richard III voice, "for that horse!"

A lusty bicyclist grasped the situation and two minutes later had caught the bit of the horse. The man in the buggy protested, swore and threatened, but the grinning wheelman trotted the whole outfit back to the excited citizen. "Unhitch him!" he shouted. "Somebody will pay big money for this! Call a patrol wagon. What's your name?" Then the citizen turned pale and gasped:

"Three white feet! My horse has but two, and he's smaller. My mistake, gentlemen and ladies," for there was a crowd now. "Beg pardon." And he started for the house.

But the man in the buggy jumped up and wanted to fight. The bicyclist demanded his $10, and the crowd jeered. A policeman came in time to referee. The wheelman got his $10, the real owner of the horse accepted a humble apology, and the liveryman raised the board the next day.—Detroit Free Press.

TRAPDOOR SPIDERS.

The Curious Nests That These Ingenious Insects Construct.

A curious species of insect is the trapdoor spider, whose nest consists of a tube excavated in the earth to the depth of six or eight inches. It is always lined with silk, and it is closed with an ingeniously constructed door. One sort of door closes into the nest like a cork in a bottle, another is as thin as a piece of paper.

In all cases the door opens outward, and when the nest is placed, as it usually is, on a sloping bank, it opens upward, so that there is no fear of its gaping. The object of the trapdoor is to conceal the nest, and consequently it is always made to resemble the general surface of the ground. Sometimes, however, an enemy attempts to open the door, and then the inmate braces its legs against the sides of the nest and holds it as fast as possible.

Still other spiders have inner doors besides outer, so that if their first defense be carried they may have another behind which to retreat. More curious still is the ingenuity of the branch trapdoor—that is to say, a door that opens from the main tunnel of the nest into a side branch, which the stranger could discover, since there is nothing to distinguish it from any other part of the main nest. So, then, if an enemy should effect an entrance the lawful occupant of the nest can quietly slip into the side branch, close the door and there remain in security while the intruder wonders what has become of her.—Our Animal Friends.

"I hope you are getting good results from the gymnastic exercises I recommended," said Mr. Pneed's medical adviser.

"Well, I'm not," replied Mr. Pneed. "They have ruined a good coat for me."

"Didn't you take your coat off?" "Certainly, but the exercise has enlarged my shoulders so I can't wear it any more. Coat was as good as new too!"—Chicago Tribune.

DYNAMITE AND POWDER EXPLODED

Stephen Mullen Almost Killed Yesterday Afternoon.

Medical Examination Proves Breast Bone to be Broken, Body Seriously Bruised and Sight of Left Eye Almost Gone—Lad Only Thirteen Years Old.

Stephen Mullen, the 13-year-old son of Mrs. William Mullen, a widow residing at 111 Ridgeway avenue, met with an accident yesterday afternoon while out California hollow that may cause his death. At a late hour this afternoon the boy's condition was considered critical although physicians had not given up hope.

Mullen, accompanied by Axel Lowrey and a boy named Hogan, went out California hollow on a short jaunt. When the boys had reached a place near the home of Sam Beal the boys decided to explode some powder and dynamite they had in their possession. The powder was in a half pound baking powder can, and the stick of dynamite measured about 4½ inches. Mullen placed the dynamite in the can containing the powder, and after throwing a match in it ran away. After waiting a short time Mullen went back to see why it did not explode, and was about to place another match in the can when the explosion occurred.

The noise was terrific, and the entire neighborhood was startled. Mullen's clothing was set on fire and Mrs. Beal ran from her house and threw a bucket of water on the boy to extinguish the flames. The other boys ran to the city, leaving their companion in a helpless condition. A farmer's wagon was procured and the injured boy taken to his home. Several physicians were summoned and upon examination found his entire body to be badly bruised, his breast caved in and his left eye so badly injured that it is probable he will lose the sight. The boy has been unconscious since the accident.

Young Mullen has met with numerous accidents during the year. He has been injured in the head, and two months ago received a fall which split his left foot open and severed two of the leaders. The accident of yesterday is the worst he has yet met.

At 3:15 o'clock this afternoon the injured boy had recovered sufficiently to fan himself. He will recover.

AMBROSTER AND RAMBO PLEADED

Guilty to Being In a Saloon on Sunday, but Scott Wanted a Hearing—He Got It and It Cost Him $6.15 Extra—Hugh Toland Arrested For Causing a Disturbance.

The Saturday night and Sunday offenders had hearings last evening before Mayor Bough, and as a result the police fund is much richer today.

John Hamilton, who desecrated the Sabbath by beating his wife, pleaded guilty to the charge and was given $29.60 for his sport.

George Brown acknowledged that he had been fighting and he was fined $7.60, in order that he might not forget the affair.

Avaury Rambo and Michael Ambroster didn't deny they had been in a saloon on Sunday and were each given $14.60. Ben Scott, who was with them when they were arrested, couldn't see it in the same way they did and he was given a hearing. Some four or five witnesses were examined, Ben was found guilty, and it cost him $20.75, or just $6.15 for his trial.

Sophia Hayden will be given a hearing this afternoon on a charge of keeping her saloon open on Sunday.

ONE ARREST.

Hugh Toland Was Arrested Last Evening.

Last evening Hugh Toland became gay and was raising a disturbance at the lower end of Fifth street. Officer McDonald was called to the scene and in a very short time Hughey was behind the bars at city hall. This morning Mayor Bough had a conference with Humane Agent Lloyd and it was decided to send him to the infirmary.

A Reporter's Mishap.

"A number of years ago," said a well known court official, "when United States Supreme Justice Brown was on the bench in this city, I was assigned as a member of the staff to interview the judge at his home out on Jefferson avenue. I recollect that as the servant ushered me into the hall I observed a lot of rugs scattered here and there and that as I stepped upon the clean spaces along the corridor I discovered that the floor was waxed to a magnificently slippery degree. I was forced to move with mingling caution far from graceful."

"Approaching the library door I saw a rug—a white bear skin, I believe, and resolved to make a leap over it. With a spring I vaulted, my foot landed on the rug, the rug slid away and down I went flat upon the floor. Meanwhile Judge Brown had arisen from his library table and, noticing my mishap, he began laughing. Reaching me, he helped me to my feet and remarked with assumed dignity:

"Look here, sir. Don't you know that in this age, this land and this house, such servile formality is not at all necessary?"

"And then I got my interview and found it an agreeable undertaking."—Detroit Free Press.

Stephen Mullen, the 13-year-old son of Mrs. William Mullen, a widow residing at 111 Ridgeway avenue, met with an accident yesterday afternoon while out California hollow that may cause his death. At a late hour this afternoon the boy's condition was considered critical although physicians had not given up hope.

Mullen, accompanied by Axel Lowrey and a boy named Hogan, went out California hollow on a short jaunt. When the boys had reached a place near the home of Sam Beal the boys decided to explode some powder and dynamite they had in their possession. The powder was in a half pound baking powder can, and the stick of dynamite measured about 4 1/2 inches. Mullen placed the dynamite in the can containing the powder, and after throwing a match in it ran away. After waiting a short time Mullen went back to see why it did not explode, and was about to place another match in the can when the explosion occurred.

The noise was terrific, and the entire neighborhood was startled. Mullen's clothing was set on fire and Mrs. Beal ran from her house and threw a bucket of water on the boy to extinguish the flames. The other boys ran to the city, leaving their companion in a helpless condition. A farmer's wagon was procured and the injured boy taken to his home. Several physicians were summoned and upon examination found his entire body to be badly bruised, his breast caved in and his left eye so badly injured that it is probable he will lose the sight. The boy has been unconscious since the accident.

Young Mullen has met with numerous accidents during the year. He has been injured in the head, and two months ago received a fall which split his left foot open and severed two of the leaders. The accident of yesterday is the worst he has yet met.

At 3:15 o'clock this afternoon the injured boy had recovered sufficiently to fan himself. He will recover.

Police Superintendent Muth, of Allegheny, Is Sure of His Capture.

Superintendent of Police Henry Muth, of Allegheny, announced last night that the John R. Davis, alias Boyd, alias Allen, arrested in Detroit, is beyond doubt the Charles E. It was shown to a number of his victims and they all identified the likeness.

The superintendent added: "Boyd or Allen has been convicted of swindling and will be sentenced tomorrow. I suppose he will get six months or a year in prison. This will allow the local victims of the sharper plenty of time to decide whether they desire him prosecuted in this county."

LISBON, July 25.—[Special].—Latest reports from Judge P. C. Young at Philadelphia, Pa., is that he is in much the same condition. A change of doctors has been made but the new doctor gives little additional encouragement.

The judge is suffering from uraemic poisoning. He has been ill for about one week, but on Saturday was thought to be much better. TRAINLOAD OF BRIDES.

Pennsylvania Soldiers Returning From Manila to Sweethearts.

WHOLESALE WEDDINGS PLANNED.

Men of the Tenth Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry to Fulfill Promises to San Francisco Girls They Met Last Summer—Pittsburg Planning a Great Reception For Them.

Brides by the trainload! A regiment of soldiers coming home with enough captives of Cupid in the ranks and among the officers to start an apartment hotel! A trip across the continent for a wedding trip and the biggest, most enthusiastic reception on arrival ever accorded any newly married couple! This is the fate of the Tenth Pennsylvania volunteer infantry, now somewhere on the Pacific, en route from Manila to Pittsburg, says the New York Herald.

Out in San Francisco many a maid is counting the days until the transport Senator comes up the bay. Many a man who has been scorched and tanned by a year's hard fighting is picturing to himself what will happen when the old steamer crawls into her dock and he tries to find a certain young person in the throng. An army paymaster and a minister will do the rest. Marriages in blocks of five and ten are scheduled to take place in San Francisco just as soon as the regiment reaches American soil again. Then, with their new wives, the war worn legions will continue the journey home.

By accident friends of the regiment have learned of the wholesale engagements. The brides were intended as surprises on arrival. Now, however, whole families have nerved themselves for the worst. If a dusky Filipino belle should step from the train, more than one bevy of relatives would be prepared to welcome her as an accession to the household. They will be spared this effort, however. None of the boys has had the temerity to wed any of Manila's fairest. They displayed their patriotism in sticking to American girls.

For five weeks last summer the Tenth regiment was camped on the outskirts of San Francisco. As a matter of fact, the city trooped out daily to see the eastern volunteers drill and to admire their soldierliness. The love of a pretty girl for blue uniforms and brass buttons is proverbial. San Francisco girls quickly formed friendships which drifted into betrothals.

Now, here is where the secretiveness of the average man is illustrated. Not one of these volunteers mentioned the girls when writing home. They told of camp life, of drills, never a word of sweethearts, but of a thousand and one other things. Perhaps it was just as well. There were girls at home. But the vanguard of the Benedicts has arrived. Its members bring stories of wholesale weddings that have induced many fathers to figure on the cost of a coast excursion. When Private John D. Fenton, a discharged member of the Tenth, arrived in Pittsburg recently with his San Francisco bride, he gave away the whole secret.

Private Fenton lay ill for many weeks at Manila with typhoid fever. Upon his recovery he got his discharge and transportation home. He stopped at San Francisco long enough to fulfill a certain promise he had made to Miss Flora Weiner, a pretty girl who had carried him delicacies while the regiment waited for a transport a year before. They were married by a Baptist clergyman and the same evening started for Pittsburg. An old fashioned reception was tendered them at Mr. Fenton's home at United, a little town in the Connellsville coke region. Some one expressed surprise at the suddenness of the marriage. Then Fenton laughed.

"Just wait," he said. "I'm only the beginning. The Tenth boys are going to get married in bunches. Why, I know nine from my company that are engaged to San Francisco girls. I couldn't begin to tell how many are in the regiment. I know of three officers who have swell weddings scheduled."

"How did it happen? Very naturally. The girls came down to camp every day while we were at Frisco and brought us all kinds of good things. They say the best way to get at a man's heart is through his stomach. That must be right, for a good many hearts were reached that way. The boys that tried to draw their pay in advance to buy engagement rings would have filled a battalion. They're all pretty girls—just gaze at my wife, please—and we couldn't help it."

Pittsburg is going to give the Tenth a reception unsurpassed in history. The wives will get a generous share of this. A reception committee composed of mothers, sisters and wives of the men who were already married is being formed for the purpose of properly welcoming the brides. Special cars for them will probably be provided on the Tenth special, which is to cross the continent illuminated with electric lights, flags and bunting.

Colonel A. L. Hawkins and his staff have promised to witness two of the marriages of officers with western girls. One is to wed a native of Los Angeles and the other a San Franciscan. The idea of a "quick ceremony" for the rank and file is furthered by the fact that the men will receive a voluminous pay envelope by their muster out at San Francisco.

Origin of the Banjo.

Over half a century ago, in the town of Banjoemas, on the island of Java, a negro native of the place, desiring an instrument to accompany his voice, conceived the following plan: Taking a cheese box and crossing it with goat or sheep skin, he ran a handle through it; then, using violin strings, which were tuned to the first, third, fifth and eighth notes of an octave, he gave it the name of "banjo," from the first two syllables in the name of his native town.

No banjo of this time is known to be in existence, but from descriptions handed down they must have been very rude instruments. As the years passed improvements were made. Throughout the southern states banjos became as plentiful as pickaninies, and negroes might be found on any plantation who could "make the banjo talk."

In a clever performer's hands the banjo seems capable of doing everything—bells chime, waters ripple, winds blow, birds sing and many other pleasant ideas are evoked—but it will never do for romance. Its very name is against it. Whether from association or not, we cannot connect romance and the banjo.—Washington Star.

Traveling in Alaska.

I have seen many pictures of the manner in which the Eskimos travel, and the man is generally seated comfortably on the sled cracking a whip, and the dogs are going at a smart gallop. But we soon found that picture to be a delusion and a snare.

Journeying in the arctic regions consists mostly in pushing behind the sled, for the poor little animals frequently have to be helped over the rough places and in going up hill or any rise in the ground. Where there is no beaten trail—as was the case most of the distance we traveled—the dogs have nothing to guide them, and one man is obliged to run ahead. He generally runs some distance and then walks until the head team comes up with him, when he runs on again.

When the snow is hard and the road level, the dogs, with an average load, will maintain a trot which is too fast for a man to walk and not so fast as he can run. By alternately running and walking one does not become greatly fatigued. Natives who travel from village to village are so accustomed to this mode of travel that they can keep it up all day without showing signs of fatigue.—Harper's Magazine.

A Clever Little Dog.

A curious illustration of canine intelligence—and its limitations—was observed by a writer in The Outlook a few days ago. Passing down a street he saw a fine Airedale terrier lying down and with both forepaws and muzzled nose scrubbing the surface of an iron grating with a bone, as if to bring it to a high state of polish. The owner saw and explained. The grating is just over a cellar in which the terrier sleeps. His muzzle prevents him from attacking bones to advantage by day, so he brings the bones of his finding to the grating, hoping to push them through and gnaw luxuriously when unmuzzled at night. But the little chap had but the vaguest ideas of the size limits of the grating, and, as the ordinary sizes of bones go, he must have had at least two failures to every success. Yet, with real terrier ingenuity, he turned even his failure to account, for after vigorously trying every hole in the grating he would quietly stop, lick the entire grating clean of the grease and meat juice rubbed off the bone, then rub off another layer and repeat the licking.

A Little Bit of Salt.

Every child needs a little bit of salt, and in almost every food it is well to put some, not only for the taste, but for its value in digesting the food. It is a notable fact that all animals welcome salt occasionally, and, like human beings, pine when there is a lack of it. In Holland, some generations ago, it is said to have been the custom to punish criminals by allowing no food but bread without salt. The consequence was the blood became depraved, they became infested with worms and died miserably. Blood contains a large percentage of salt, and no one can be healthy without it. An experienced physician has stated that if a strong solution of salt and water be injected into the veins of a person dying with cholera the patient will be roused from his stupor, and occasionally it has led to recovery.—Ledger Monthly.

Lipton's Oversight.

Sir Thomas Lipton says that for his coat of arms he has devised a crest having two horny hands of labor, one grasping a tea plant flower and the other a coffee blossom. So far, so good. But Sir Thomas ought to manage to show one of those horny hands reaching for the America's cup.—Boston Advertiser.

FINE JOB WORK. The News rooms are the best equipped in eastern Ohio, and we are consequently able to turn out large quantities of work on short notice.

UNION LABELS.

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others?

The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent working hours, and union labor employed.

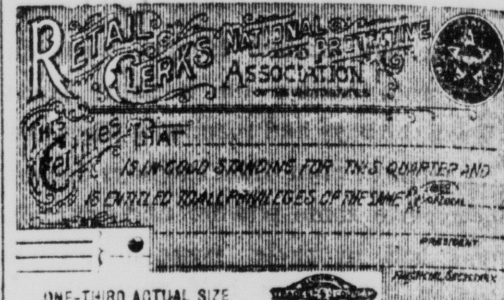

UNION PAPERS.

All Union papers of East Liverpool are known to the various craft and unions of the city by the printing of the above Union Labels at the head of their columns.

PATRONIZE UNION CLERKS.

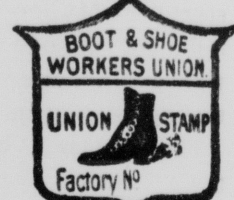

All members of the R. C. N. P. A. can show this card Ask for it when making your purchase. Endorsed by the A. F. of L.

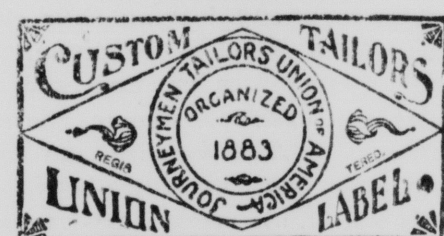

COLOR IS CHANGED EACH QUARTED.

UNION MADE BOOTS AND SHOES.

The Boot and Shoe Workers' union is the national head of the trade, and is a new combination of all the branches of boot and shoe workers. The above trade-mark when found on the sole or lining of a boot or shoe, is a guarantee that the same is made by union labor. Look for the above design stamped on the sole of every pair of boots or shoes you buy.

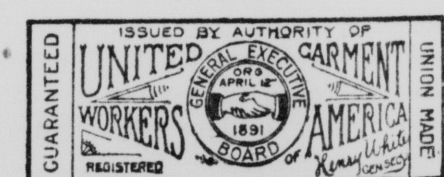

CUSTOM TAILORS' LABEL.

The Journeymen Tailor's Label is to be found in the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the under side of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants. It is printed in black ink on white linen.

UNION MADE CLOTHES.

You will find the linen label attached by machine stitching to the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the inside of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants.

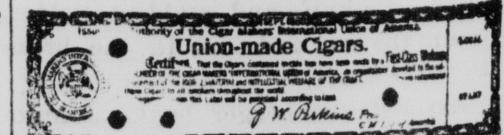

BICYCLE LABEL.

"Do unto others as ye would that others should do unto you." You will endorse the "Golden Rule" by buying and riding bicycles bearing this label. The colors are as follows: The Union shield is in red, white and blue, on a background of pea green, bordered by gold.

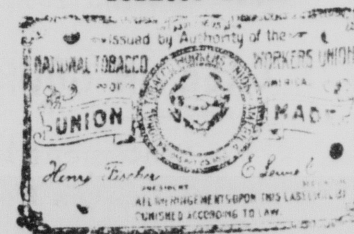

The label will be placed on the upper front side of the tube that receives the seat post.

BLUE LABEL CIGARS.

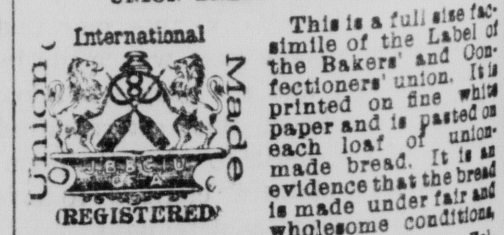

This label is printed in black ink on light blue paper, and is pasted on the cigar box. Do not mix it up with the U. S. revenue label on the box, as the latter is nearly of a similar color.

TOBACCO LABEL.

UNION BREAD AND CRACKERS.

This is a full size facsimile of the label of the Bakers' and Confectioners' union. It is printed on fine white paper and is pasted on each loaf of union-made bread. It is evidence that the bread is made under fair and wholesome conditions.

TRAINLOAD OF BRIDES.

Pennsylvania Soldiers Returning From Manila to Sweethearts.

WHOLESALE WEDDINGS PLANNED.

Men of the Tenth Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry to Fulfill Promises to San Francisco Girls They Met Last Summer—Pittsburg Planning a Great Reception For Them.

Brides by the trainload! A regiment of soldiers coming home with enough captives of Cupid in the ranks and among the officers to start an apartment hotel! A trip across the continent for a wedding trip and the biggest, most enthusiastic reception on arrival ever accorded any newly married couple! This is the fate of the Tenth Pennsylvania volunteer infantry, now somewhere on the Pacific, en route from Manila to Pittsburg, says the New York Herald.

Out in San Francisco many a maid is counting the days until the transport Senator comes up the bay. Many a man who has been scorched and tanned by a year's hard fighting is picturing to himself what will happen when the old steamer crawls into her dock and he tries to find a certain young person in the throng. An army paymaster and a minister will do the rest. Marriages in blocks of five and ten are scheduled to take place in San Francisco just as soon as the regiment reaches American soil again. Then, with their new wives, the war won't continue the journey home.

By accident friends of the regiment have learned of the wholesale engagements. The brides were intended as surprises on arrival. Now, however, whole families have nerved themselves for the worst. If a dusky Filipino belle should step from the train, more than one bevy of relatives would be prepared to welcome her as an accession to the household. They will be spared this effort, however. None of the boys has had the temerity to wed any of Manila's fairest. They displayed their patriotism in sticking to American girls.

For five weeks last summer the Tenth regiment was camped on the outskirts of San Francisco. As a matter of fact, the city trooped out daily to see the eastern volunteers drill and to admire their soldierliness. The love of a pretty girl for blue uniforms and brass buttons is proverbial. San Francisco girls quickly formed friendships which drifted into betrothals.

Now, here is where the secretiveness of the average man is illustrated. Not one of these volunteers mentioned the girls when writing home. They told of camp life, of drills, never a word of sweethearts, but of a thousand and one other things. Perhaps it was just as well. There were girls at home. But the vanguard of the Benedicts has arrived. Its members bring stories of wholesale weddings that have induced many fathers to figure on the cost of a coast excursion. When Private John D. Fenton, a discharged member of the Tenth, arrived in Pittsburg recently with his San Francisco bride, he gave away the whole secret.

Private Fenton lay ill for many weeks at Manila with typhoid fever. Upon his recovery he got his discharge and transportation home. He stopped at San Francisco long enough to fulfill a certain promise he had made to Miss Flora Weiner, a pretty girl who had carried him delicacies while the regiment waited for a transport a year before. They were married by a Baptist clergyman and the same evening started for Pittsburg. An old fashioned reception was tendered them at Mr. Fenton's home at United, a little town in the Connellsville coke region. Some one expressed surprise at the suddenness of the marriage. Then Fenton laughed.

"Just wait," he said. "I'm only the beginning. The Tenth boys are going to get married in bunches. Why, I know nine from my company that are engaged to San Francisco girls. I couldn't begin to tell how many are in the regiment. I know of three officers who have swell weddings scheduled. "How did it happen? Very naturally. The girls came down to camp every day while we were at Frisco and brought us all kinds of good things. They say the best way to get at a man's heart is through his stomach. That must be right, for a good many hearts were reached that way. The boys that tried to draw their pay in advance to buy engagement rings would have filled a battalion. They're all pretty girls—just gaze at my wife, please—and we couldn't help it."

Pittsburg is going to give the Tenth a reception unsurpassed in history. The wives will get a generous share of this. A reception committee composed of mothers, sisters and wives of the men who were already married is being formed for the purpose of properly welcoming the brides. Special cars for them will probably be provided on the Tenth special, which is to cross the continent illuminated with electric lights, flags and bunting.

Colonel A. L. Hawkins and his staff have promised to witness two of the

marriages of officers with western girls. One is to wed a native of Los Angeles and the other a San Franciscan. The idea of a "quick ceremony" for the rank and file is furthered by the fact that the men will receive a voluminous pay envelope by their muster out at San Francisco.

Origin of the Banjo.

Over half a century ago, in the town of Banjoemas, on the island of Java, a negro native of the place, desiring an instrument to accompany his voice, conceived the following plan: Taking a cheese box and crossing it with goat or sheep skin, he ran a handle through it; then, using violin strings, which were tuned to the first, third, fifth and eighth notes of an octave, he gave it the name of "banjo," from the first two syllables in the name of his native town.

No banjo of this time is known to be in existence, but from descriptions handed down they must have been very rude instruments. As the years passed improvements were made. Throughout the southern states banjos became as plentiful as pickaninies, and negroes might be found on any plantation who could "make the banjo talk."

In a clever performer's hands the banjo seems capable of doing everything—bells chime, waters ripple, winds blow, birds sing and many other pleasant ideas are evoked—but it will never do for romance. Its very name is against it. Whether from association or not, we cannot connect romance and the banjo.—Washington Star.

Traveling in Alaska.

I have seen many pictures of the manner in which the Eskimos travel, and the man is generally seated comfortably on the sled cracking a whip, and the dogs are going at a smart gallop. But we soon found that picture to be a delusion and a snare.

Journeying in the arctic regions consists mostly in pushing behind the sled, for the poor little animals frequently have to be helped over the rough places and in going up hill or any rise in the ground. Where there is no beaten trail—as was the case most of the distance we traveled—the dogs have nothing to guide them, and one man is obliged to run ahead. He generally runs some distance and then walks until the head team comes up with him, when he runs on again.

When the snow is hard and the road level, the dogs, with an average load, will maintain a trot which is too fast for a man to walk and not so fast as he can run. By alternately running and walking one does not become greatly fatigued. Natives who travel from village to village are so accustomed to this mode of travel that they can keep it up all day without showing signs of fatigue.—Harper's Magazine.

A Clever Little Dog.

A curious illustration of canine intelligence—and its limitations—was observed by a writer in The Outlook a few days ago. Passing down a street he saw a fine Airedale terrier lying down and with both forepaws and muzzled nose scrubbing the surface of an iron grating with a bone, as if to bring it to a high state of polish. The owner saw and explained. The grating is just over a cellar in which the terrier sleeps. His muzzle prevents him from attacking bones to advantage by day, so he brings the bones of his finding to the grating, hoping to push them through and gnaw luxuriously when unmuzzled at night. But the little chap had but the vaguest ideas of the size limits of the grating, and, as the ordinary sizes of bones go, he must have had at least two failures to every success. Yet, with real terrier ingenuity, he turned even his failure to account, for after vigorously trying every hole in the grating he would quietly stop, lick the entire grating clean of the grease and meat juice rubbed off the bone, then rub off another layer and repeat the licking.

A Little Bit of Salt.

Every child needs a little bit of salt, and in almost every food it is well to put some, not only for the taste, but for its value in digesting the food. It is a notable fact that all animals welcome salt occasionally, and, like human beings, pine when there is a lack of it. In Holland, some generations ago, it is said to have been the custom to punish criminals by allowing no food but bread without salt. The consequence was the blood became depraved, they became infested with worms and died miserably. Blood contains a large percentage of salt, and no one can be healthy without it. An experienced physician has stated that if a strong solution of salt and water be injected into the veins of a person dying with cholera the patient will be roused from his stupor, and occasionally it has led to recovery.—Ledge Monthly.

Lipton's Oversight.

Sir Thomas Lipton says that for his coat of arms he has devised a crest having two horny hands of labor, one grasping a tea plant flower and the other a coffee blossom. So far, so good. But Sir Thomas ought to manage to show one of those horny hands reaching for the America's cup.—Boston Advertiser.

FOUR KILLED, ONE MISSING.

Deadly Explosion in a Mine Near Brownsville, Pa.—Search For Missing Man.

BROWNVILLE, Pa., July 25.—Soon after the men had commenced going into the mine of the Redston Coal, Oil and Coke company, near Grindstone, an explosion occurred by which four men are known to have lost their lives and two are so badly burned that they were sent to a cottage hospital at Connellsville and a number less seriously. The dead were: John Yankora, aged 17, mother in Cleveland.

Stephen Skleander, aged 40, unmarried.

Joseph Lucas, aged 38, wife and two children in old country.

George Larvan Hutnick, aged 36, wife and two children across the sea.

John Yankora was making his first trip into a mine when he was killed.

Mike Mehslek had not been accounted for and a new rescue party was organized to go in search of the body.

UNION LABELS.

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others?

The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent working hours and union labor employed.

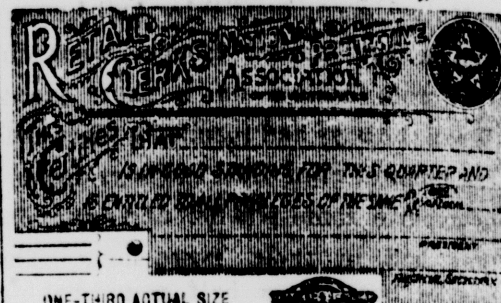

UNION PAPERS.

Look for the above design stamped on the sole of every pair of boots or shoes you buy.

CUSTOM TAILORS' LABEL.

The Journeymen Tailor's Label is to be found in the inside breast pocket of the coat on the under side of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants. It is printed in black ink on white linen.

The label will be placed on the upper front side of the tube that receives the seat post.

BLUE LABEL CIGARS.

This label is printed in black ink on light blue paper, and is pasted on the cigar-box. Don't mix it up with the U. S. revenue label on the box, as the latter is nearly of a similar color.

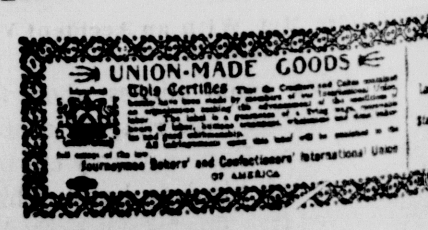

TOBACCO LABEL.

UNION BREAD AND CRACKERS.

This is a full size facsimile of the Label of the Bakers' and Confectioners' union. It is printed on fine white paper and is pasted on each loaf of union made bread. It is evidence that the bread is made under fair and wholesome conditions, and in clean and healthy bakeries. Following is the confectioners' and crackers Label:

TRAINLOAD OF BRIDES.

Pennsylvania Soldiers Returning From Manila to Sweethearts.

WHOLESALE WEDDINGS PLANNED.

Men of the Tenth Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry to Fulfill Promises to San Francisco Girls They Met Last Summer—Pittsburg Planning a Great Reception for Them.

Brides by the trainload! A regiment of soldiers coming home with enough captives of Cupid in the ranks and among the officers to start an apartment hotel! A trip across the continent for a wedding trip and the biggest, most enthusiastic reception on arrival ever accorded any newly married couple! This is the fate of the Tenth Pennsylvania volunteer infantry, now somewhere on the Pacific, en route from Manila to Pittsburg, says the New York Herald.

Out in San Francisco many a maid is counting the days until the transport Senator comes up the bay. Many a man who has been scorched and tanned by a year's hard fighting is picturing to himself what will happen when the old steamer crawls into her dock and he tries to find a certain young person in the throng. An army paymaster and a minister will do the rest. Marriages in blocks of five and ten are scheduled to take place in San Francisco just as soon as the regiment reaches American soil again. Then, with their new wives, the war worn legions will continue the journey home.

By accident friends of the regiment have learned of the wholesale engagements. The brides were intended as surprises on arrival. Now, however, whole families have nerved themselves for the worst. If a dusky Filipino belle should step from the train, more than one bevy of relatives would be prepared to welcome her as an accession to the household. They will be spared this effort, however. None of the boys has had the temerity to wed any of Manila's fairest. They displayed their patriotism in sticking to American girls.

For five weeks last summer the Tenth regiment was camped on the outskirts of San Francisco. As a matter of fact, the city trooped out daily to see the eastern volunteers drill and to admire their soldierliness. The love of a pretty girl for blue uniforms and brass buttons is proverbial. San Francisco girls quickly formed friendships which drifted into betrothals.

Now, here is where the secretiveness of the average man is illustrated. Not one of these volunteers mentioned the girls when writing home. They told of camp life, of drills, never a word of sweethearts, but of a thousand and one other things. Perhaps it was just as well. There were girls at home. But the vanguard of the Benedicts has arrived. Its members bring stories of wholesale weddings that have induced many fathers to figure on the cost of a coast excursion. When Private John D. Fenton, a discharged member of the Tenth, arrived in Pittsburg recently with his San Francisco bride, he gave away the whole secret.

Private Fenton lay ill for many weeks at Manila with typhoid fever. Upon his recovery he got his discharge and transportation home. He stopped at San Francisco long enough to fulfill a certain promise he had made to Miss Flora Weiner, a pretty girl who had carried him delicacies while the regiment waited for a transport a year before. They were married by a Baptist clergyman and the same evening started for Pittsburg. An old fashioned reception was tendered them at Mr. Fenton's home at United, a little town in the Connellsville coke region. Some one expressed surprise at the suddenness of the marriage. Then Fenton laughed.

"Just wait," he said. "I'm only the beginning. The Tenth boys are going to get married in bunches. Why, I know nine from my company that are engaged to San Francisco girls. I couldn't begin to tell how many are in the regiment. I know of three officers who have swell weddings scheduled."

"How did it happen? Very naturally. The girls came down to camp every day while we were at Frisco and brought us all kinds of good things. They say the best way to get at a man's heart is through his stomach. That must be right, for a good many hearts were reached that way. The boys that tried to draw their pay in advance to buy engagement rings would have filled a battalion. They're all pretty girls—just gaze at my wife, please—and we couldn't help it."

Pittsburg is going to give the Tenth a reception unsurpassed in history. The wives will get a generous share of this. A reception committee composed of mothers, sisters and wives of the men who were already married is being formed for the purpose of properly welcoming the brides. Special cars for them will probably be provided on the Tenth special, which is to cross the continent illuminated with electric lights, flags and bunting.

marriages of officers with western girls. One is to wed a native of Los Angeles and the other a San Franciscan. The idea of a "quick ceremony" for the rank and file is furthered by the fact that the men will receive a voluminous pay envelope by their muster out at San Francisco.

Origin of the Banjo.

Over half a century ago, in the town of Banjoemas, on the island of Java, a negro native of the place, desiring an instrument to accompany his voice, conceived the following plan: Taking a cheese box and crossing it with goat or sheep skin, he ran a handle through it; then, using violin strings, which were tuned to the first, third, fifth and eighth notes of an octave, he gave it the name of "banjo," from the first two syllables in the name of his native town.

No banjo of this time is known to be in existence, but from descriptions handed down they must have been very rude instruments. As the years passed improvements were made. Throughout the southern states banjos became as plentiful as pickaninies, and negroes might be found on any plantation who could "make the banjo talk."

In a clever performer's hands the banjo seems capable of doing everything—bells chime, waters ripple, winds blow, birds sing and many other pleasant ideas are evoked—but it will never do for romance. Its very name is against it. Whether from association or not, we cannot connect romance and the banjo.—Washington Star.

Traveling in Alaska.

I have seen many pictures of the manner in which the Eskimos travel, and the man is generally seated comfortably on the sled cracking a whip, and the dogs are going at a smart gallop. But we soon found that picture to be a delusion and a snare.

Journeying in the arctic regions consists mostly in pushing behind the sled, for the poor little animals frequently have to be helped over the rough places and in going up hill or any rise in the ground. Where there is no beaten trail—as was the case most of the distance we traveled—the dogs have nothing to guide them, and one man is obliged to run ahead. He generally runs some distance and then walks until the head team comes up with him, when he runs on again.

When the snow is hard and the road level, the dogs, with an average load, will maintain a trot which is too fast for a man to walk and not so fast as he can run. By alternately running and walking one does not become greatly fatigued. Natives who travel from village to village are so accustomed to this mode of travel that they can keep it up all day without showing signs of fatigue.—Harper's Magazine.

A Clever Little Dog.

A curious illustration of canine intelligence—and its limitations—was observed by a writer in The Outlook a few days ago. Passing down a street he saw a fine Airedale terrier lying down and with both forepaws and muzzled nose scrubbing the surface of an iron grating with a bone, as if to bring it to a high state of polish. The owner saw and explained. The grating is just over a cellar in which the terrier sleeps. His muzzle prevents him from attacking bones to advantage by day, so he brings the bones of his finding to the grating, hoping to push them through and gnaw luxuriously when unmuzzled at night. But the little chap had but the vaguest ideas of the size limits of the grating, and, as the ordinary sizes of bones go, he must have had at least two failures to every success. Yet, with real terrier ingenuity, he turned even his failure to account, for after vigorously trying every hole in the grating he would quietly stop, lick the entire grating clean of the grease and meat juice rubbed off the bone, then rub off another layer and repeat the licking.

A Little Bit of Salt.

Every child needs a little bit of salt, and in almost every food it is well to put some, not only for the taste, but for its value in digesting the food. It is a notable fact that all animals welcome salt occasionally, and, like human beings, pine when there is a lack of it. In Holland, some generations ago, it is said to have been the custom to punish criminals by allowing no food but bread without salt. The consequence was the blood became depraved, they became infested with worms and died miserably. Blood contains a large percentage of salt, and no one can be healthy without it. An experienced physician has stated that if a strong solution of salt and water be injected into the veins of a person dying with cholera the patient will be roused from his stupor, and occasionally it has led to recovery.—Ledger Monthly.

Lipton's Oversight.

Sir Thomas Lipton says that for his coat of arms he has devised a crest having two horny hands of labor, one grasping a tea plant flower and the other a coffee blossom. So far, so good. But Sir Thomas ought to manage to show one of those horny hands reaching for the America's cup.—Boston Advertiser.

FOUR KILLED, ONE MISSING.

Deadly Explosion in a Mine Near Brownsville, Pa.—Search for Missing Man.

BROWNVILLE, Pa., July 25.—Soon after the men had commenced going into the mine of the Redston Coal, Oil and Coke company, near Grindstone, an explosion occurred by which four men are known to have lost their lives and two are so badly burned that they were sent to a Cottage hospital at Connellsville and a number less seriously. The dead were:

John Yankora, aged 17, mother in Cleveland.

Stephen Skleander, aged 40, unmarried.

Joseph Lucas, aged 38, wife and two children in old country.

George Lavan Hutnick, aged 36, wife and two children across the sea.

John Yankora was making his first trip into a mine when he was killed. Mike Mehslek had not been accounted for and a new rescue party was organized to go in search of the body.

BRICE SYNDICATE PARTY

Story of Their March Through the Heart of China.

TWO MANDARINS WITH THEM.

At All Provincial Capitals Governors Received Them by Orders From Viceroy—An Official Chinese Dinner—Few Stones Were Thrown In Hunan, but Viceroy Kept Down the Natives.

The formal taking possession of the route of the Yuehnan railway in China by the official party representing the Brice syndicate is the story of conquerors entering a vanquished country.

The party marched 1,400 miles, attended on the 750 miles which covered the conceded right of way by 100 Chinese soldiers and where the route lay near to navigable rivers by two Chinese gunboats. In the party were two Chinese mandarins, ostensibly representing the Chinese imperial railway department. At all the provincial capitals native governors received the party by orders from the various viceroys. The party was in charge of Civil Engineer William Barclay Parsons, who, with Executive Committeeman F. W. Whitridge, has just returned from Washington, where, through Secretary of State Hay, they "invoked the moral support of the United States government" in aid of the enterprise.

There were in the surveying party B. C. Hunt, civil engineer; E. C. Coulter, an engineer of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway; Civil Engineer H. B. Magee, Charles Denby, Jr., son of ex-Chinese Minister Denby, now one of President McKinley's Philippine peace commissioners; William S. K. Wetmore, son of United States Senator Wetmore of Rhode Island; W. Kirkpatrick Brice, son of the late Senator Brice of Ohio; Dr. Jellison, an American missionary doctor of Nankin; Captain W. W. Rich, an American official of the Chinese imperial railway department, and Mandarins Woo and Lo, who are graduates of the Troy Polytechnic institute.

Besides the Chinese troops and the crews of the gunboats, they had 50 coolie servants and carriers. The principals of the party entered the empire at Shanghai, penetrating the interior in a westerly direction 650 miles to Hankow, which will be the northern station of the American syndicate road and the southern station of the Belgian road from Peking.

At Hankow the work of the expedition began. The governor kowtowed and drank the health of the party, furnished it an armed escort and dispatched couriers to bespeak polite receptions along the line of survey. The route lay almost due south from Hankow, through the three central states of the empire, and most of the way the survey ran near one of four rivers, to which the surveyors returned at night to their two houseboats, the Mary Ann and the Daisy.

The natives followed the "foreign devils" in hundreds. Young Brice, who was the only blond in the party and the first fair haired youth the Chinese ever had seen, was unanimously declared to be the "chief devil" of all. The first trouble occurred on last Christmas day, when the Americans at their holiday dinner were hemmed in by a mob of hungry coolies. They had to be placated with gifts of food and trinkets. This was on the border of Hunan province, at Ping Shin Pu. On that day Mr. Parsons found a pass into the valley of the Siang river and named it Christmas pass. Officers have long met there warned the expedition not to penetrate farther into Hunan. But Mr. Parsons knew the character of the official warnings sent in advance by the viceroys and he pushed on. At the first stopping place, Siang Yin, there was an official Chinese dinner of shark fins, pigeon eggs, wood fungus, lotus seeds, snails, mussels and bamboo shoots.

At Tung Kuang the coolie natives received the Americans with hoots and howls, which presently developed into a rush and an assault with stones. Mr. Parsons was hit, but not much hurt. The troops surrounded the Americans and forced a way to the boats, which were within range of the gunboats. At the capital of Hunan, a city of 600,000 called Chang Sha, the governor received the party reluctantly, but under orders gave them a safe passage. From the Siang the party turned into the country of the Lei river. At Yung Hsing, on the Lei, the houseboats were abandoned and the carriers were loaded with supplies to follow the party on foot. For two days all the carriers save those loaded with beef extract and champagne got lost, and six meals were made on those strengthening and invigorating articles of diet.

The famous Che Ling pass had been an intermediate goal, and at last, 500 miles out of Hankow, it was reached. This pass divides the provinces of Hunan and Kwang Tung and is reached by a fine roadway thousands of years old. The party traveled by a branch of the Pei river to the valley, where at Ping Sze boats were taken for the remainder of the distance, 220 miles, to Canton: 1,400 miles had been traveled, 750 of which had been walked. Besides the rich industrial districts traversed, coalfields and other mineral districts had been discovered.

This is the Yuehnan railway, for which the projectors have asked government protection. When Executive Committeeman Whitridge was asked recently by a New York World reporter what kind of protection the syndicate desired, he answered, "We have asked no more than is asked on behalf of our missionaries."

He Refused a 25 Cent Cigar.

Some one tells a good cigar story on the late Dick Oglesby which runs something like this: It was during the Cleveland-Blaine campaign, and Mr. Oglesby was making his first visit of any length in New York. For the first time Delmonico's attracted his attention.

"What kind of a place is that?" he asked.

"Come in and see," responded his companion. Uncle Dick went in, and the friend ordered a luncheon, on which the two dined right royally. Luncheon finished, he asked the governor to "join him" in a smoke. The clerk at the cigar counter handed out some fine Havanas. Uncle Dick was in the act of taking one when suddenly he drew back and said:

"What's the price of these?"

"Twenty-five cents," said the clerk.

"Holy smoke!" exclaimed Uncle Dick. "Put 'em back; put 'em back, quick!"

"But, governor, this is my treat," argued the friend.

"Daren't do it; daren't do it! Put 'em back!"

"But, governor—"

"See here, young man," returned Uncle Dick, "I daren't do it. Why, man alive, if they ever found out in Illinois that I smoked 25 cent cigars, whether I paid for 'em or not, they'd turn me out of the church, and it would ruin me politically forever. No, sir. Five cent cigars at home and 10 centers in New York are good enough for me."—Chicago Chronicle.

Ice Water Versus Hot Water.

The drinking of ice water is pronounced by scientists to amount to a real crime, and Dr. Brubaker has declared this question one of the utmost interest in typhoid fever. He says that if all water should be boiled and filtered there would never be a case of typhoid.

The temperature of the stomach at the moment the ice water enters it is about 105 degrees; the water is 32 degrees. The chilling of and contracting of blood vessels is therefore great, and to the ice water is ascribed the catarrhal condition of the stomach so often suffered from. Dr. Brubaker says water should not be taken with a meal to any great extent, but that hot water taken before breakfast prepares the stomach for action, stimulating the gastric juices and washing away the remains of the last meal. Another glass of hot water taken between breakfast and luncheon will be found beneficial and better than all drugs for curing indigestion, since in passing into the blood the food products are carried along with it. Exercise, too, is necessary to help on the action of the stomach.

A Millionaire Jockey.

Ancient Rome had its racing and its popular and well paid jockeys. Betting ran high, and the excitement of the people over the races and their favorite color frequently led to bloodshed. Caligula—he who made a consul of his horse—passed most of his time rioting with the charioteers.

The circus was the place for the racing. The largest of them, the Circus Maximus, about 21,000 feet long, could accommodate 480,000 spectators. Seven times was it necessary to race round the spina, a low stone wall running down the center of the circus. The jockeys drove in a light chariot—usually four in each race—and wore close fitting tunics and leather cape of distinguishing colors.

That the profession was a paying one we learn from ancient writers, money prizes and wages being paid. The jockey Crescens, at the age of 23, had amassed a fortune, and Diocles, king of jockeys, left to his son more than $1,000,000.—San Francisco Argonaut.

A Mean Subterfuge.

Sharp Dame—I must frankly tell you, Mr. Ginx, that my consent to your marrying my daughter has been wrung from me under protest.

Mr. Ginx—Eh? Protest?

Sharp Dame—Yes, sir. I knew that if I did not consent she would disgrace the family by an elopement. When she wants anything, we all have to give in to her or take the consequences, and long experience has taught me that I might as well try to fan off a cyclone as reason with her when she gets angry, especially if there is a flirtation or a rolling pin handy, and so I just give up at once. Has the wedding day been fixed on yet, Mr. Ginx?

Mr. Ginx—Um—er—not yet, and, in fact, madam, I'm—I'm a little afraid I can't afford to marry. Goo-good day—Exchange.

CARING FOR THE SOLDIERS.

Experiences of an Army Nurse in the Philippines.

Marjorie Henshaw, one of the army nurses in the Philippines, has written a letter to a friend in Washington, under date of Manila, April 26, which is, in part, as follows, says the Washington Star:

"The rush has been simply continuous since our arrival, and until the coming of the Sheridan with Miss Gladwin there was no let up whatever in the work of supervising the nurses at the hospitals, housekeeping of nurses' home, dispensing Red Cross supplies and answering emergency calls to officers' wives sick in their homes. It has been go, go from early morning till late at night, with many a night call besides. The nurses were needed, every one, in the hospitals from 7:30 a. m. till 6 p. m., thus leaving no one available for all outside and extra work but myself. In addition officials had to be interviewed on all occasions.

"I did not call for more nurses because the Sheridan had not yet arrived. Colonel Woodhull was expected in Manila every day and a reorganization in the hospitals a result of his advent. Despite every difficulty, I am glad to say we are doing a work that each member of an auxiliary will feel proud of and will compensate for the effort and expense. To begin with, on the Grant 552 cases were cared for by the nurses during the trip, together with a like number on the other transports. In Manila we began work in the hospitals on arrival. In the large general hospital auxiliary nurses are in the surgical wards, receiving the wounded from the 'firing line,' and one has charge of the officers' ward (27 beds) at same. In the 'second reserve' excellent service is being rendered in caring for typhoid and chronic cases. I have free rein to go through the hospitals and dispense the good things provided by auxiliaries (where they are needed), thus covering a very large field and enjoying a happy and satisfactory relationship with surgeons in charge of hospitals.

"Useless to report, since we left New York (or, in fact, before leaving the harbor) to this moment our supplies have proved incalculable. The patients enjoy a sufficiency of ice and every special delicacy that can be made or procured through our funds. It is right hard work, and while Manila in many ways might be an ideal place to live in it is a very hard place to work in."

THE PARIS EXPOSITION.

Some New Features Which Will Be Seen There.

Some interesting features about the Paris exposition of 1900 were announced recently by the United States commission to the fair.

The navy department is to exhibit models of the battleship Maine, Dewey's flagship Olympia and the Oregon. A number of American plays will be produced in Paris while the fair is in progress, among them "Zaza," with Mrs. Leslie Carter in the title role. The American Federation of Labor is to have an exhibit of the history, modes of organization and aims and work of American trades unions. American athletics will not be without representation, as the University of Pennsylvania will enter an athletic team in the Olympian games.

Among the novelties of the exposition, according to the New York Times, is to be a building 400 feet high, which will spin around like a top at the rate of three miles an hour. The building will have 23 stories, each one given over to some attraction. The big wheel of the exposition has been completed. It is to contain a series of wheels within wheels, various cafes and restaurants and a dance hall. R. E. Sherman of Chicago will exhibit a gigantic umbrella, over 350 feet high, which he has invented. On each rib of the structure will be suspended a car, which will convey passengers from the ground to the top of the umbrella and back. An electric road a mile long, between the Seine and Vincennes park, will be installed, over which cars will be run by the various manufacturers in America for prizes to be awarded by the exposition authorities. This road will be five miles out of the main ground and will be reached by boats over the Seine.

An extensive chart of Russia will be on view, showing the different trades taught in Russian schools. There will be a representation of the new Siberian railway. The Canadian fisheries will also be well represented.

"I Eat Them Things."

Craigie Cragg of London, Ky., said to be a noted desperado, was captured recently by the Laurel county sheriff and four deputies, who covered him with five Winchesters. His capture was due to the treachery of one of his friends, says the Cincinnati Enquirer. Cragg was once shot in the mouth. The bullet did not penetrate any further, and he spat it out, remarking, "I eat them things."

The Worst Ever.

Burgling Bill—Is he lazy? Why, honestly, if dat feller wuz goin ter commit murder, he'd do it in New York state so's he could sit down when he died.—Kansas City Independent.

A rich man died the other day. He died in the very midsummer of life, and he left his family $1,000,000. The doctor's certificate showed that death resulted from typhoid fever. The doctor himself said to a friend: "That man was a suicide. He had a splendid constitution. I could have pulled him through if his stomach had been sound. But he ruined his stomach by hasty meals, snatched in intervals of business and by neglect of symptoms which have been warning him a year past, that his stomach was failing in its duties."

The symptoms of a disordered condition of the stomach and the organs of digestion and nutrition are, among others, variable appetite, sour risings, heartburn, undue fullness after eating, dull headache, dingy complexion, discolored eye, fluctuations in physical strength, nervousness, sleeplessness, despondency. No one person will have all these symptoms at once, but any one of them calls for prompt aid for the suffering stomach.

The restoration of the stomach, digestive and nutritive organs to a condition of sound health, begins with the first dose of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The cure progresses from that dose until the functions of the stomach and its related organs are in healthy operation. Then the nerves are quiet, the appetite healthful, the sleep restful, the eye bright, the complexion clear. In one word the body is in a condition of perfect health.

"I was troubled with indigestion about two years," writes Wm. Bowker, Esq., of Juliatta, Latah Co., Idaho. "I tried different doctors and remedies but to no avail, until I wrote to you and you told me what to do. I suffered with a pain in my stomach and left side and thought that it would kill me. Now I am glad to write this and let you know that I am all right. I can do my work now without pain and I don't have that tired feeling that I used to have. Five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and two vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets' cured me."

Don't let the dealer sell you a substitute, if you want a cure. Insist on having "Golden Medical Discovery."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets surpass all complexion powders. They make the skin healthy and the complexion clear.

The Opinions of Scores of Our Fellow Citizens?

Residents of East Liverpool, like other American citizens, if making an investment, want to be sure of getting the worth of their money. They want to know all the whys and wherefores, and in a direct ratio to the value of the investment, they burrow and ferret until satisfied with the collateral. Take an instance in the realm of proprietary articles. If we know of a friend who has been cured, we have some faith in the preparation; if we know of two or three, our faith increases. If the cures reach scores, all well-known citizens, and anyone who still maintains that there is nothing beyond ordinary merit in the said preparation can safely be left to the care of his fellow taxpayers. If he wishes to pick a quarrel with them on the question of their judgment and veracity, he has ample opportunity in East Liverpool to do so. Begin with this case:

Mrs. Carlina White, of 225 Railroad street, East End, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and found great relief from the treatment, although I am 70 years of age, and had about given up all hope of ever being helped. I took medicines, but they did not prove very beneficial, for my back ached just the same, grew stiff and lame when sitting long or when lying in bed, and sharp twinges of pain and other symptoms convinced me that my kidneys were out of order. Always on the lookout for anything that might bring relief, when I heard Doan's Kidney Pills so highly spoken of I got a box at the W. & W. pharmacy. After using them for a short time I could plainly notice the good effect they were causing. I continued on them for some time longer, and gradually but surely improved. I found Doan's Kidney Pills a splendid remedy, and advise others to try them, feeling confident if they do so they will have no cause to regret it."

This Wild Man Too Wild to Talk.

A wild man was captured in the woods, 50 miles north of Chippewa Falls, Wis., and placed in the county jail in that city recently. He is 60 years of age and has lost nearly all resemblance to a human being, says the Chicago Tribune. His hair and beard are two feet long, and his raiment consists of a solitary gunny sack wrapped around his body, and on his head a coonskin cap. It is impossible to hold conversation with him, as he has lost all knowledge of speech.

BRICE SYNDICATE PARTY

Story of Their March Through the Heart of China.

At All Provincial Capitals Governors Received Them by Orders From Viceroy—An Official Chinese Dinner—Few Stones Were Thrown In Hunan, but Viceroy Kept Down the Natives.

The formal taking possession of the route of the Yuehnan railway in China by the official party representing the Brice syndicate is the story of conquerors entering a vanquished country. There were in the surveying party B. C. Hunt, civil engineer; E. C. Coulter, an engineer of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway; Civil Engineer H. B. Magee, Charles Denby, Jr., son of ex-Chinese Minister Denby, now one of President McKinley's Philippine peace commissioners; William S. K. Wetmore, son of United States Senator Wetmore of Rhode Island; W. Kirkpatrick Brice, son of the late Senator Brice of Ohio; Dr. Jellison, an American missionary doctor of Nankin; Captain W. W. The building will have 23 stories, each one given over to some attraction. The big wheel of the exposition has been completed. It is to contain a series of wheels within wheels, various cafes and restaurants and a dance hall. R. E. Sherman of Chicago will exhibit a gigantic umbrella, over 350 feet high, which he has invented. On each rib of the structure will be suspended a car, which will convey passengers from the ground to the top of the umbrella and back. An electric road a mile long, between the Seine and Vincennes park, will be installed, over which cars will be run by the various manufacturers in America for prizes to be awarded by the exposition authorities. This road will be five miles out of the main ground and will be reached by boats over the Seine.

An extensive chart of Russia will be on view, showing the different trades taught in Russian schools. There will be a representation of the new Siberian railway. The Canadian fisheries will also be well represented.

"I Eat Them Things."

Craig Cragg of London, Ky., said to be a noted desperado, was captured recently by the Laurel county sheriff and four deputies, who covered him with five Winchester. His capture was due to the treachery of one of his friends, says the Cincinnati Enquirer. Cragg was once shot in the mouth. The bullet did not penetrate any further, and he spat it out, remarking, "I eat them things."

The Worst Ever.

Burgling Bill—is he lazy? Why, honestly, if dat feller wuz goin ter commit murder, he'd do it in New York state so's he could sit down when he died.—Kansas City Independent.

A rich man died the other day. He died in the very mid-summer of life, and he left his family $1,000,000. The doctor's certificate showed that death resulted from typhoid fever. The doctor himself said to a friend: "That man was a suicide. He had a splendid constitution. I could have pulled him through if his stomach had been sound. But he ruined his stomach by hasty meals, snatched in intervals of business and by neglect of symptoms which have been warning him a year past, that his stomach was failing in its duties."

The symptoms of a disordered condition of the stomach and the organs of digestion and nutrition are, among others, variable appetite, sour risings, heartburn, undue fullness after eating, dull headache, dingy complexion, discolored eye, fluctuations in physical strength, nervousness, sleeplessness, despondency. No one person will have all these symptoms at once, but any one of them calls for prompt aid for the suffering stomach.

The restoration of the stomach, digestive and nutritive organs to a condition of sound health, begins with the first dose of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The cure progresses from that dose until the functions of the stomach and its related organs are in healthy operation. Then the nerves are quiet, the appetite healthful, the sleep restful, the eye bright, the complexion clear. In one word the body is in a condition of perfect health.

"I was troubled with indigestion about two years," writes Wm. Bowker, Esq., of Juliaetta, Latah Co., Idaho. "I tried different doctors and remedies but to no avail, until I wrote to you and you told me what to do. I suffered with a pain in my stomach and left side and thought that it would kill me. Now I am glad to write this and let you know that I am all right. I can do my work now without pain and I don't have that tired feeling that I used to have. Five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and two vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets' cured me."

Don't let the dealer sell you a substitute, if you want a cure. Insist on having "Golden Medical Discovery."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets surpass all complexion powders. They make the skin healthy and the complexion clear.

The Opinions of Scores of Our Fellow Citizens?

Residents of East Liverpool, like other American citizens, if making an investment, want to be sure of getting the worth of their money. They want to know all the whys and wherefores, and in a direct ratio to the value of the investment, they burrow and ferret until satisfied with the collateral. Take an instance in the realm of proprietary articles. If we know of a friend who has been cured, we have some faith in the preparation; if we know of two or three, our faith increases. If the cures reach scores, all well-known citizens, and anyone who still maintains that there is nothing beyond ordinary merit in the said preparation can safely be left to the care of his fellow taxpayers. If he wishes to pick a quarrel with them on the question of their judgment and veracity, he has ample opportunity in East Liverpool to do so. Begin with this case:

Mrs. Carline White, of 225 Railroad street, East End, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and found great relief from the treatment, although I am 70 years of age, and had about given up all hope of ever being helped. I took medicines, but they did not prove very beneficial, for my back ached just the same, grew stiff and lame when sitting long or when lying in bed, and sharp twinges of pain and other symptoms convinced me that my kidneys were out of order. Always on the lookout for anything that might bring relief, when I heard Doan's Kidney Pills so highly spoken of I got a box at the W. & W. pharmacy. After using them for a short time I could plainly notice the good effect they were causing. I continued on them for some time longer, and gradually but surely improved. I found Doan's Kidney Pills a splendid remedy, and advise others to try them, feeling confident if they do so they will have no cause to regret it."

Doan's Kidney Pills for sale by all dealers, price 50 cents per box. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

A wild man was captured in the woods, 50 miles north of Chippewa Falls, Wis., and placed in the county jail in that city recently. His hair and beard are two feet long, and his raiment consists of a solitary gunny sack wrapped around his body, and on his head a coonskin cap. BRICE SYNDICATE PARTY

Story of Their March Through the Heart of China.

TWO MANDARINS WITH THEM.

At All Provincial Capitals Governors Received Them by Orders From Viceroy—An Official Chinese Dinner—Few Stones Were Thrown In Hunan, but Viceroy Kept Down the Natives.

The formal taking possession of the route of the Yuehnan railway in China by the official party representing the Brice syndicate is the story of conquerors entering a vanquished country.

The party marched 1,400 miles, attended on the 750 miles which covered the conceded right of way by 100 Chinese soldiers and where the route lay near to navigable rivers by two Chinese gunboats. In the party were two Chinese mandarins, ostensibly representing the Chinese imperial railway department. At all the provincial capitals native governors received the party by orders from the various viceroys. The party was in charge of Civil Engineer William Barclay Parsons, who, with Executive Committee-man F. W. Whitridge, has just returned from Washington, where, through Secretary of State Hay, they "invoked the moral support of the United States government" in aid of the enterprise.

There were in the surveying party B. C. Hunt, civil engineer; E. C. Coulter, an engineer of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway; Civil Engineer H. B. Magee, Charles Denby, Jr., son of ex-Chinese Minister Denby, now one of President McKinley's Philippine peace commissioners; William S. K. Wetmore, son of United States Senator Wetmore of Rhode Island; W. Kirkpatrick Brice, son of the late Senator Brice of Ohio; Dr. Jellison, an American missionary doctor of Nankin; Captain W. W. Rich, an American official of the Chinese imperial railway department, and Mandarins Woo and Lo, who are graduates of the Troy Polytechnic institute.

Besides the Chinese troops and the crews of the gunboats, they had 50 coolie servants and carriers. The principals of the party entered the empire at Shanghai, penetrating the interior in a westerly direction 650 miles to Hankow, which will be the northern station of the American syndicate road and the southern station of the Belgian road from Peking.

At Hankow the work of the expedition began. The governor kowtowed and drank the health of the party, furnished it an armed escort and dispatched couriers to bespeak polite receptions along the line of survey. The route lay almost due south from Hankow, through the three central states of the empire, and most of the way the survey ran near one of four rivers, to which the surveyors returned at night to their two houseboats, the Mary Ann and the Daisy.

The natives followed the "foreign devils" in hundreds. Young Brice, who was the only blond in the party and the first fair haired youth the Chinese ever had seen, was unanimously declared to be the "chief devil" of all. The first trouble occurred on last Christmas day, when the Americans at their holiday dinner were hemmed in by a mob of hungry coolies. They had to be placated with gifts of food and trinkets. This was on the border of Hunan province, at Ping Shin Pu. On that day Mr. Parsons found a pass into the valley of the Siang river and named it Christmas pass. Officers have long met there warned the expedition not to penetrate farther into Hunan. But Mr. Parsons knew the character of the official warnings sent in advance by the viceroys and he pushed on. At the first stopping place, Siang Yin, there was an official Chinese dinner of shark fins, pigeon eggs, wood fungus, lotus seeds, snails, mussels and bamboo shoots.

At Tung Kuang the coolie natives received the Americans with hoots and howls, which presently developed into a rush and an assault with stones. Mr. Parsons was hit, but not much hurt. The troops surrounded the Americans and forced a way to the boats, which were within range of the gunboats. At the capital of Hunan, a city of 600,000 called Chang Sha, the governor received the party reluctantly, but under orders gave them a safe passage. From the Siang the party turned into the country of the Lei river. At Yung Hsing, on the Lei, the houseboats were abandoned and the carriers were loaded with supplies to follow the party on foot. For two days all the carriers save those loaded with beef extract and champagne got lost, and six meals were made on those strengthening and invigorating articles of diet.

The famous Che Ling pass had been an intermediate goal, and at last, 500 miles out of Hankow, it was reached. This pass divides the provinces of Hunan and Kwang Tung and is reached by a fine roadway thousands of years old. The party traveled by a branch of the Pei river to the valley, where at Ping Sze boats were taken for the remainder of the distance, 220 miles, to Canton; 1,400 miles had been traveled, 750 of which had been walked. Besides the rich industrial districts traversed, coalfields and other mineral districts had been discovered. This is the Yuehnan railway, for which the projectors have asked government protection. When Executive Committee-man Whitridge was asked recently by a New York World reporter what kind of protection the syndicate desired, he answered, "We have asked no more than is asked on behalf of our missionaries."

He Refused a 25 Cent Cigar.

Some one tells a good cigar story on the late Dick Oglesby which runs something like this: It was during the Cleveland-Blaine campaign, and Mr. Oglesby was making his first visit of any length in New York. For the first time Delmonico's attracted his attention.

"What kind of a place is that?" he asked.

"Come in and see," responded his companion. Uncle Dick went in, and the friend ordered a luncheon, on which the two dined right royally. Luncheon finished, he asked the governor to "join him" in a smoke. The clerk at the cigar counter handed out some fine Havanas. Uncle Dick was in the act of taking one when suddenly he drew back and said:

"What's the price of these?"

"Twenty-five cents," said the clerk.

"Holy smoke!" exclaimed Uncle Dick. "Put 'em back; put 'em back, quick!"

"But, governor, this is my treat," argued the friend.

"Daren't do it; daren't do it! Put 'em back!"

"But, governor"—

"See here, young man," returned Uncle Dick, "I daren't do it. Why, man alive, if they ever found out in Illinois that I smoked 25 cent cigars, whether I paid for 'em or not, they'd turn me out of the church, and it would ruin me politically forever. No, sir. Five cent cigars at home and 10 cents in New York are good enough for me."—Chicago Chronicle.

Ice Water Versus Hot Water.

The drinking of ice water is pronounced by scientists to amount to a real crime, and Dr. Brubaker has declared this question one of the utmost interest in typhoid fever. He says that if all water should be boiled and filtered there would never be a case of typhoid.

The temperature of the stomach at the moment the ice water enters it is about 105 degrees; the water is 32 degrees. The chilling of and contracting of blood vessels is therefore great, and to the ice water is ascribed the catarrhal condition of the stomach so often suffered from. Dr. Brubaker says water should not be taken with a meal to any great extent, but that hot water taken before breakfast prepares the stomach for action, stimulating the gastric juices and washing away the remains of the last meal. Another glass of hot water taken between breakfast and luncheon will be found beneficial and better than all drugs for curing indigestion, since in passing into the blood the food products are carried along with it. Exercise, too, is necessary to help on the action of the stomach.

A Millionaire Jockey.

Ancient Rome had its racing and its popular and well paid jockeys. Betting ran high, and the excitement of the people over the races and their favorite color frequently led to bloodshed. Caligula—he who made a consul of his horse—passed most of his time rioting with the charioteers.

The circus was the place for the racing. The largest of them, the Circus Maximus, about 21,000 feet long, could accommodate 480,000 spectators. Seven times was it necessary to race round the spina, a low stone wall running down the center of the circus. The jockeys drove in a light chariot—usually four in each race—and wore close fitting tunics and leather cape of distinguishing colors.

That the profession was a paying one we learn from ancient writers, money prizes and wages being paid. The jockey Crescens, at the age of 22, had amassed a fortune, and Diocles, king of jockeys, left to his son more than $1,000,000.—San Francisco Argonaut.

A Mean Subterfuge.

Sharp Dame—I must frankly tell you, Mr. Ginx, that my consent to your marrying my daughter has been wrung from me under protest.

Mr. Ginx—Eh? Protest?

Sharp Dame—Yes, sir. I knew that if I did not consent she would disgrace the family by an elopement. When she wants anything, we all have to give in to her or take the consequences, and long experience has taught me that I might as well try to fan off a cyclone as reason with her when she gets angry, especially if there is a flirtation or a rolling pin handy, and so I just give up at once. Has the wedding day been fixed on yet, Mr. Ginx?

Mr. Ginx—Um—er—not yet, and, in fact, madam, I'm—I'm a little afraid I can't afford to marry. Goo-good day.—Exchange.

Living Up to His Reputation.

It is announced that Dewey will arrive much earlier than was expected. That is exactly the way he did when sailing for Manila.—Kansas City Times.

CARING FOR THE SOLDIERS.

Experiences of an Army Nurse in the Philippines.

Marjorie Henshaw, one of the army nurses in the Philippines, has written a letter to a friend in Washington, under date of Manila, April 26, which is, in part, as follows, says the Washington Star:

"The rush has been simply continuous since our arrival, and until the coming of the Sheridan with Miss Gladwin there was no let up whatever in the work of supervising the nurses at the hospitals, housekeeping of nurses' home, dispensing Red Cross supplies and answering emergency calls to officers' wives sick in their homes. It has been go, go from early morning till late at night, with many a night call besides. The nurses were needed, every one, in the hospitals from 7:30 a. m. till 6 p. m., thus leaving no one available for all outside and extra work but myself. In addition officials had to be interviewed on all occasions.

"I did not call for more nurses because the Sheridan had not yet arrived. Colonel Woodhull was expected in Manila every day and a reorganization in the hospitals a result of his advent. Despite every difficulty, I am glad to say we are doing a work that each member of an auxiliary will feel proud of and will compensate for the effort and expense. To begin with, on the Grant 552 cases were cared for by the nurses during the trip, together with a like number on the other transports. In Manila we began work in the hospitals on arrival. In the large general hospital auxiliary nurses are in the surgical wards, receiving the wounded from the 'firing line,' and one has charge of the officers' ward (27 beds) at same. In the 'second reserve' excellent service is being rendered in caring for typhoid and chronic cases. I have free rein to go through the hospitals and dispense the good things provided by auxiliaries (where they are needed), thus covering a very large field and enjoying a happy and satisfactory relationship with surgeons in charge of hospitals.

"Useless to report, since we left New York (or, in fact, before leaving the harbor) to this moment our supplies have proved incalculable. The patients enjoy a sufficiency of ice and every special delicacy that can be made or procured through our funds. It is right hard work, and while Manila in many ways might be an ideal place to live in it is a very hard place to work in."

THE PARIS EXPOSITION.

Some New Features Which Will Be Seen There.

Some interesting features about the Paris exposition of 1900 were announced recently by the United States commission to the fair.

The navy department is to exhibit models of the battleship Maine, Dewey's flagship Olympia and the Oregon. A number of American plays will be produced in Paris while the fair is in progress, among them "Zaza," with Mrs. Leslie Carter in the title role. The American Federation of Labor is to have an exhibit of the history, modes of organization and aims and work of American trades unions. American athletics will not be without representation, as the University of Pennsylvania will enter an athletic team in the Olympian games.

Among the novelties of the exposition, according to the New York Times, is to be a building 400 feet high, which will spin around like a top at the rate of three miles an hour. The building will have 23 stories, each one given over to some attraction. The big wheel of the exposition has been completed. It is to contain a series of wheels within wheels, various cafes and restaurants and a dance hall. R. E. Sherman of Chicago will exhibit a gigantic umbrella, over 350 feet high, which he has invented. On each rib of the structure will be suspended a car, which will convey passengers from the ground to the top of the umbrella and back. An electric road a mile long, between the Seine and Vincennes park, will be installed, over which cars will be run by the various manufacturers in America for prizes to be awarded by the exposition authorities. This road will be five miles out of the main ground and will be reached by boats over the Seine.

An extensive chart of Russia will be on view, showing the different trades taught in Russian schools. There will be a representation of the new Siberian railway. The Canadian fisheries will also be well represented.

TWO BRAVE AMERICANS.

Dispersed a Howling Mob of 3,000 or 4,000 in Korea—One of Them From Columbus.

COLORADO SPRINGS, July 25.—In referring to the recent attack on the electric line by fanatical natives in Seoul, Korea, E. E. Rittenhouse of this city, who was connected with the construction of the road, said that he had received several letters from Seoul lately. H. R. Bostwick of San Francisco, manager of the Seoul Electric company, and H. Raymond Krumm of Columbus, chief of the imperial engineering department, alone and unarmed, by their coolness and nerve, dispersed a howling mob of 3,000 to 4,000 Orientals and saved their own lives and the power house and electric plant.

At the time the child was run over the streets were literally packed with excited natives, discussing the decisions of astrologers and "mutanges" that the electric railroad and power house were the real causes of the drought and suffering among the poor. The mob fell upon the cars, destroyed and burned some of them and drove off the Japanese employes with broken heads. Then 3,000 or 4,000 appeared before the power house. The two Americans started across the open toward the mob. The effect was instantaneous. The act of those two calm, fearless white men startled and silenced them.

Suddenly Bostwick held up his hand and commanded them to "chorigah" (disperse) by order of the United States of America. Clubs and stones were dropped and the rioters simply climbed over each other to get away.

TRANSPORT REACHED MANILA.

Otis Received a Letter From Two Americans Held by Rebels.

MANILA, July 25.—The United States transport Sheridan, which sailed from San Francisco June 25 with reinforcements for General E. S. Otis, arrived here. On July 16 a great waterspout was discovered directly in the course of the ship, and to avoid it it was necessary to make a detour of several miles.

General Otis received a letter dated July 2, and signed by Charles Blanford and Fred Hepe, respectively assistant engineer and third officer of the hospital ship Relief, who were captured by Filipinos off Paranaque on May 30. The letter says the prisoners in the hands of the insurgents "are receiving excellent treatment, but the suspense of fearing the loss of our positions is terrible." The writers beg General Otis to intercede for their release. General Otis has taken steps in that direction.

Two Augustinian friars who had landed from the Hongkong ship were arrested here. It is said they had documents upon their persons showing they were agents of the Filipino junta at Hongkong and that they intended to bear messages to Aguinaldo.

NOT AGAINST THE DUM DUM.

United States Would Not Vote For the Proposal—Experiments Being Made.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The United States will not be bound by the reported decision of The Hague conference to prohibit the use of the dum dum bullet in warfare. So far we have not been obliged to use it, but the ordinance officers have been making experiments to secure an increased "stopping" effect for the small caliber ball used in the Krag-Jorgensen, and these experiments have proceeded somewhat on the lines of the dum dum bullet. The American delegates voted against the proposal to prohibit the dum dum because their general instructions forbade them to pledge this government to any line of action that would retard the development of inventive genius in warfare. Adhesion to the protocols is voluntary. Great Britain, it is understood, also refused to prohibit the use of the dum dum bullet.

Preparing For Dreyfus Trial.

RENNES, July 25.—Now that the date of the courtmartial for the trial of Captain Dreyfus has been fixed for Aug. 7 there is greater activity in the preparations for that event. Telegraph and telephone lines are being constructed, and officers on furlough have been ordered to return to their posts by Aug. 4. The gendarmes have been given a new countersign, and the minister of war has issued instructions with regard to possible demonstrations.

KRUGER THREATENED TO QUIT.

Reported That He Thus Brought the Volksraad to Time.

PARIS, July 25.—Dispatches received here from Pretoria, South African republic, says that the absence of President Kruger from the meeting of the executive council gave currency to a report that he had resigned, owing to differences between himself and members of the Volksraad.

President Kruger, when seen in regard to the matter, denied these rumors, stating positively that they were without foundation.

PRAETORIA, July 25.—It was stated Kruger did threaten to resign, but brought the Volksraad to terms.

Normal Old Age.

The general tendency is for men to live longer. There is much evidence to show that in the fourteenth, fifteenth and sixteenth centuries men of 70 were considered very aged, and that a man of 80 was a very rare phenomenon. If medical science, sanitation and general obedience to the laws of health continue to improve, the gauge of normal age may yet rise to 100.—Boston Post.

Wouldn't Wear the Crown.

The late William Morris' views on the laureateship, as made public in Mr. Mackall's biography, were peculiar and interesting. Mr. Gladstone was willing to offer Morris the succession to Tennyson; but, on being sounded, the socialist poet, although pleased with the honor, declined unreservedly, stating that, in his opinion, the function of poet laureate was that of a ceremonial writer of verse, and that the Marquis of Lorne, the languidly literary son-in-law of Queen Victoria, was the finest person to fulfill it.

Japanese Ideas of Women.

The five worst maladies that afflict the female mind are indolence, discontent, slander, jealousy and silliness. Without any doubt these five maladies afflict seven or eight out of every ten women, and from them arises the inferiority of women to men. A woman should cure them by self inspection and self reproach. The worst of them all and the parent of the other four is silliness!—Cornhill Magazine.

15TH YEAR. NO. 39.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., TUESDAY, JULY 25, 1899.

MORE TROOPS READY.

ATTEMPT TO WRECK A CAR.

Non-Union Conductor Followed a Boy and Shot Him—His Victim Died Soon Afterward—Alleged Clew to Man Who Blew Up a Car.

COLUMBUS, July 25.—Adjutant General Axline received the following message: "Send regiment at once."

The Columbus regiment was at once ordered to assemble and should reach Cleveland early today.

CLEVELAND, July 25.—The adjutant general informed Mayor Farley that the militia companies at Youngstown, Geneva, Berea, Warren and Norwalk, towns near this city, had been officially notified to hold themselves in readiness to answer the call of the mayor should the situation get beyond the control of the present force. Various companies of the Fourth, Sixth and Eighth regiments, to the number of 800 men, have also been ordered to prepare for a sudden summons.

A repetition of the wrecking of a Euclid avenue car was attempted by strikers or their sympathizers in Brooklyn, a suburb of Cleveland.

An explosion took place under the car, but failed to injure it materially. There were no passengers aboard, and the conductor and motorman escaped unharm.

CLEVELAND, July 25.—The state board of arbitration practically abandoned their efforts to conciliate the street car strikers and their former employers. The resentment of the conductors and motormen who quit work and the more turbulent spirit of their sympathizers was held in check to a degree by the presence of the police and the militia, members of which rode in the cars or were held in readiness at the barns and terminals.

Small riots occurred, but with one exception they were without serious result. The death of Henry Cornwell, slain by a bullet fired by Ralph P. Hawley, a conductor on the Broadway line, was recorded the first fatality of the strike.

Shortly after noon Hawley's car approached Orange street and was beset by a crowd of men and boys. Cornwell, the 19-year-old son of a butcher, was astride a horse and rode to the side of the car, keeping pace with it for some distance.

Various stories were told as to what passed between the conductor and the boy, but the mob was suddenly called to its senses by the sight of Hawley, who jumped to the street and started in pursuit of Cornwell.

The latter, closely followed by his pursuer, turned up Perry street. At Woodland avenue the latter pulled his revolver and fired. His victim fell, fatally wounded, with a ghastly wound in the left temple, and died soon after being removed to the hospital.

The crowd, which before the incident had been so violent, was awed by the seriousness of the affair, and permitted the conductor to walk back to his car. He was arrested and taken to the station, where a charge of murder was entered against him.

When the car returned in charge of another man and laden with police, thousands of people were crowded round the fatal spot. The track was blockaded and the stalled cars bombarded with stones, pieces of brick and sticks of wood. The police managed by dint of using their clubs to clear the way after a delay of about half an hour.

The police believe they have a clew to the man who placed nitroglycerine which blew up the Euclid avenue car and injured four passengers. Mathew Robinson, who was seen driving a horse and buggy, said to resemble the one in which the mysterious wrecker rode, has been placed in a cell. Robinson claims to have found the rig, masterless, and took possession, intending to deliver it to Charles Steinmetz, a liveryman by whom Robinson is employed.

Mr. Steinmetz informed the officers that he rented the outfit to a man whom he identifies vaguely as having a dark moustache.

With the exception of the Mayfield suburban, all the lines of the Big Consolidated were in operation, although their movements were necessarily hampered somewhat.

COLUMBUS, July 25.—The state authorities regard the Cleveland strike situation as very serious. Adjutant General Axline, who was commander of the Tenth Ohio volunteer infantry during the Spanish war, will go to Cleveland and take command of the troops in person in case other regiments are needed. There are eight companies already on duty in Cleveland.

EPWORTH LEAGUE BOARD.

Reports Heard and a Meeting Held in Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 25.—The board of control of the Epworth League met to hear reports and consider matters pertaining to the league.

Bishop W. X. Ninde, Detroit, president of the board, presided. The report of Rev. Edwin A. Schell, secretary of the Epworth League, was submitted. Rev. F. L. Nagler, Cincinnati, German assistant secretary of the league, presented a report of the German branch.

A report of the league's work among the colored people was presented by colored Secretary Rev. Irvine G. Penn of Atlanta.

The board will probably be in session several days.

INGERSOLL'S FUNERAL.

Selections of His Writings Read by Historian Ridpath and Major O. J. Smith—Wife Seriously Ill.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Simple funeral exercises over the body of the late Robert G. Ingersoll were held at Walston, the Ingersoll summer home at Dobbs Ferry, this afternoon.

Dr. John Clark Ridpath, who was for many years a close personal friend of Colonel Ingersoll, read the eulogy delivered by Colonel Ingersoll upon his brother Clarke. Dr. Ridpath also read "My Creed," the last poem written by Colonel Ingersoll, and afterward made a brief address.

Major O. J. Smith of Dobbs Ferry, a warm friend of the great orator and lecturer, read other selections from Ingersoll's writings.

Early tomorrow morning the family will accompany the remains to Fresh Pond, Long Island, where the body will be cremated. They will bring the ashes back to Dobbs Ferry and they will be deposited in an urn, which will be surmounted with the bust of Colonel Ingersoll, to be made from the death mask made by John Gray Bernard, the New York sculptor. The only music that will be heard this afternoon will be "Siegfried's funeral march."

The mail brought over 300 letters of condolence, and telegrams continue to pour in from all parts of the country. Among those received was one from Julia Marlowe, the actress, now in London. Another long one was from Rev. R. H. Pullman, who was a personal friend of Colonel Ingersoll. Many theatrical people sent letters of condolence.

The funeral will be private, and it is expected that only those who were personal friends of long standing will attend, and representatives of societies that believed as did the late Colonel Ingersoll.

Mrs. Ingersoll is so ill that she is confined to her bed. Members of the family say that the illness is due to the prostration of grief and the ceaseless vigil that she has kept at the bed of her dead husband since his death on Friday.

It is not thought that the illness will result seriously. Colonel Ingersoll's daughters, Miss Maud and Mrs. Walston H. Brown, are both on the verge of prostration. The grief-stricken wife and daughters, who share the belief of the dead agnostic, have begged only to be allowed to keep the body with them as long as possible.

Series of Declarations Signed by Hague Conference Delegates For Submission to Their Governments.

THE HAGUE, July 25.—The general act embodying the results of the international peace conference, after enumerating the names and qualifications of all the delegates, said:

"In a series of meetings in which the above delegates participated, inspired throughout by the desire to realize in the highest possible measure the generous views of its august initiator, the conference has drawn up for the approval of the respective governments the series of conventions and declarations appended:

"Convention for the pacific settlement of international disputes.

"Convention concerning the laws and customs of war on land.

"Convention for the adoption of laws against the use of asphyxiating or deleterious gases from balloon projectiles, and for the prohibition of the use of bullets that easily expand in the human body."

The general act contains five expressions of opinion, as follows:

"The conference considers that limitations of the military charges which at present oppress the world are greatly to be desired for the increase of the material and moral welfare of mankind.

"The conference expressed the opinion that the question of the rights and duties of neutrals should be inscribed on the program of a conference to be held at an early date.

"The conference expressed the opinion that questions relative to the type and caliber of rifles and naval artillery, as examined by it, should be the subject of study by the different governments with a view to arriving at a uniform solution by a future conference.

"The conference expresses the wish that an early convention be called to revise the Geneva convention.

"The conference has resolved that questions relating to the inviolability of private property in war on land and the bombardment of towns or villages in naval war be reserved for future conferences."

The convention is signed by all the plenary delegates.

SAW SAXTON SHOT.

SAID MRS. GEORGE KILLED HIM.

Declared He Was Afraid to Tell What He Knew and Ran Away—Father Said the Boy Ran to the Scene of the Shooting, but Don't Know What He Saw.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Evidence which might have had an important bearing in the trial of Mrs. Anna George of Canton, O., charged with the murder of George Saxton, brother-in-law of President McKinley, last October, came to light in the juvenile court. Russell Hogan, 15 years old, who was brought before the court as Richard McKnight, said: "I was standing right across Lincoln avenue from Mrs. Althouse's place and saw Mr. Saxton on the porch and saw Mrs. George shoot him. I was afraid they might do something to me if I told what I had seen, so I left home and have traveled all over the country since then."

Young Hogan said that his father was R. M. Hogan, superintendent of the Aultmann Manufacturing company, and well known in Canton.

CANTON, July 25.—Martin J. Hogan, the father of Russell Hogan, does not know what his boy saw the night of the Saxton murder. He was sick, and when the shots were fired, the boy left him to go toward the scene. Young Hogan was wanted as a witness here by both sides, but disappeared shortly before the trial. The defense pretended to want him because his testimony before the coroner was that it was so dark that he could not tell whether the person doing the shooting was a man or a woman. Rather than allow a postponement, the state admitted that had he been present at the trial he would have testified as claimed.

Lively Messenger Boys' Strike.

CINCINNATI, July 25.—The strike of messenger boys, that started last Saturday, became more serious. Two boys were stabbed, several hit with missiles and many slugged with clubs. When any new boys or men went out with messages a gang pursued them with epithets, clubs and stones. When these working messengers took street cars the pursuing mob stoned the cars and some innocent people were hurt. The police charged the mob repeatedly, but the disturbers would soon rally again. The companies refused to recognize the newly formed union, and at a meeting the boys voted to continue the strike. At this meeting the newsboys and some tobacco strippers promised to join them.

Will Rebuild the Elevator.

TOLEDO, July 25.—General Superintendent R. B. Turner of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton road, stated that the burned elevator will be rebuilt as soon as possible, and that the old elevator will be refitted for temporary use. The estimate of $1,000,000 loss was found to be correct. The insurance will not cover the loss on the building by over $90,000. The insurance on the grain was $474,000, while the value of the wheat was about $830,000.

YELLOW JACK CONTROLLED.

Gen. Wood Master of the Situation at Santiago—Disease at Other Cuban Points.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Surgeon General Sternberg received the following from Major O'Reilly at Havana:

"Havard reports from Santiago, July 22, on yellow fever situation: July 19, no new cases, 3 deaths, 2 enlisted men, 1 civilian; 20th, 3 new cases, 1 enlisted man, 1 female nurse, 1 civilian, no deaths; 21st, no case, no death. Armstrong, from Puerto Principe, reports: July 21, 4 cases, 2 soldiers residing in city, 1 teamster, 1 civilian; 22d, nothing new."

A dispatch was received from General Brooke saying General Wood reported they have the yellow fever situation under control at Santiago.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, July 25.—One suspected case of yellow fever was reported—the first for ten days. If this case proves not to be one of yellow fever, the quarantine will be removed immediately. The sanitary department has caused to be burned all the tents, bedding and clothing used at the infected camp. The troops at Songo and Morro are healthy.

A TENTH BOY DIED.

Private Bobbs and Two Other Soldiers Expired on the Voyage From Manila.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—The United States transport Morgan City, which has been converted into a hospital ship, arrived from Manila, having on board 473 sick and convalescent soldiers. The vessel started with 476, but three died on the voyage, Private C. J. Bobbs, Tenth Pennsylvania; Private Lewis Cook, Twenty-second regiment, and First Lieutenant Jackson, First South Dakota.

These succumbed to dysentery, the disease with which most of the others were afflicted. All of those on board were ill when the steamer left Manila, but the removal from a tropical climate and the sea air so benefited the invalids that, on arrival here, only 22 were unable to leave their berths. Every command and almost every regiment is represented among the returning soldiers.

NEW TREATY WITH FRANCE

Reciprocity Treaty of Great Importance Signed—Treaty Work Under Dingley Act Closed.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The long pending reciprocity treaty negotiations between the United States and France were brought to a successful close at the state department when Ambassador Cambon, in behalf of France, and Commissioner Kasson, in behalf of the United States, affixed their signatures to the reciprocity treaty.

The concessions granted by France embrace most of the articles in what is known as the French minimum tariff. This comprises 644 heads, the rates being on an average about 20 per cent below those in the general tariff of France. Concessions were granted upon all but 26.

Besides the reductions given to this country, the treaty is important in continuing a number of minimum rates which would have been abolished if the treaty had not been concluded. The most important of these articles are petroleum and mineral oils. At present these oils enter France on the minimum rate, but had the treaty failed a rate would have been imposed making a difference of duty amounting to about $5,000,000. Had the treaty failed a heavy duty would have been imposed upon American cotton. The same is true of copper, rubber and many classes of machinery.

France secures important concessions on over 100 of the chief products sent by France to this country. The Dingley law allows not to exceed 20 per cent reduction as a basis of reciprocity, but the full 20 per cent is not allowed on all the articles covered by the treaty. On some of them the reduction is 5 per cent, on others 10, others 15, and up to 20 per cent.

The treaty will result in placing the products of the United States on the same basis in France as products of Great Britain and Germany. At present these countries have the minimum French rate, while the American goods, with few exceptions, have had to pay the maximum rate.

The French treaty was the last of the instruments of this kind, and the treaty work under the Dingley act was brought to a close. Six treaties were made, all save that of France relating to British West India islands.

NEGOTIATION OVER ALASKA.

Hay and Tower Hopeful—No Alarm as to Laurier's Talk.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Direct negotiations respecting the Alaska boundary are in progress between Secretary Hay and Mr. Tower, the British charge here. The principals are not without hope that success may attend their efforts, and then there is arbitration yet in reserve in case of failure on the present lines.

The officials here are in nowise alarmed at the recent developments at Ottawa, feeling confident that Sir Wilfrid Laurier's utterance Saturday, in which he mentioned the word "war" as an alternative to arbitration, was given a meaning not intended by the Canadian premier. The strong language attributed to Sir Charles Tupper is not credited to the Canadian government, and it is realized that great latitude may properly be allowed in viewing the utterances of members of an opposition party.

ROOT SAW THE PRESIDENT.

He Probably Will Return to New York Today.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Hon. Elihu Root of New York, who is to succeed General Alger as secretary of war, arrived in Washington last night and had a long conference with the president. Today Mr. Root will again see the president, and probably will return to New York late in the day.

Honduras' Report on Pears' Killing.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—United States Minister Hunter secured from the government of Honduras a full report, from its point of view, of the circumstances attending the killing of young Pears last spring, which has been made the subject of a claim for indemnity by the United States. The report will form the basis of speedy diplomatic action.

Expected Just From America.

ROME, July 25.—The Italia referring to the lynching of Italians in Louisiana says: "We have not the least doubt that the United States will do its duty in the broad measure demanded by the atrocity of the latest lynching, but our conferees will do well not to expect greater reparation than can be obtained."

Tax Collector Arrested.

WASHINGTON, Pa., July 25.—Charles H. Kimmell, justice of the peace and tax collector at Charleroi, was committed to the care of Sheriff Hemphill on a charge of embezzlement, it being alleged that he appropriated to his own use more than $1,000 in taxes which he had collected. His friends denied the charge and were trying to get bail.

DEWEY FEELING WELL.

Said He Would Remain in Trieste About a Week Longer and Then Go to Naples. Sent a Letter to New York Accepting the Reception Invitation.

TRIESTE, Austria, July 25.—A correspondent visited Admiral Dewey on board his flagship Olympia and was cordially received by the admiral, who said that although he had received many invitations from Americans sojourning at Carlsbad, he had never intended going there.

"Look at me," said the admiral. "Do I look like a sick man? Do I look as if I required Carlsbad treatment? I am quite healthy, and though I will be 62 next December, I feel quite young in health and spirits, and from my humor you will notice that what I tell you is quite correct. I came to Trieste solely to recruit the health of my crew, they having passed 17 months in the tropics without a break."

"My reception by the Austrian officials was most friendly and according to the usual etiquette. All reports of the emperor's declining me a reception are unfounded."

"I expect to remain in Trieste about a week longer, and shall then proceed probably to Naples. Further details and plans have not been decided upon, but the cruiser will remain during the whole of August at Mediterranean ports. The last port touched in Europe will be Gibraltar, where we will only take on coal and stores. We are expected in New York by Oct. 1."

"I have accepted invitations to receptions by the citizens of New York and Washington, and am already in possession of a photograph of the sword of honor voted me by the American congress."

Admiral Dewey absolutely refused to talk upon political subjects, and when asked what he thought of England, replied:

"I have not thought anything yet."

NEW YORK, July 25.—Mayor Van Wyck received the following cablegram from Admiral Dewey:

TRIESTE, July 24.

To Mayor Van Wyck, New York:

Letters received and invitation accepted. Expect to arrive about Oct. 1. Will cable definitely from Gibraltar. Have written. DEWEY.

Opposition Meeting of Democrats Held and Movement Started.

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., July 25.—The anti-Goebel meeting here was largely attended. Ex-Congressman W. C. Owens sent a letter condemning the nomination of Goebel for governor. The meeting adopted resolutions condemning the movement inaugurated by so-called Democrats in eastern states to abandon the principles of the Chicago platform; endorsing William J. Bryan for president, and charging that the state convention in Louisville, which nominated Goebel, was perverted from its true purpose by corruption, fraud and force, by intrigue and treachery, by infamous rulings of the acting chairman, etc.

The resolutions deny that the ticket is entitled to or should receive the support of the party in this state.

THE EAST END.

SOLDIER COMING BACK

YOUNG GIRL HEALING THE SICK

What Is Going on In the Building Line.
A Preacher Overcome by Heat—Persons Ill—Births—Personals—About East End People.

Conrad Goodballet, of Helana, has received a letter from his brother Charles, now in Manila, serving as a member of Company K, Seventeenth U. S. I. The letter was written June 2, and in part is as follows:

"I wish sometimes I was back home. The hot weather and long walking makes me very weary of soldier life. The fighting is almost over and we won't be the least sorry. I have been in several close places and know what it is. Within 12 days our regiment marched 90 miles and captured 4 towns. In 3 of the towns we never fired a gun. When we enter a town the insurgents go out of the other, and all trouble is averted by their levelheadedness. The newspapers are stretching the stories about the fighting, and the battles seldom last over 20 minutes.

"I expect to be home before long, probably within three months. An order has been received at headquarters ordering all men who enlisted between April 21 and October 26 of last year to be mustered out. That includes me, and there you are."

With the letter was a neat description of the trip of the regiment from Columbus to Manila, which went by the way of the Suez canal.

Saturday evening two well-known men became involved in a quarrel in the Hutchinson saloon, near Columbian park, and for a time matters were growing very interesting for the party of spectators who were in the place. The battle got so warm that an officer was sent for, but upon his arrival all was quiet, as the participants had been given a tip. The trouble caused some excitement in that part of town, but no arrests have been made yet.

COUNCIL

Should Have the Building in the Rear of the City Hall Cleaned.

The council should take some action towards cleaning out the small building in the rear of city hall. The building is a disgrace to the city and a menace to public health. It should either be torn down or a new floor put in it and be given a thorough cleaning. As it stands now it is filled with old paper and rubbish and the stench arising therefrom is very bad.

BEDOUIIN VISITS CHICAGO.

Nolio T. Simbalenco registered at the Palmer House, in Chicago, recently from Odessa. He is a Bedouin, desert born and reared. He made many trips when a boy from Alexandria, in Egypt, over the desert lands to Jerusalem. He says his parents left the roving bands of the far east and settled in Odessa, where he obtained his education. The object of his visit, according to the Chicago Record, to the United States is to study American educational institutions. He said in English:

"You make in this country the best agricultural implements we in Russia buy. Your terms are too high, though. American prices are all right, but English and European firms are robbing this country of its business. We can buy from them on three and six months' time, while in America it is cash. There is a big field for American manufacturers in Russia, because our country is opening up. The Trans-siberian railroad is being rapidly finished. In this connection I would advance the comparison by saying that our railway service is better than it is in the United States. There are more luxuries at small cost."

Then the gentleman talked politics, in which connection he said:

"Our czar is a good fellow. While I was in Moscow recently he was out on the street when it began to rain. He hailed a cab, and while on his way home—to his palace—he talked and joked with the cabbie. He is popular with the people. I think the agitation among the Finnish people will be crushed out by him. I think they are in the wrong."

Speaking of the plan to span the Bering sea and make a continuous route from the United States to Moscow, he said it would come some day, but that it would take time.

In Consideration of the statements and agreements made in the application for this policy which are hereby made a part of this contract, and of the Annual premium of Two Hundred and Thirty-two Dollars and No Cents, payable on or before the Twenty-fifth day of July in every year during the continuance of this policy, does hereby insure the life of John M. Phoenix, (the Insured) of Hartford, County of Hartford, and State of Connecticut in the amount of Five Thousand Dollars, to be paid at the Home Office of the Company, in Hartford, Connecticut, to Ellen L. Phoenix, (Wife of the Insured) or, if the Insured survive said beneficiary, to the executors, administrators, or assigns of the Insured, upon acceptance of satisfactory proof, at its Home Office, of the death of the Insured during the continuance of this policy, and before 12 o'clock, noon, on the twenty-fifth day of July, 1924, but if the Insured be living at that time, and this policy, while in force under its original conditions, be satisfactorily released and surrendered at its Home Office within thirty days from that time, the Company will give to the Insured or Assigns as a final settlement therefor:

FIRST. Seven thousand and five hundred dollars, or

SECOND. A non-participating paid-up life policy on the Insured for his benefit for twelve thousand and five hundred dollars, provided he shall have filed a request therefor at its Home Office one year or more before that time, or

THIRD. An annuity of five hundred dollars, to be paid to him on each anniversary of that day and time during his lifetime, or FOURTH, FIFTH, SIXTH. Any two of the first three settlements, each for one-half the amount stated above, and subject to the conditions there named.

Cash, $3,750
Paid-Up,
$6,250.

FIFTH,
Annuity, $250.

SIXTH,
Paid-Up, $6,250.
Annuity, $250

If this policy is not satisfactorily released and surrendered at its Home Office within the time provided above, and during the life time of the Insured, the first settlement only will be given to the insured.

All premiums are payable at the Home Office, in Hartford, Conn., but will be accepted if paid to an Agent, in exchange for a receipt signed by the President or Secretary, and countersigned by the Agent designated thereon.

This policy shall not take effect until the first premium is so paid while the Insured is in good health; and if any subsequent premium be not paid when due, this policy shall cease and determine, and all premiums previously paid shall be forfeited to this company, except as hereinafter provided.

The Company declines to notice any assignment of this policy until the original or a copy thereof shall be filed in its Home office. The company will not assume any responsibility for the validity of any assignment.

EXTENDED INSURANCE.

If after the premiums for three full years have been paid, this contract shall become void solely by the non-payment of any premium when due, the Company will grant non-participating term insurance, under the same conditions and restrictions as contained in this policy, except the payment of premiums, for the term described in the following table of "Extended Insurance," and will pay as an endowment, if the Insured survives the term, the corresponding "Cash at Maturity" stated in the table,—provided, however, that no "Cash Value" and no "Loan Value" shall be allowed under said term insurance, and that if the Insured dies during such term and within three years from the date of such default, the premiums that would have been due under this policy during such term, with interest, shall be deducted from the amount due under such insurance, and provided further that no part of such insurance shall be payable unless satisfactory proofs of death be furnished within one year after death.

PAID-UP VALUE.

In lieu of such "Extended Insurance" a non-participating paid-up policy will be granted, for the amount specified in the following table of "Paid-Up Values," payable in the same manner as this policy if the Insured dies before the latter would have matured as an endowment, and for one and a half times that amount payable to the Insured if he is living at that time,—provided the premiums for three full years have been paid and this policy be satisfactorily released and surrendered therefor at the Company's Home Office while it is in force, or within three months from default in payment of any premium.

In witness whereof, the PHOENIX MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, has by its President and Secretary signed and delivered this Contract in the City of Hartford, Connecticut, this twenty-fifth day of July, 1899.

TABLES.

The Extended Insurance and Values due at years not given here will be similarly calculated and will be stated on application.

If the surplus apportioned to this policy is used to increase the insurance, the term of the Extended Insurance and all values here stated will also be increased thereby; but the term of the Extended Insurance will never be increased beyond the maturity of the policy. After this point is reached any increase in the Extended Insurance will be in the cash at maturity.

The term of months ends at 12 o'clock, noon, on that day of the last month of the term which corresponds in number to the day on which the term began, if there is such an one, and if not, on the last day of the final month.

CASH VALUE.

At the end of the fifth year, the tenth year, or any other subsequent five-year period from the date hereof, the amount specified in the following table of "Cash Values" will be paid for this policy, provided it be in force under its original conditions at the end of such period, and be satisfactorily released and surrendered therefor at the Company's Home Office within thirty days from the end of such period.

LOANS.

Upon satisfactory assignment of this policy as collateral security, the Company will loan upon it while in force under its original conditions, the amount specified in the following table of "Loan Values," with interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum; but no loan or increase in loan will be made for less than twenty-five dollars.

INCONTESTABILITY.

After two years this policy shall be incontestable, except for non-payment of premium as stipulated, subject, however, to the agreement as to age.

DIVIDENDS.

This policy, while in force under its original conditions, shall participate in the Company's distributions of surplus.

THE PHOENIX NEW POLICY.

Insurance journals concede it as being the most up-to-date contract there is on the market, the same being copyrighted by the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance company, of Hartford, Conn. Why you should invest with the Phoenix: Because you can get the same kind of insurance cheaper, and in a company that pays the highest dividends. Now the first question that would arise in one's mind is: How can the Phoenix give more for the same money and pay greater dividends than some larger companies? For the simple reason that the Phoenix confines its business to the healthy part of the United States only, while some of the greater companies write insurance all over the world. Would you not rather be in a company that is doing business in the United States alone than to be in a company that is writing business all over the world, when your money is helping to pay death claims and taking your dividends to help pay the same? Just look at it for a moment and you will see for yourself that it is better to be mixed up with quality than quantity. The insurance commissioner's sworn statement is what to go by in regard to dividends, and not what the agents say always.

The Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance company has been doing business for 50 years, and is shown by the insurance commissioner's sworn reports to be as strong as any old line insurance company in existence. You will no doubt be, if you have not already been approached by rival agents who state that the Phoenix was represented by them here at one time, and that they used it only to write second class risks. The company has written me a letter in regard to this matter, and say that the Phoenix was never represented here except by a general agent, he having stopped here once or twice. The Phoenix writes nothing but first class risks. You'll also be shown 20 year endowment policies, at inferior rates. For illustration, some agents will try, and in a great many cases, sell you a 20 payment life policy for a 20 year endowment, giving you the impression that you will draw the face of your policy, with all accumulation, at the end of 20 years, the two policies being entirely different. The difference of the premium in all old line companies will range anywhere between $20 and $25, and no life insurance company will write a 20 year endowment policy for less than $40 per thousand, and anyone having a policy which has been written for less than $40 per thousand, and has been left under the impression that they will draw $1,000 at the end of 20 years, has been misled. If you don't think so, just write to the secretary of the company you are insured in, and ask him if you are guaranteed $1,000 at the end of 20 years, and you will find that you are not. You may have a good policy and all that, but you have not a 20 year endowment at less than $40 per thousand in any old line company. Anyone contemplating taking insurance will do well to examine the Phoenix contract, which information will be cheerfully furnished on application, when you will be shown where there have been several $5,000 policies placed with some of our most conservative business men in the city within the last month, and some of them placed in competition with several companies which agents claim are the big companies. Conservative business men want quality and not quantity. For any further information call on

THOSE SLOT MACHINES

Two More Cases Are Slated for Trial

BEFORE HIS HONOR, THE MAYOR

Anna M. Stoffel and I. N. Crable Will Answer the Charges, and Both Gave Bond for Their Appearance in Court Next Week.

Mayor Bough is determined to rid the city of the slot machines and two more cases have been slated for hearing.

This morning Anna M. Stoffel appeared before his honor to answer to a charge of permitting gambling by means of a gambling device known as a slot machine. She promptly pleaded not guilty to the charge and the case was set for hearing Thursday, August 3, at 1 o'clock. She gave bail in the sum of $100 and was released.

Yesterday afternoon I. N. Crable appeared in mayor's court to answer to a charge of exhibiting a gambling device. He pleaded not guilty and gave bond in the sum of $100 for his appearance in court Tuesday, August 2, at 1 o'clock.

The board of education met last evening in the directors' room of the Central building and held an interesting session. The meeting was opened in the usual manner, and all members were present except Doctor Taggart, who is out of the city.

Opened Bond Bids.

This was the first business the board considered and resulted in the $25,000 bonds being sold to the German National bank, of Cincinnati, at a premium of $2,190. The other bids were W. J. Hayes & Co., Cleveland, premium of $1,467; Briggs, Todd & Co., Cincinnati, $1,843.75; German National bank, Cincinnati, $2,190; N. W. Hains & Co., of Chicago, $1,270; Lamprecht Bros., Cincinnati, $1,860; Atlas National bank, Cincinnati, $1,816.75; Potters' National bank, city, par; Fedder, Holtzman & Co., Cincinnati, $2,010; S. Kuhn & Sons, Cincinnati, $1,975; Rudolph, Kleybolte Co., Cincinnati, $1,769.50; Seasongood & Mayer, Cincinnati, $1,657.50; Dennison, Pryor & Co., Cleveland, $1,052.50.

The bonds which are now being prepared will be forwarded to the successful bidders as soon as possible.

Contracts Were Let.

Bids for the heating of the new addition to be built to the Grant street building were opened and the contract let to Isaac Smead, of Cleveland, for $600. The bids for the erection of the addition were: J. C. Cain, $5,845; J. T. Smith Lumber company, $6,478; Harvey McHenry, $5,988; Miller & Connors, $6,237. The contract was awarded to Mr. Cain, who will commence work at once. The stairways at this building will be widened after the addition is completed.

Letters from Columbus.

Clerk Hill read another letter recently received from J. W. Knaub, chief inspector of factories and workshops. The letter suggested that additional means of egress should be provided for the East End building, and also better fire protection. Attention was called in the same manner to the West End building. Additional stair room was asked for the Sixth street building.

The board decided to make the improvements as suggested by the inspector before the opening of the new school term, and will advertise for bids for the work soon.

Erected a Flag Pole.

Member Norris stated he and Doctor Williams had at last erected a flag staff at the Sheridan avenue building, and were given a vote of thanks by the board for their work. Other members wanted to know when a pole would be erected at the Central building, but no one could tell and the matter was dropped.

West End Addition.

Mr. Williams presented several plans for the new addition to the West End building. After careful consideration on part of the board the plans prepared by A. W. Scott, of this place, were accepted. Bids will be taken at once and the work will start as soon as possible.

Officer Burgess

wrote to Clerk Hill recently about the sanitary condition of the Sixth street building. The matter was referred to the committee in charge of that building to remedy it at once.

Repairing Fences.

Mr. Murphy broke a long silence by stating that the fence about the Third street building needed repairing badly and he had already taken steps to have the work done.

East Enders Kicking.

Mr. Smith, from the East End, said a few words about the fill in front of the East End building. This has been talked of before, and the matter was left in his hands to attend to.

Vacations.

Clerk Hill said he was going away next Thursday, and this little speech prompted President Vodrey to say: "Me, too! I will take a vacation for several weeks."

The meeting adjourned at 10:15, it being marked by the harmony which prevailed.

A COMEDY OF BLUNDERS.

It Taught One Man More About Horses Than He Knew Before.

This Cass avenue resident knows about as much of horses as he does of the technic of tiger hunting, but a few weeks ago he paid $200 for a $100 horse and since that has looked upon himself as an equine authority. Sunday afternoon he was in the bay window enjoying his morning paper and a cigar. Hearing a clickety-clickety click on the asphalt, he looked glared, dropped his paper and eye-glasses and dashed out as though he were going to pull a fire alarm.

"Hi, there! Stop that team!" he shouted. "Halt!" And all the promenaders on the block obeyed, but the horse trotted along. "Ten dollars to the man who brings me that horse dead or alive!" whooped the citizen, now too much excited to be lucid. "That infernal liveryman has hired him out, and me paying the highest price for his keep. I'll show him! Ten dollars, dead or alive," in Richard III voice, "for that horse!"

A lusty bicyclist grasped the situation and two minutes later had caught the bit of the horse. The man in the buggy protested, swore and threatened, but the grinning wheelman trotted the whole outfit back to the excited citizen. "Unhitch him!" he shouted. "Somebody will pay big money for this! Call a patrol wagon. What's your name?" Then the citizen turned pale and gasped:

"Three white feet! My horse has but two, and he's smaller. My mistake, gentlemen and ladies," for there was a crowd now. "Beg pardon." And he started for the house.

But the man in the buggy jumped up and wanted to fight. The bicyclist demanded his $10, and the crowd jeered. A policeman came in time to referee. The wheelman got his $10, the real owner of the horse accepted a humble apology, and the liveryman raised the board the next day.—Detroit Free Press.

TRAPDOOR SPIDERS.

The Curious Nests That These Ingenious Insects Construct.

A curious species of insect is the trapdoor spider, whose nest consists of a tube excavated in the earth to the depth of six or eight inches. It is always lined with silk, and it is closed with an ingeniously constructed door. One sort of door closes into the nest like a cork in a bottle, another is as thin as a piece of paper.

In all cases the door opens outward, and when the nest is placed, as it usually is, on a sloping bank, it opens upward, so that there is no fear of its gaping. The object of the trapdoor is to conceal the nest, and consequently it is always made to resemble the general surface of the ground. Sometimes, however, an enemy attempts to open the door, and then the inmate braces its legs against the sides of the nest and holds it as fast as possible.

Still other spiders have inner doors besides outer, so that if their first defense be carried they may have another behind which to retreat. More curious still is the ingenuity of the branch trapdoor—that is to say, a door that opens from the main tunnel of the nest into a side branch, which the stranger could discover, since there is nothing to distinguish it from any other part of the main nest. So, then, if an enemy should effect an entrance the lawful occupant of the nest can quietly slip into the side branch, close the door and there remain in security while the intruder wonders what has become of her.—Our Animal Friends.

Disappointing Result.

"I hope you are getting good results from the gymnastic exercises I recommended," said Mr. Pner's medical adviser.

"Well, I'm not," replied Mr. Pner. "They have ruined a good coat for me."

"Didn't you take your coat off?" "Certainly, but the exercise has enlarged my shoulders so I can't wear it any more. Coat was as good as new too!"—Chicago Tribune.

DYNAMITE AND POWDER EXPLODED

Medical Examination Proves Breast Bone to be Broken, Body Seriously Bruised and Sight of Left Eye Almost Gone—Lad Only Thirteen Years Old.

Stephen Mullen, the 13-year-old son of Mrs. William Mullen, a widow residing at 111 Ridgeway avenue, met with an accident yesterday afternoon while out California hollow that may cause his death. At a late hour this afternoon the boy's condition was considered critical although physicians had not given up hope.

Mullen, accompanied by Axel Lowrey and a boy named Hogan, went out California hollow on a short jaunt. When the boys had reached a place near the home of Sam Beal the boys decided to explode some powder and dynamite they had in their possession. The powder was in a half pound baking powder can, and the stick of dynamite measured about 4½ inches. Mullen placed the dynamite in the can containing the powder, and after throwing a match in it ran away. After waiting a short time Mullen went back to see why it did not explode, and was about to place another match in the can when the explosion occurred.

The noise was terrific, and the entire neighborhood was startled. Mullen's clothing was set on fire and Mrs. Beal ran from her house and threw a bucket of water on the boy to extinguish the flames. The other boys ran to the city, leaving their companion in a helpless condition. A farmer's wagon was procured and the injured boy taken to his home. Several physicians were summoned and upon examination found his entire body to be badly bruised, his breast caved in and his left eye so badly injured that it is probable he will lose the sight. The boy has been unconscious since the accident.

Young Mullen has met with numerous accidents during the year. He has been injured in the head, and two months ago received a fall which split his left foot open and severed two of the leaders. The accident of yesterday is the worst he has yet met.

At 3:15 o'clock this afternoon the injured boy had recovered sufficiently to fan himself. He will recover.

HEARINGS LAST NIGHT

The Police Fund Is Considerably Richer.

AMBROSTER AND RAMBO PLEADED

Guilty to Being In a Saloon on Sunday, but Scott Wanted a Hearing—He Got It and It Cost Him $6.15 Extra—Hugh Toland Arrested For Causing a Disturbance.

The Saturday night and Sunday offenders had hearings last evening before Mayor Bough, and as a result the police fund is much richer today.

John Hamilton, who desecrated the Sabbath by beating his wife, pleaded guilty to the charge and was given $29.60 for his sport.

George Brown acknowledged that he had been fighting and he was fined $7.60, in order that he might not forget the affair.

Avaury Rambo and Michael Ambroster didn't deny they had been in a saloon on Sunday and were each given $14.60. Ben Scott, who was with them when they were arrested, couldn't see it in the same way they did and he was given a hearing. Some four or five witnesses were examined, Ben was found guilty, and it cost him $20.75, or just $6.15 for his trial.

Sophia Hayden will be given a hearing this afternoon on a charge of keeping her saloon open on Sunday.

ONE ARREST.

Hugh Toland Was Arrested Last Evening.

Last evening Hugh Toland became gay and was raising a disturbance at the lower end of Fifth street. Officer McDonald was called to the scene and in a very short time Hughey was behind the bars at city hall. This morning Mayor Bough had a conference with Humane Agent Lloyd and it was decided to send him to the infirmary.

A Reporter's Mishap.

"A number of years ago," said a well known court official, "when United States Supreme Justice Brown was on the bench in this city, I was assigned as a member of the staff to interview the judge at his home out on Jefferson avenue. I recollect that as the servant ushered me into the hall I observed a lot of rugs scattered here and there and that as I stepped upon the clean spaces along the corridor I discovered that the floor was waxed to a magnificently slippery degree. I was forced to move with mincing caution far from graceful."

"Approaching the library door I saw a rug—a white bear skin, I believe, and resolved to make a leap over it. With a spring I vaulted, my foot landed on the rug, the rug slid away and down I went flat upon the floor. Meanwhile Judge Brown had arisen from his library table and, noticing my mishap, he began laughing. Reaching me, he helped me to my feet and remarked with assumed dignity:

"Look here, sir. Don't you know that in this age, this land and this house, such servile formality is not at all necessary?"

"And then I got my interview and found it an agreeable undertaking."—Detroit Free Press.

TRAINLOAD OF BRIDES.

WHOLESALE WEDDINGS PLANNED.

Men of the Tenth Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry to Fulfill Promises to San Francisco Girls They Met Last Summer—Pittsburg Planning a Great Reception For Them.

Brides by the trainload! A regiment of soldiers coming home with enough captives of Cupid in the ranks and among the officers to start an apartment hotel! A trip across the continent for a wedding trip and the biggest, most enthusiastic reception on arrival ever accorded any newly married couple! This is the fate of the Tenth Pennsylvania volunteer infantry, now somewhere on the Pacific, en route from Manila to Pittsburg, says the New York Herald.

Out in San Francisco many a maid is counting the days until the transport Senator comes up the bay. Many a man who has been scorched and tanned by a year's hard fighting is picturing to himself what will happen when the old steamer crawls into her dock and he tries to find a certain young person in the throng. An army paymaster and a minister will do the rest. Marriages in blocks of five and ten are scheduled to take place in San Francisco just as soon as the regiment reaches American soil again. Then, with their new wives, the war worn legions will continue the journey home.

By accident friends of the regiment have learned of the wholesale engagements. The brides were intended as surprises on arrival. Now, however, whole families have nerved themselves for the worst. If a dusky Filipino belle should step from the train, more than one bevy of relatives would be prepared to welcome her as an accession to the household. They will be spared this effort, however. None of the boys has had the temerity to wed any of Manila's fairest. They displayed their patriotism in sticking to American girls.

For five weeks last summer the Tenth regiment was camped on the outskirts of San Francisco. As a matter of fact, the city trooped out daily to see the eastern volunteers drill and to admire their soldierliness. The love of a pretty girl for blue uniforms and brass buttons is proverbial. San Francisco girls quickly formed friendships which drifted into betrothals.

Now, here is where the secretiveness of the average man is illustrated. Not one of these volunteers mentioned the girls when writing home. They told of camp life, of drills, never a word of sweethearts, but of a thousand and one other things. Perhaps it was just as well. There were girls at home. But the vanguard of the Benedicts has arrived. Its members bring stories of wholesale weddings that have induced many fathers to figure on the cost of a coast excursion. When Private John D. Fenton, a discharged member of the Tenth, arrived in Pittsburg recently with his San Francisco bride, he gave away the whole secret.

Private Fenton lay ill for many weeks at Manila with typhoid fever. Upon his recovery he got his discharge and transportation home. He stopped at San Francisco long enough to fulfill a certain promise he had made to Miss Flora Weiner, a pretty girl who had carried him delicacies while the regiment waited for a transport a year before. They were married by a Baptist clergyman and the same evening started for Pittsburg. An old fashioned reception was tendered them at Mr. Fenton's home at United, a little town in the Connellsville coke region. Some one expressed surprise at the suddenness of the marriage. Then Fenton laughed.

"Just wait," he said. "I'm only the beginning. The Tenth boys are going to get married in bunches. Why, I know nine from my company that are engaged to San Francisco girls. I couldn't begin to tell how many are in the regiment. I know of three officers who have swell weddings scheduled."

"How did it happen? Very naturally. The girls came down to camp every day while we were at Frisco and brought us all kinds of good things. They say the best way to get at a man's heart is through his stomach. That must be right, for a good many hearts were reached that way. The boys that tried to draw their pay in advance to buy engagement rings would have filled a battalion. They're all pretty girls—just gaze at my wife, please—and we couldn't help it."

Pittsburg is going to give the Tenth a reception unsurpassed in history. The wives will get a generous share of this. A reception committee composed of mothers, sisters and wives of the men who were already married is being formed for the purpose of properly welcoming the brides. Special cars for them will probably be provided on the Tenth special, which is to cross the continent illuminated with electric lights, flags and bunting.

Colonel A. L. Hawkins and his staff have promised to witness two of the marriages or officers with western girls. One is to wed a native of Los Angeles and the other a San Francisco. The idea of a "quick ceremony" for the rank and file is furthered by the fact that the men will receive a voluminous pay envelope by their muster out at San Francisco.

Origin of the Banjo.

Over half a century ago, in the town of Banjoemas, on the island of Java, a negro native of the place, desiring an instrument to accompany his voice, conceived the following plan: Taking a cheese box and crossing it with goat or sheep skin, he ran a handle through it; then, using violin strings, which were tuned to the first, third, fifth and eighth notes of an octave, he gave it the name of "banjo," from the first two syllables in the name of his native town.

No banjo of this time is known to be in existence, but from descriptions handed down they must have been very rude instruments. As the years passed improvements were made. Throughout the southern states banjos became as plentiful as pickaninies, and negroes might be found on any plantation who could "make the banjo talk."

In a clever performer's hands the banjo seems capable of doing everything—bells chime, waters ripple, winds blow, birds sing and many other pleasant ideas are evoked—but it will never do for romance. Its very name is against it. Whether from association or not, we cannot connect romance and the banjo.—Washington Star.

Traveling in Alaska.

I have seen many pictures of the manner in which the Eskimos travel, and the man is generally seated comfortably on the sled cracking a whip, and the dogs are going at a smart gallop. But we soon found that picture to be a delusion and a snare.

Journeying in the arctic regions consists mostly in pushing behind the sled, for the poor little animals frequently have to be helped over the rough places and in going up hill or any rise in the ground. Where there is no beaten trail—as was the case most of the distance we traveled—the dogs have nothing to guide them, and one man is obliged to run ahead. He generally runs some distance and then walks until the head team comes up with him, when he runs on again.

When the snow is hard and the road level, the dogs, with an average load, will maintain a trot which is too fast for a man to walk and not so fast as he can run. By alternately running and walking one does not become greatly fatigued. Natives who travel from village to village are so accustomed to this mode of travel that they can keep it up all day without showing signs of fatigue.—Harper's Magazine.

A Clever Little Dog.

A curious illustration of canine intelligence—and its limitations—was observed by a writer in The Outlook a few days ago. Passing down a street he saw a fine Airedale terrier lying down and with both forepaws and muzzled nose scrubbing the surface of an iron grating with a bone, as if to bring it to a high state of polish. The owner saw and explained. The grating is just over a cellar in which the terrier sleeps. His muzzle prevents him from attacking bones to advantage by day, so he brings the bones of his finding to the grating, hoping to push them through and gnaw luxuriously when unmuzzled at night. But the little chap had but the vaguest ideas of the size limits of the grating, and, as the ordinary sizes of bones go, he must have had at least two failures to every success. Yet, with real terrier ingenuity, he turned even his failure to account, for after vigorously trying every hole in the grating he would quietly stop, lick the entire grating clean of the grease and meat juice rubbed off the bone, then rub off another layer and repeat the licking.

A Little Bit of Salt.

Every child needs a little bit of salt, and in almost every food it is well to put some, not only for the taste, but for its value in digesting the food. It is a notable fact that all animals welcome salt occasionally, and, like human beings, pine when there is a lack of it. In Holland, some generations ago, it is said to have been the custom to punish criminals by allowing no food but bread without salt. The consequence was the blood became depraved, they became infested with worms and died miserably. Blood contains a large percentage of salt, and no one can be healthy without it. An experienced physician has stated that if a strong solution of salt and water be injected into the veins of a person dying with cholera the patient will be roused from his stupor, and occasionally it has led to recovery.—Ledger Monthly.

Lipton's Oversight.

Sir Thomas Lipton says that for his coat of arms he has devised a crest having two horny hands of labor, one grasping a tea plant flower and the other a coffee blossom. So far, so good. But Sir Thomas ought to manage to show one of those horny hands reaching for the America's cup.—Boston Advertiser.

FINE JOB WORK. The News rooms are the best equipped in eastern Ohio, and we are consequently able to turn out large quantities of work on short notice.

UNION LABELS.

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others?

UNION PAPERS.

PATRONIZE UNION CLERKS.

All members of the R. C. N. P. A. can show this card. Ask for it when making your purchases. Endorsed by the A. F. of L.

ONE-THIRD ACTUAL SIZE. COLOR IS CHANGED EACH QUARTER. Good only spring months named in lower left hand corner and properly signed, and STAMPED with the number of the Local.

UNION MADE BOOTS AND SHOES.

The Boot and Shoe Workers' union is the national head of the trade, and is a new combination of all the branches of boot and shoe workers. The above trade-mark when found on the sole or lining of a boot or shoe, is a guarantee that the same is made by union labor. Look for the above design stamped on the sole of every pair of boots or shoes you buy.

CUSTOM TAILORS' LABEL.

The Journeymen Tailor's Label is to be found in the inside breast pocket of the coat on the under side of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants. It is printed in black ink on white linen.

UNION MADE CLOTHING.

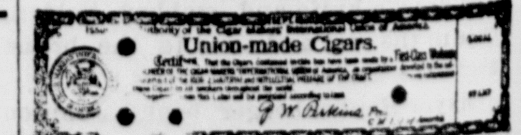

You will find the Linen Label attached by machine stitching to the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the inside of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants.

BICYCLE LABEL.

"Do unto others as ye would that others should do unto you." You will endorse the "Golden Rule" by buying and riding bicycles bearing this Label. The colors are as follows: The Union shield is in red, white and blue, on a background of pea green, bordered by gold. The Label will be placed on the upper front side of the tube that receives the seat post.

BLUE LABEL CIGARS.

TOBACCO LABEL.

UNION BREAD AND CRACKERS.

This is a full size facsimile of the Label of the Bakers' and Confectioners' union. It is printed on blue paper and is pasted on each loaf of union-made bread. It is as evidence that the bread is made under fair and wholesome conditions.

BRICE SYNDICATE PARTY

Story of Their March Through the Heart of China.

TWO MANDARINS WITH THEM.

At All Provincial Capitals Governors Received Them by Orders From Viceroy—An Official Chinese Dinner—Few Stones Were Thrown In Hunan, but Viceroy Kept Down the Natives.

The formal taking possession of the route of the Yuehnan railway in China by the official party representing the Brice syndicate is the story of conquerors entering a vanquished country.

The party marched 1,400 miles, attended on the 750 miles which covered the conceded right of way by 100 Chinese soldiers and where the route lay near to navigable rivers by two Chinese gunboats. In the party were two Chinese mandarins, ostensibly representing the Chinese imperial railway department. At all the provincial capitals native governors received the party by orders from the various viceroys. The party was in charge of Civil Engineer William Barclay Parsons, who, with Executive Committee-man F. W. Whitridge, has just returned from Washington, where, through Secretary of State Hay, they "invoked the moral support of the United States government" in aid of the enterprise.

There were in the surveying party B. C. Hunt, civil engineer; E. C. Coulter, an engineer of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway; Civil Engineer H. B. Magee, Charles Denby, Jr., son of ex-Chinese Minister Denby, now one of President McKinley's Philippine peace commissioners; William S. K. Wetmore, son of United States Senator Wetmore of Rhode Island; W. Kirkpatrick Brice, son of the late Senator Brice of Ohio; Dr. Jellison, an American missionary doctor of Nankin; Captain W. W. Rich, an American official of the Chinese imperial railway department, and Mandarins Woo and Lo, who are graduates of the Troy Polytechnic institute.

Besides the Chinese troops and the crews of the gunboats, they had 50 coolie servants and carriers. The principals of the party entered the empire at Shanghai, penetrating the interior in a westerly direction 650 miles to Hankow, which will be the northern station of the American syndicate road and the southern station of the Belgian road from Peking.

At Hankow the work of the expedition began. The governor kowtowed and drank the health of the party, furnished it an armed escort and dispatched couriers to bespeak polite receptions along the line of survey. The route lay almost due south from Hankow, through the three central states of the empire, and most of the way the survey ran near one of four rivers, to which the surveyors returned at night to their two houseboats, the Mary Ann and the Daisy.

The natives followed the "foreign devils" in hundreds. Young Brice, who was the only blond in the party and the first fair haired youth the Chinese ever had seen, was unanimously declared to be the "chief devil" of all.

The first trouble occurred on last Christmas day, when the Americans at their holiday dinner were hemmed in by a mob of hungry coolies. They had to be placated with gifts of food and trinkets. This was on the border of Hunan province, at Ping Shin Pu. On that day Mr. Parsons found a pass into the valley of the Siang river and named it Christmas pass. Officers have long met there warned the expedition not to penetrate farther into Hunan. But Mr. Parsons knew the character of the official warnings sent in advance by the viceroys and he pushed on. At the first stopping place, Siang Yin, there was an official Chinese dinner of shark fins, pigeon eggs, wood fungus, lotus seeds, snails, mussels and bamboo shoots.

At Tung Kuang the coolie natives received the Americans with hoots and howls, which presently developed into a rush and an assault with stones. Mr. Parsons was hit, but not much hurt. The troops surrounded the Americans and forced a way to the boats, which were within range of the gunboats. At the capital of Hunan, a city of 600,000 called Chang Sha, the governor received the party reluctantly, but under orders gave them a safe passage. From the Siang the party turned into the country of the Lei river. At Yung Hsing, on the Lei, the houseboats were abandoned and the carriers were loaded with supplies to follow the party on foot. For two days all the carriers save those loaded with beef extract and champagne got lost, and six meals were made on those strengthening and invigorating articles of diet.

The famous Che Ling pass had been an intermediate goal, and at last, 500 miles out of Hankow, it was reached. This pass divides the provinces of Hunan and Kwang Tung and is reached by a fine roadway thousands of years old. The party traveled by a branch of the Pei river to the valley, where at Ping Sze boats were taken for the remainder of the distance, 220 miles, to Canton; 1,400 miles had been traveled, 750 of which had been walked. Besides the rich industrial districts traversed, coalfields and other mineral districts had been discovered. This is the Yuehnan railway, for which the projectors have asked government protection. When Executive Committee-man Whitridge was asked recently by a New York World reporter what kind of protection the syndicate desired, he answered, "We have asked no more than is asked on behalf of our missionaries."

He Refused a 25 Cent Cigar.

Some one tells a good cigar story on the late Dick Oglesby which runs something like this: It was during the Cleveland-Blaine campaign, and Mr. Oglesby was making his first visit of any length in New York. For the first time Delmonico's attracted his attention.

"What kind of a place is that?" he asked.

"Come in and see," responded his companion. Uncle Dick went in, and the friend ordered a luncheon, on which the two dined right royally. Luncheon finished, he asked the governor to "join him" in a smoke. The clerk at the cigar counter handed out some fine Havanas. Uncle Dick was in the act of taking one when suddenly he drew back and said:

"What's the price of these?"

"Twenty-five cents," said the clerk.

"Holy smoke!" exclaimed Uncle Dick. "Put 'em back; put 'em back, quick!"

"But, governor, this is my treat," argued the friend.

"Daren't do it; daren't do it! Put 'em back!"

"But, governor—"

"See here, young man," returned Uncle Dick, "I daren't do it. Why, man alive, if they ever found out in Illinois that I smoked 25 cent cigars, whether I paid for 'em or not, they'd turn me out of the church, and it would ruin me politically forever. No, sir. Five cent cigars at home and 10 centers in New York are good enough for me."—Chicago Chronicle.

Ice Water Versus Hot Water.

The drinking of ice water is pronounced by scientists to amount to a real crime, and Dr. Brubaker has declared this question one of the utmost interest in typhoid fever. He says that if all water should be boiled and filtered there would never be a case of typhoid.

The temperature of the stomach at the moment the ice water enters it is about 105 degrees; the water is 32 degrees. The chilling of and contracting of blood vessels is therefore great, and to the ice water is ascribed the catarrhal condition of the stomach so often suffered from. Dr. Brubaker says water should not be taken with a meal to any great extent, but that hot water taken before breakfast prepares the stomach for action, stimulating the gastric juices and washing away the remains of the last meal. Another glass of hot water taken between breakfast and luncheon will be found beneficial and better than all drugs for curing indigestion, since in passing into the blood the food products are carried along with it. Exercise, too, is necessary to help on the action of the stomach.

A Millionaire Jockey.

Ancient Rome had its racing and its popular and well paid jockeys. Betting ran high, and the excitement of the people over the races and their favorite color frequently led to bloodshed. Caligula—he who made a consul of his horse—passed most of his time rioting with the charioteers.

The circus was the place for the racing. The largest of them, the Circus Maximus, about 21,000 feet long, could accommodate 480,000 spectators. Seven times was it necessary to race round the spina, a low stone wall running down the center of the circus. The jockeys drove in a light chariot—usually four in each race—and wore close fitting tunics and leather cape of distinguishing colors.

That the profession was a paying one we learn from ancient writers, money prizes and wages being paid. The jockey Crescens, at the age of 22, had amassed a fortune, and Diocles, king of jockeys, left to his son more than $1,000,000.—San Francisco Argonaut.

A Mean Subterfuge.

Sharp Dame—I must frankly tell you, Mr. Ginx, that my consent to your marrying my daughter has been wrung from me under protest.

Mr. Ginx—Eh? Protest?

Sharp Dame—Yes, sir. I knew that if I did not consent she would disgrace the family by an elopement. When she wants anything, we all have to give in to her or take the consequences, and long experience has taught me that I might as well try to fan off a cyclone as reason with her when she gets angry, especially if there is a flatiron or a rolling pin handy, and so I just give up at once. Has the wedding day been fixed on yet, Mr. Ginx?

Mr. Ginx—Um—er—not yet, and, in fact, madam, I'm—I'm a little afraid I can't afford to marry. Goo-good day.—Exchange.

Living Up to His Reputation.

It is announced that Dewey will arrive much earlier than was expected. That is exactly the way he did when sailing for Manila.—Kansas City Times.

CARING FOR THE SOLDIERS.

Experiences of an Army Nurse in the Philippines.

Marjorie Henshaw, one of the army nurses in the Philippines, has written a letter to a friend in Washington, under date of Manila, April 26, which is, in part, as follows, says the Washington Star:

"The rush has been simply continuous since our arrival, and until the coming of the Sheridan with Miss Gladwin there was no let up whatever in the work of supervising the nurses at the hospitals, housekeeping of nurses' home, dispensing Red Cross supplies and answering emergency calls to officers' wives sick in their homes. It has been go, go from early morning till late at night, with many a night call besides. The nurses were needed, every one, in the hospitals from 7:30 a. m. till 6 p. m., thus leaving no one available for all outside and extra work but myself. In addition officials had to be interviewed on all occasions.

"I did not call for more nurses because the Sheridan had not yet arrived. Colonel Woodhull was expected in Manila every day and a reorganization in the hospitals a result of his advent. Despite every difficulty, I am glad to say we are doing a work that each member of an auxiliary will feel proud of and will compensate for the effort and expense. To begin with, on the Grant 552 cases were cared for by the nurses during the trip, together with a like number on the other transports. In Manila we began work in the hospitals on arrival. In the large general hospital auxiliary nurses are in the surgical wards, receiving the wounded from the 'firing line,' and one has charge of the officers' ward (27 beds) at same. In the 'second reserve' excellent service is being rendered in caring for typhoid and chronic cases. I have free rein to go through the hospitals and dispense the good things provided by auxiliaries (where they are needed), thus covering a very large field and enjoying a happy and satisfactory relationship with surgeons in charge of hospitals.

"Useless to report, since we left New York (or, in fact, before leaving the harbor) to this moment our supplies have proved incalculable. The patients enjoy a sufficiency of ice and every special delicacy that can be made or procured through our funds. It is right hard work, and while Manila in many ways might be an ideal place to live in it is a very hard place to work in."

THE PARIS EXPOSITION.

Some New Features Which Will Be Seen There.

Some interesting features about the Paris exposition of 1900 were announced recently by the United States commission to the fair.

The navy department is to exhibit models of the battleship Maine, Dewey's flagship Olympia and the Oregon. A number of American plays will be produced in Paris while the fair is in progress, among them "Zaza," with Mrs. Leslie Carter in the title role. The American Federation of Labor is to have an exhibit of the history, modes of organization and aims and work of American trades unions. American athletics will not be without representation, as the University of Pennsylvania will enter an athletic team in the Olympian games.

Among the novelties of the exposition, according to the New York Times, is to be a building 400 feet high, which will spin around like a top at the rate of three miles an hour. The building will have 23 stories, each one given over to some attraction. The big wheel of the exposition has been completed. It is to contain a series of wheels within wheels, various cafes and restaurants and a dance hall. R. E. Sherman of Chicago will exhibit a gigantic umbrella, over 350 feet high, which he has invented. On each rib of the structure will be suspended a car, which will convey passengers from the ground to the top of the umbrella and back. An electric road a mile long, between the Seine and Vincennes park, will be installed, over which cars will be run by the various manufacturers in America for prizes to be awarded by the exposition authorities. This road will be five miles out of the main ground and will be reached by boats over the Seine.

An extensive chart of Russia will be on view, showing the different trades taught in Russian schools. There will be a representation of the new Siberian railway. The Canadian fisheries will also be well represented.

"I Eat Them Things."

Craigie Cragg of London, Ky., said to be a noted desperado, was captured recently by the Laurel county sheriff and four deputies, who covered him with five Winchester. His capture was due to the treachery of one of his friends, says the Cincinnati Enquirer. Cragg was once shot in the mouth. The bullet did not penetrate any further, and he spat it out, remarking, "I eat them things."

The Worst Ever.

Burgling Bill—is he lazy? Why, honestly, if dat feller wuz goin ter commit murder, he'd do it in New York state so's he could sit down when he died.—Kansas City Independent.

A rich man died the other day. He died in the very midsummer of life, and he left his family $1,000,000.

The doctor's certificate showed that death resulted from typhoid fever. The doctor himself said to a friend: "That man was a suicide. He had a splendid constitution. I could have pulled him through if his stomach had been sound. But he ruined his stomach by hasty meals, snatched in intervals of business and by neglect of symptoms which have been warning him a year past, that his stomach was failing in its duties."

The symptoms of a disordered condition of the stomach and the organs of digestion and nutrition are, among others, variable appetite, sour risings, heartburn, undue fullness after eating, dull headache, dingy complexion, discolored eye, fluctuations in physical strength, nervousness, sleeplessness, despondency. No one person will have all these symptoms at once, but any one of them calls for prompt aid for the suffering stomach.

The restoration of the stomach, digestive and nutritive organs to a condition of sound health, begins with the first dose of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The cure progresses from that dose until the functions of the stomach and its related organs are in healthy operation. Then the nerves are quiet, the appetite healthful, the sleep restful, the eye bright, the complexion clear. In one word the body is in a condition of perfect health.

"I was troubled with indigestion about two years," writes Wm. Bowker, Esq., of Juliaetta, Latah Co., Idaho. "I tried different doctors and remedies but to no avail, until I wrote to you and you told me what to do. I suffered with a pain in my stomach and left side and thought that it would kill me. Now I am glad to write this and let you know that I am all right. I can do my work now without pain and I don't have that tired feeling that I used to have. Five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and two vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets' cured me."

Don't let the dealer sell you a substitute, if you want a cure. Insist on having "Golden Medical Discovery."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets surpass all complexion powders. They make the skin healthy and the complexion clear.

Residents of East Liverpool, like other American citizens, if making an investment, want to be sure of getting the worth of their money. They want to know all the whys and wherefores, and in a direct ratio to the value of the investment, they burrow and ferret until satisfied with the collateral. Take an instance in the realm of proprietary articles. If we know of a friend who has been cured, we have some faith in the preparation; if we know of two or three, our faith increases. If the cures reach scores, all well-known citizens, and anyone who still maintains that there is nothing beyond ordinary merit in the said preparation can safely be left to the care of his fellow taxpayers. If he wishes to pick a quarrel with them on the question of their judgment and veracity, he has ample opportunity in East Liverpool to do so. Begin with this case:

Mrs. Carlina White, of 225 Railroad street, East End, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and found great relief from the treatment, although I am 70 years of age, and had about given up all hope of ever being helped. I took medicines, but they did not prove very beneficial, for my back ached just the same, grew stiff and lame when sitting long or when lying in bed, and sharp twinges of pain and other symptoms convinced me that my kidneys were out of order. Always on the lookout for anything that might bring relief, when I heard Doan's Kidney Pills so highly spoken of I got a box at the W. & W. pharmacy. After using them for a short time I could plainly notice the good effect they were causing. I continued on them for some time longer, and gradually but surely improved. I found Doan's Kidney Pills a splendid remedy, and advise others to try them, feeling confident if they do so they will have no cause to regret it."

THE NEWS REVIEW

This Wild Man Too Wild to Talk.

A wild man was captured in the woods, 50 miles north of Chippewa Falls, Wis., and placed in the county jail in that city recently. He is 60 years of age and has lost nearly all resemblance to a human being, says the Chicago Tribune. His hair and beard are two feet long, and his raiment consists of a solitary gunny sack wrapped around his body, and on his head a coonskin cap. It is impossible to hold conversation with him, as he has lost all knowledge of speech.

TWO BRAVE AMERICANS.

Dispersed a Howling Mob of 3,000 or 4,000 in Korea—One of Them From Columbus.

COLORADO SPRINGS, July 25.—In referring to the recent attack on the electric line by fanatical natives in Seoul, Korea, E. E. Rittenhouse of this city, who was connected with the construction of the road, said that he had received several letters from Seoul lately. H. R. Bostwick of San Francisco, manager of the Seoul Electric company, and H. Raymond Krumm of Columbus, chief of the imperial engineering department, alone and unarmed, by their coolness and nerve, dispersed a howling mob of 3,000 to 4,000 Orientals and saved their own lives and the power house and electric plant.

At the time the child was run over the streets were literally packed with excited natives, discussing the decisions of astrologers and "mutanges" that the electric railroad and power house were the real causes of the drought and suffering among the poor. The mob fell upon the cars, destroyed and burned some of them and drove off the Japanese employees with broken heads. Then 8,000 or 4,000 appeared before the power house. The two Americans started across the open toward the mob. The effect was instantaneous. The act of those two calm, fearless white men startled and silenced them.

Suddenly Bostwick held up his hand and commanded them to "chorigah" (disperse) by order of the United States of America. Clubs and stones were dropped and the rioters simply climbed over each other to get away.

TRANSPORT REACHED MANILA.

Otis Received a Letter From Two Americans Held by Rebels.

MANILA, July 25.—The United States transport Sheridan, which sailed from San Francisco June 25 with reinforcements for General E. S. Otis, arrived here. On July 16 a great waterspout was discovered directly in the course of the ship, and to avoid it it was necessary to make a detour of several miles.

General Otis received a letter dated July 2, and signed by Charles Blanford and Fred Heppie, respectively assistant engineer and third officer of the hospital ship Relief, who were captured by Filipinos off Paranaque on May 30. The letter says the prisoners in the hands of the insurgents "are receiving excellent treatment, but the suspense of fearing the loss of our positions is terrible." The writers beg General Otis to intercede for their release. General Otis has taken steps in that direction.

Two Augustinian friars who had landed from the Hongkong ship were arrested here. It is said they had documents upon their persons showing they were agents of the Filipino junta at Hongkong and that they intended to bear messages to Aguinaldo.

NOT AGAINST THE DUM DUM.

United States Would Not Vote For the Proposal—Experiments Being Made.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The United States will not be bound by the reported decision of The Hague conference to prohibit the use of the dum dum bullet in warfare. So far we have not been obliged to use it, but the ordinance officers have been making experiments to secure an increased "stopping" effect for the small caliber ball used in the Krag-Jorgensen, and these experiments have proceeded somewhat on the lines of the dum dum bullet. The American delegates voted against the proposal to prohibit the dum dum because their general instructions forbade them to pledge this government to any line of action that would retard the development of inventive genius in warfare. Adhesion to the protocols is voluntary. Great Britain, it is understood, also refused to prohibit the use of the dum dum bullet.

Preparing For Dreyfus Trial.

RENNES, July 25.—Now that the date of the courtmartial for the trial of Captain Dreyfus has been fixed for Aug. 7 there is greater activity in the preparations for that event. Telegraph and telephone lines are being constructed, and officers on furlough have been ordered to return to their posts by Aug. 4. The gendarmes have been given a new countersign, and the minister of war has issued instructions with regard to possible demonstrations.

KRUGER THREATENED TO QUIT.

Reported That He Thus Brought the Volksraad to Time.

PARIS, July 25.—Dispatches received here from Pretoria, South African republic, says that the absence of President Kruger from the meeting of the executive council gave currency to a report that he had resigned, owing to differences between himself and members of the volksraad.

President Kruger, when seen in regard to the matter, denied these rumors, stating positively that they were without foundation.

PRAETORIA, July 25.—It was stated Kruger did threaten to resign, but brought the volksraad to terms.

Normal Old Age.

The general tendency is for men to live longer. There is much evidence to show that in the fourteenth, fifteenth and sixteenth centuries men of 70 were considered very aged, and that a man of 80 was a very rare phenomenon. If medical science, sanitation and general obedience to the laws of health continue to improve, the gauge of normal age may yet rise to 100.—Boston Post.

Wouldn't Wear the Crown.

The late William Morris' views on the laureateship, as made public in Mr. Mackall's biography, were peculiar and interesting. Mr. Gladstone was willing to offer Morris the succession to Tennyson; but, on being sounded, the socialist poet, although pleased with the honor, declined unreservedly, stating that, in his opinion, the function of poet laureate was that of a ceremonial writer of verse, and that the Marquis of Lorne, the languidly literary son-in-law of Queen Victoria, was the finest person to fulfill it.

Japanese Ideas of Women.

The five worst maladies that afflict the female mind are indocility, discontent, slander, jealousy and silliness. Without any doubt these five maladies afflict seven or eight out of every ten women, and from them arises the inferiority of women to men. A woman should cure them by self inspection and self reproach. The worst of them all and the parent of the other four is silliness!—Cornhill Magazine.
